PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for information :—

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE BILL FOR REGULATING THE USE OF MOTOR-CARS AND CYCLES IN STREETS AND PUBLIC PLACES IN BENGAL.

WE, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee, appointed to consider the Bill for regulating the use of motor-cars and cycles in streets and public places in Bengal, have considered the Bill, and have the honour to submit this, our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed hereto.

2. The amendments which we have made in the Bill are, as far as possible, printed in italics, and those which are of importance are explained in the following paragraphs.

3. Clause 2.—This clause is new. It gives a definition of a "motor-car."

4. Clause 3.—We have amended sub-clause (1) of this clause, as we considered it preferable that, according to the usual practice, the Local Government, instead of the Commissioner of Police, should be authorised by law to have power to make, modify or cancel rules for the regulation of motor-cars and cycles in streets and public places and any other area to which the Act may be applied.

In sub-clause (2) we have inserted four new clauses, viz. (d), (f), (i) and (n). These clauses empower the Local Government to make rules for—

(1) providing the standard of competency for driving or taking charge of a motor-car;

(2) prohibiting the leaving of motor-cars unattended or in the charge of incompetent persons;

(3) carrying of number and name plates on motor-cars, and

(4) halting motor-cars for the regulation of traffic.

We have modified sub-clause (3) of clause 2 of the original Bill by substituting as clause 4 of the amended Bill other words to the same effect which appeared to us to be more suitable.

Sub-clause (4) of clause 2 of the original Bill we have made into sub-clause (3) of clause 3 of the amended Bill, and have provided that the Rules when made by the Local Government shall be finally published in the Calcutta Gazette, and shall come into operation from the date of such final publication.

5. Clause 6.—This clause is new We have considered it necessary that offences under the Act should be tried by Presidency Magistrates or Magistrates having first-class powers.

6. We recommend that the Bill, as now amended, be passed.

CHINA, SOUTH-EAST COAST—AMOY APPROACH.

Chapel island—Shoals to the north-west.

WITH reference to notice to Mariners, No. 41, dated 16th March 1895, issued by this office, the British Admiralty has given further notice (No. 95 of 1903) of the existence of the two undermentioned shoal heads, north-west of Chapel island, in the southern approach to Amoy harbour :—

The three-fathom patch marked on the chart "position approximate," about one mile S. 6° E. from the above shoal, has been expunged from the chart, as it is probable that these dangers are identical.

PACIFIC OCEAN, SOUTH—KERMADEC ISLANDS.

Danger reported to the southward of this island.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 105 of 1903) that the Master of the American barque Star of Bengal reports that his vessel, when about 60 miles southward of the Kermadec islands, passed over a patch of shoal water, with an estimated depth on it of 5 fathoms, the bottom being clearly visible, in approximately lat. 32° 27′ S., long. 179° 1′ W.

This danger appeared to be breaking in one part, though the sea was quite smooth, and to be about 1¼ miles long in a northerly and southerly direction, and 150 yards wide.

As the soundings in the area in the vicinity are much less than the general oceanic depths around, the danger has been placed on the Chart in the above position and marked P.D.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

2. For the above reasons the form of agreement has now been revised and brought up to date, and the Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct, under section 27 (1) (a) of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1883 (V of 1883), that agreements between Masters of Ships and Indian seamen shall in future be in the form annexed to this Resolution.

ORDERED, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Governments of Madras, Bombay, Bengal and Burma, and to the Director-General of Statistics, for information.

Ordered, also, that the Resolution and form of agreement be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

REGULATIONS FOR MAINTAINING DISCIPLINE.

SANCTIONED BY GOVERNMENT IN PURSUANCE OF SECTION 27 (g) OF THE INDIAN MERCHANT SHIPPING ACT V OF 1883.

These Regulations are distinct from, and in addition to, those contained in the Act, and are sanctioned, but not universally required by law. All or any of them may be adopted by agreement between a Master and his crew, and thereupon the offences specified in such of them as are so adopted will be legally punishable by the appropriate fines or punishments.

These regulations are all numbered, and the numbers of such of them as are adopted must be inserted in the space left for that purpose in the agreement, page 1, and the following copy of these regulations must be made to correspond with the agreement by erasing such of the regulations as are not adopted. If the agreement is made before the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, his signature or initials must be placed opposite such of the regulations as are adopted.

For the purpose of legally enforcing any of the following penalties, the same steps must be adopted as in the case of other offences punishable under the Act, that is to say, a statement of the offence must, immediately after its commission, be entered in the official log book by the direction of the Master, and must, at the same time, be attested to be true by the signatures of the Master and the Mate, or one of the crew; and a copy of such entry must be furnished, or the same must be read over, to the offender, before the ship reaches any port or departs from the port at which she is; and an entry that the same has been so furnished or read over, and of the reply, if any, of the offender, must be made and signed in the same manner as the entry of the offence. These entries must, upon discharge of the offender, be shown to the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office before whom the offender is discharged; and if he is satisfied that the offence is proved, and that the entries have been properly made, the fine must be deducted from the offender's wages and paid over to the Superintendent.

If, in consequence of subsequent good conduct, the Master thinks fit to remit or reduce any fine upon any member of his crew which has been entered in the official log, and signifies the same to the Superintendent, the fine shall be remitted or reduced accordingly. If wages are contracted for by the voyage or by share, amount of the fines is to be ascertained in the manner in which the amount of forfeiture is ascertained in similar cases under section 91 of Act I of 1859.

Agreements with lascars.

125—(1). The master or owner of any ship or his agent may enter into an agreement with a lascar or any native of India, binding him to proceed either as a seaman or as a passenger:—

Engagement of seamen.

(a) to any port in the United Kingdom, and there to enter into a further agreement to serve as a seaman in any ship which may happen to be there, and to be bound to any port in British India; or

(b) to any port in the Australian Colonies, and there to enter into a further agreement to serve as a seaman in any ship which may happen to be there, and to be bound to the United Kingdom or to any other part of Her Majesty's dominions.

(2) The original agreement shall be made in such form and contain such provisions, and be executed in such manner and contain such conditions for securing the return of the lascar or native to his own country and for other purposes, as the Governor-General of India in Council or the Governor in Council of any Indian Presidency in which the agreement is made may direct.

(3) Where any lascar or native bound by the original agreement is, on arriving in the United Kingdom or one of the said colonies as the case may be, required to enter into such further agreement as aforesaid, some officer appointed for the purpose in the United Kingdom by a Secretary of State in Council of India, or in any such colony by the Governor of the colony, may, on the payment of such fee not exceeding ten shillings, as a Secretary of State in Council of India or the Governor may direct, certify,—

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal on the 7th March, 1903, and is hereby published for information, together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons :—

A

BILL

To amend the Chittagong Port Commissioners' Act, 1887.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Chittagong Port Commissioners' Act, 1887 ; Ben. Act IV of 1887.

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Chittagong Port Commissioners' (Amendment) Act, 1903.

Insertion of new section 10A. 2. After section 10 of the Chittagong Port Commissioners' Act, 1887, the following shall be inserted, namely :—

"10A. (1) The Local Government may— [Cf. Ben. Act III of 1890, s. 12.]

(a) grant such leave of absence and such leave-allowances to the Vice-Chairman as it thinks fit, and Leave of absence and leave allowances to the Vice-Chairman.

(b) appoint a person to act for the Vice-Chairman during his absence on leave, and assign to such person such acting allowance as it thinks fit.

(2) Any person appointed under sub-section (1) to act for the Vice-Chairman shall, while so acting, have all the powers and perform all the duties of the Vice-Chairman under this Act." [Cf. Ben. Act III of 1890, s. 13 (2).]

Insertion of new sections 33A & 33B. 3. After section 33 of the said Act the following shall be inserted, namely :—

"33A. (1) The Commissioners may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, by notification, impose a river-due on all goods imported or exported into or from the port in sea-going vessels.

Power to impose river-due and to raise rate thereof.

(2) The rate of the said due shall not exceed four annas nor be less than one anna for each ton of goods.

(3) Subject to the limits enacted by the foregoing sub-section, the Commissioners may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, at any time or from time to time, by notification, raise or reduce the rate to be imposed, whether generally or on any particular goods or class of goods.

"33B. Every notification issued under section 33A shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette; and a copy thereof, in the English and Bengali languages, shall be kept affixed in some conspicuous place to be appointed by the Commissioners."

[Cf. Ben. Act IV of 1887, s. 33, paras. 2, 4.]

Publication of notifications.

Insertion of new section 64A.

4. After section 64 of the said Act the following shall be inserted, namely:—

"64A. (1) The Commissioners may from time to time make bye-laws for determining—

[Cf. Ben. Act III of 1890, s. 31 (e).]

Power to make bye-laws as to pensions.

(a) the conditions under which officers and servants mentioned in the schedule prepared under section 62, or any of them, shall, on retirement, receive pensions, gratuities or compassionate allowances, and

(b) the amount of such pensions, gratuities and allowances.

(2) Bye-laws made under sub-section (1) shall not take effect unless and until they have been confirmed by the Governor General in Council."

[Cf. Ben. Act III of 1890, s. 31 (3).]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE primary object of this Bill is to authorise the imposition of a river-due on goods imported to or exported from Chittagong in sea-going vessels.

2. The Port accounts show an annual deficit averaging about Rs. 7,000 a year, and it has become necessary to expend some Rs. 34,000 in the provision of buoys and moorings, while considerable sums are due to the Government on account of loans advanced from Provincial Revenues. Such a financial position as this is unsatisfactory; and it is necessary to place the finances on a firmer basis in order to enable the Port Commissioners to make the most of their opportunities for the benefit of the port, without being crippled at the outset by a constantly-recurring deficit.

3. It is provided that the rate of the proposed due shall not exceed four annas a ton, nor be less than one anna a ton. Power is also taken to vary the rate of the due from time to time either generally or for any particular goods or class of goods.

4. The second object of the Bill is to provide for regulating the grant of leave of absence to the Vice-Chairman and the grant of pensions to officers and servants of the Port Commissioners of Chittagong.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

THE CHAUKIDARI ACT, 1870.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJ-UL-ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, asked :—

Is the Government aware that the operation of the Chaukidari Act, 1870 (Bengal Act VI of 1870), is attended with great hardship and oppression upon the poor tax-payers in all the districts of Bengal, and specially of Eastern Bengal? Will the Government be pleased to call upon the District Officers to inquire into the matter and report?

The Hon'ble MR. HARE replied :—

"The Hon'ble Member has not stated in what direction and in what respects the operation of the Chaukidari Act is hard and oppressive. On the other hand, from the evidence before Government, it would appear that the working of the Act is generally approved. As no specific allegations have been made, and as the whole question of chaukidari administration is being considered by the Police Commission, the Lieutenant-Governor sees no necessity for calling for a special report on the subject from District Officers."

LANDLORDS' FEES.

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN, in continuation of the answer given to Questions Nos. II and III of the Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJ-UL-ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, at the Council Meeting of the 7th February, 1903, said :—

"The Board of Revenue have now furnished a statement showing, as far as information is available, the amount of landlords' fees realized under the Bengal Tenancy Act up to the end of the last financial year, and the amount now held in deposit in the several District Treasuries. A copy of this statement is laid upon the table for the information of Hon'ble Members. Information in respect of the districts of the Chittagong Division has not yet been received. When received, it will be laid upon the Council table. Such fees are not realized in the districts of the Orissa and Chota Nagpur Divisions."

FEES FOR TRANSFER AND SERVICE OF NOTICE UPON LANDLORDS.

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN, in continuation of the answer given to Question No. IV of the Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJ-UL-ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, at the Council Meeting of the 7th February, 1903, said:—

"From a report received from the Board of Revenue, it appears that notices under sections 12, 13 and 15 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, for the service of which fees are levied under those sections, are generally served either on the landlords personally, or at their residences or cutcherries."

THE BENGAL EXCISE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1903.

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN, in presenting the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Bengal Excise Act, 1878, said:—

"It is not necessary to explain at any length the changes which have been made in the Bill. The amendment of the Act proposed in clause 7 of the Bill requires, however, a word of explanation. As I stated when introducing the Bill, orders were passed in 1901 which were intended to prohibit the employment of women in licensed houses. These orders prohibited their employment in the sale of liquor; but the Select Committee have ascertained from various sources, and especially from the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, who was good enough to attend one of their meetings, that the intention of the orders had been evaded by the employment of women in licensed houses in other ways, which did not come within the strict letter of the prohibition. These women are employed in order to attract customers and to encourage the consumption of liquor. It is only in a few houses that they are found, and in these houses the consumption of liquor is much greater than where no women are allowed. The Select Committee have therefore, after very careful consideration, found it necessary to add a specific section to the Act in order to effect the object of the present legislation.

"They have at the same time recognized that there are posts in hotels and other houses of a similar character where women can be employed without objection, and they have left such cases to be dealt with by the Board of Revenue. The other amendments are sufficiently explained in the Report of the Select Committee. We have had the advantage of the advice of the Hon'ble the Advocate-General in framing this Bill, and the Select Committee is greatly indebted to him for the keen interest which he has taken in the matter. It is hoped that with the further amendments which the hon'ble gentleman proposes to introduce, and which I am prepared to accept, the Bill will be complete and effective for the purpose for which it has been introduced."

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN also moved that the Report be taken into consideration, and that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 2.

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN also moved that in clause 2 of the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, for the words "said Act" the words and figures "Bengal Excise Act, 1878," be substituted.

He said:—"This is merely a verbal amendment."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 7.

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE moved that in line 3 of clause 7, before the word "employ" the words "during the hours in which his licensed premises may be kept open" be inserted. He said:—

"The Report of the Select Committee shows that it was of opinion that the employment of women was generally undesirable in licensed drinking shops as tending to lead to excess of drinking and other evils. The Select Committee, as has already been pointed out to Council, had the advantage of hearing the Commissioner of Police, and from his statement it was apparent that much evil results from the employment of women, in one capacity or another, in the public rooms.

"It is not of course the intention of the Legislature altogether to prohibit the employment of women in the liquor trade, which is a lawful and legitimate trade, otherwise it would not be sanctioned by the Government of this or of any other civilised country, but to prevent their being employed in such a manner as to endanger the best interests of the public. That intention will be best given effect to by the insertion of the words 'during the hours in which his licensed premises may be kept open' before the word 'employ.' The owners of licensed premises will thus be enabled to employ women at their premises at any time, save the hours in which his licensed premises may be kept open, and at the same time it will be made apparent that there is no intention on the part of the Legislature to prevent the employment of women in any honest work in public houses in which they can take part without injury to themselves or others, as for instance the cleaning up of the premises, arranging bottles and glasses, seeing to the linen and crockery, washing and scrubbing the floors, etc., during the time when the premises are not open."

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN said:—"I accept the amendment of the Hon'ble Member."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE also moved that in line 4 of the same clause for the word "his" the word "such" be substituted. He said:—

"This amendment is one of a purely formal character, and is incidental to the amendment which has just been moved and carried."

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN said:—"I accept the amendment of the Hon'ble Member."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE also moved that in line 3 of the same clause after the word "employ" the words "or permit to be employed" be inserted. He said:—

"Lest, Sir, there may be a difficulty arising from the word 'employ,' and that hereafter questions may be raised as to whether or not the licensed vendor himself employed the persons or class of persons, whose employment is struck at, in the manner and to the extent of this new section, I move that the words 'or permit to be employed' be inserted."

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN said:—"I accept the amendment of the Hon'ble Member."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN moved that in sub-clause (2) of clause 7 the word "modified" be substituted for the word "altered."

He said:—"This, Sir, is a purely verbal amendment."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 8.

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE moved that in line 6 of clause 8 for the word "therein" the words "in any license granted under this Act" be substituted. He said:—

"The amendment which stands in my name in this matter has been introduced for the purpose of avoiding, if possible, all questions that might arise in regard to the language of clause 8 of the Bill. As it stands at present, section 28 of the Act provides that—

'The Board may regulate the form and conditions of all licenses granted under this Act.'

"It appears to me that, regard being had to the amendment of that section now proposed to be made, it is desirable to make it clear that there is power to make special conditions applicable to certain licenses. The word 'therein' may be read to mean all licenses; but it is apparent that there may be licenses in which it might be unnecessary to insert all the conditions now legalised.

"There are many houses in which, for instance, there may be no necessity for placing signboards over the shop, and it may be desirable to secure earlier closing in some houses than in others; and therefore, in order to make it clear that certain conditions may be inserted in one license and not in others, the safer way is as it seems to me to insert in place of the word 'therein' the words 'in any license granted under this Act.'"

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN said:—"I accept the amendment of the Hon'ble Member."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN moved that in line 9 of clause 8, after the word "licensee" the words "and may modify such conditions from time to time" be inserted. He said:—

"In this clause we have given power to the Board of Revenue to make conditions; but we have omitted to give them power to modify such conditions from time to time, and this amendment is meant to supplement the section as drafted by the Select Committee."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 9.

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE moved that in clause 9, between the words "permits" and "persons" the words "two or more" be inserted. He said:—

"The section at present runs as follows:—'or permits persons who have been convicted of any non-bailable offence or who are reputed prostitutes to assemble in his shop, whether for the purposes of crime or prostitution or not.'

"Although the use of the word 'assemble' and the word 'persons' in that section make it reasonably clear that it is not intended to apply to one person only, or to prevent the supply of liquor to any person who has been convicted of a non-bailable offence or to a reputed prostitute, but that the object sought to be attained is the prevention of the assembling of such persons; yet it seems to me that it is better to put in the words 'two or more' between the words 'permit' and 'persons' thus making more clear our object which is the prevention of the assembling of these undesirable classes in public licensed premises."

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN said:—"I accept the Hon'ble Member's amendment."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN then moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed.

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE said:—"In rising to support this Motion I desire to say that when this Bill was before us in Select Committee, it appeared to me to be highly desirable to take power to prevent the sale of liquor to persons who, by the habitually intemperate use of such liquor or other articles, had brought themselves to that condition of degradation which in England is dealt with in the Habitual Drunkards Bill, as also to children under the age of fourteen. Those are two great evils; and although the Select Committee was of opinion that the prohibition embodied in the two sections thus proposed by me was highly desirable, yet having regard to the fact that if they were inserted in the Bill it would be necessary to apply to the Government of India, I withdrew these two sections in the hope, expressed in Select Committee, that when a general Licensing Bill is brought in, effect might be given to these suggestions. It appears to me that the question of prohibiting the employment of undesirable persons in the sale of liquor is but part of a very much larger evil, and that that larger evil can only be properly dealt with by legislation which would prevent the sale of liquor and intoxicating drugs to persons who may be described as habitual drunkards and to children under the age of fourteen years. With these observations I support the motion of the Hon'ble Member in charge of this Bill that the Bill be passed."

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"I feel certain that I give expression to the feeling of the Council when I say that we sympathise with the sentiments expressed by the Hon'ble the Advocate-General; and I assure him that when the time comes for the introduction of the larger Excise Bill, the views which he has to-day expressed will receive the fullest consideration at the hands of the Council."

The Motion that the Bill be passed was then put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL MOTOR-CAR AND CYCLE BILL, 1903.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND, in moving for leave to introduce a Bill for regulating the use of motor-cars and cycles in streets and public places in Bengal, said:—

"Before proceeding further, I desire to explain that the mere fact that this Bill is in my hands as a Member of the Board of Revenue does not make it a revenue measure. Far from it. It is meant to be a police measure. It was brought to the notice of Government a few months ago by the Commissioner of Police that he had no power to regulate the use of motor-cars in the streets of Calcutta, and that in expectation that motor-cars would be introduced into this country in some numbers before very long, it was desirable that he should be invested with powers to regulate their use. The Commissioner of Police accordingly submitted some draft rules for the consideration of Government. These draft rules, I may say at once, were taken verbatim from the rules which are in force in England, and passed by the Government under the Act entitled 'The Act to provide for the Use of Locomotives on Highways' —a Statute of 1896. I hold in my hand a copy of these Police Regulations issued by the Commissioner of Police, London. The rules submitted by the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, followed those rules exactly.

"Having therefore ascertained what we wanted to do, it was thought desirable to sanction these rules, or rather to take legal power to pass rules such as were submitted by the Commissioner of Police, or such other rules as might be found necessary from time to time. The Bill has been drafted for this purpose. The Statement of Objects and Reasons attached to the Bill is in the hands of Hon'ble Members, and it shows distinctly why a Bill of this kind is required.

"As Hon'ble Members are aware, in this country horses are not so well broken as they are in England and on the Continent. I may say the primary education of horses in this country leaves much to be desired, and their higher education has been altogether neglected. I think if Hon'ble Members in this country who have experience of the speed with which motor-cars are driven in London, and in the country in England, and on the Continent as I have myself seen them, were to see motor-cars driven at such a speed in this country they would be astonished. I think there is no reason for me to dwell at any length on the desirability of giving such powers to the Commissioner of Police and the Magistrates of the towns of Bengal as we propose to take in this Bill.

"The English Act, which I have mentioned, contains some substantive provisions with regard to the regulations for lights, and for the ringing of bells, and for the rate of speed. It also enacts that the keeping for use of petroleum or other inflammable liquids is to be subject to regulations made by the Secretary of State. In another section of the Act power is taken by the Local Government Board to make regulations. The regulations made are those to which I referred just now as having been issued by the Commissioner of Police, London. Our Bill does not altogether follow the lines of the English Act in laying down any substantive law. It rather takes power to make rules to provide for the definite objects which we have in view. That really comes in practice to be a distinction without a difference.

"It may be said that this Bill, to some extent, overlaps the provisions which are already to be found in the Calcutta and Suburban Police Acts. That is so, but those provisions in the Calcutta and Suburban Police Acts which only apply to the regulation of traffic and to the use of carriages and vehicles, and so on, do not provide altogether for everything which we wish to provide for. And it was thought better in this matter to have a little consolidated Bill—a Bill which combines in itself all that we wish to do in regard to motor-cars, rather than to supplement the existing provisions of the Calcutta and Suburban Police Acts.

"With regard to the mufassal I may say that the Bill, as you will see by the third clause of the first section, may be extended to any other town in Bengal. Now already in the mufassal towns of Bengal considerable power exists for regulating traffic and preventing obstructions and encroachments on roads. Those powers, however, are not exactly the powers which we wanted for dealing with motor-cars. This will be seen by a reference to the different headings of sub-clause (2) of clause 2 of the Bill. But so far as the mufassal towns have powers and can use them to regulate the use of motor-cars, it will of course be unnecessary for them to apply to Government for the issue of rules.

"So far as Calcutta is concerned there can be no question that some rules are necessary for the proper regulation of motor-cars driven in the streets.

"I should say a few words with regard to the use of cycles, which it is also proposed to take power to regulate by this little measure. At present there is no legal power to frame a rule prohibiting the riding of cycles on footpaths. Cycles are not driven, nor are they carriages. Therefore they do not come under the present provisions of the Police Acts. It is desirable that there should be power taken to regulate the use of cycles which may become a nuisance and a danger to the public if improperly used. There are certain provisions in the Police Acts which refer to the rule of the road, but they would not, of course, refer, unless this Bill is passed, to the use of cycles. It was only a day or two ago that a gentleman wrote to the papers (sending me a copy of his letter) saying that we should be particularly careful of the extraordinary behaviour on the part of Calcutta cyclists as to which side of the road they monopolised. In fact it was an instruction to me to take care that provision was made in our measure for the use of the right portion of the road, that is the new side, by cycles when in use in Calcutta.

"I think I have explained nearly all the provisions which the Council would care to hear. But there is one matter of importance which I must not overlook. In the English Act it is laid down that the speed of these motor-cars should not exceed fourteen miles an hour; and by the Regulations issued under the English Statute the speed is not to exceed twelve miles an hour. That would be the speed which it would be proposed to insert in the rules under this Bill, or, at any rate for the present, I presume that would be the rate which would be authorised as a maximum. It has been suggested that there should be no rule on the subject; but I think in such a matter we can be safely guided by the English law and by the English practice on the subject.

"The next point is that it has been suggested that all drivers of motor-cars should be required to hold a certificate of competency. I am informed that this is the law and the practice on the Continent, but I have no information on the subject otherwise; but be that as it may, I think it would be going rather a little too far in this matter, and that we may leave it to the individual to care for his own life and personal safety, and not to drive a motor-car, or not to drive with a friend in a motor-car unless the driver is competent to manage it; and therefore it is not proposed to take any power to insist on a certificate of competency from the driver of a motor-car.

"The penalty which it is proposed to attach for infraction of the rules has been put at Rs. 50 for the first offence, and Rs. 100 for subsequent offences. The penalty in the English Statute amounts to £10, so I do not think any one can complain about the undue severity of the penal clause introduced into the Bill.

"The last section of the Bill, authorising the arrest of offenders without a warrant, follows the rule that was sent up by the Commissioner of Police on the authority of the English rules, and it is a reasonable one. Otherwise it would be perfectly easy for the driver of a motor-car to escape after having broken the law, if power was not given to the police to arrest him without a warrant in the best way they can. I do not know how they will always catch the driver of a motor-car, but that is their business. But it would be a serious thing to be necessary for a police officer to apply for a warrant in each case or to be debarred from immediate action by having to apply for summons.

"With this explanation I commend the project to the Council, and beg to move the motion standing in my name."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND also applied to the President to suspend the Rules of Business for the purpose of introducing the Bill and referring it to a Select Committee.

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT having declared the Rules suspended—

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND introduced the Bill and moved that it be read in Council.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Bill was read accordingly.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND also moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Gupta, the Hon'ble Mr. Greer, the Hon'ble Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya, the Hon'ble Babu Joy Gobind Law, the Hon'ble Mr. Elworthy, the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur Khwaja Salimullah, of Dacca, and the Mover, with instructions to report at the next meeting.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

THE CHOTA NAGPUR TENANCY (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1903.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Chota Nagpur Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act and the Chota Nagpur Commutation Act, 1897. He said:—

"This important task has fallen to me because as Revenue Secretary to Government during the last twelve months I was in charge of the correspondence relating to this measure. The Bill, which I hope to be permitted to present to the Council, is the most important proposal for land legislation which has been made in Bengal since the Bengal Tenancy Act was passed by the Council of the Governor General in 1885. The question of the legislation to be undertaken for improving the relations of landlords and tenants in Chota Nagpur has been under the consideration of the Government, the Board of Revenue and the local officers for thirteen years. It is incumbent on me therefore, I think, to offer some remarks with the object of linking up this proposed legislation with the history of the Chota Nagpur Division and with the special Acts which have before been passed for that Division. It is also necessary for me briefly to explain the course of the discussions of the last thirteen years, which has resulted in the Commutation Act of 1897 and in the present Bill.

"The British districts of the Chota Nagpur Division, viz., Hazaribagh, Ranchi, Palamau, Singhbhum and Manbhum, were separated from the Regulation districts of Bengal and were constituted non-Regulation districts by Regulation XIII of 1833. For some time they were administered as the South-West Frontier Agency, and since Act XIV of 1874 was passed, they have been known as Scheduled districts.

"It is not proposed in this Bill to deal with Manbhum. Neither of the two Acts to be amended is in force in Manbhum. Manbhum is, in many respects, more closely assimilated to the neighbouring Bengal districts than to the rest of the Chota Nagpur Division; and its Rent Act is Act X of 1859, for which, perhaps, the Bengal Tenancy Act may be substituted at no very distant date.

"The districts, then, for which we propose to legislate are Hazaribagh, Ranchi, Palamau, and Singhbhum. They have an area of about 23,000 square miles, and a population of rather over 3½ millions. One of the features of the Census taken two years ago was the large increase of the Christian population in this Division, who now number 144,000. The conversion of a large number of the aboriginal population to Christianity since the Missions began work in the middle of the last century has been a factor of some influence in the course of the land questions which have arisen.

"The state of society in Chota Nagpur is still, as described by the Hon'ble Mr. Reynolds, when in 1877 he introduced in this Council the Bill which became Act I of 1879, very conservative and even primitive. The landlords in general belong to one race and the tenants to other races. Many of the landlords are, or claim to be, Rajputs, while the tenants are, to a large extent, of Kol or Dravidian origin. A very picturesque account of the conditions of agricultural life and landholding in Chota Nagpur was given six years ago in this Council by the late Mr. Grimley, a former Commissioner of the Division, in the debates which preceded the passing of the Commutation Act of 1897 (one of the two Acts which it is proposed to amend).

"I can recommend to Hon'ble Members who may wish to master the land questions of Chota Nagpur and the history of former legislation on this subject that the speeches made in this Council by the Hon'ble Mr. Grimley in 1897, by the Hon'ble Mr. Reynolds in 1878, and by the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier in 1868 and 1869, are well worthy of study. There is also a very interesting sketch of the land organisation of the Kol and Dravidian tribes of Chota Nagpur in Sir Henry Baden Powell's book on the Land Systems of British India.

"I may remind the Council that there has been agrarian trouble in Chota Nagpur, more or less acute, ever since the disturbances of 1831, known as the Kol Rebellion. Those disturbances were attributed by Dr. Davidson, the Principal Assistant to the Agent to the Governor General, to acts of oppression committed by the landlords and their representatives. The disturbances were renewed in 1858, the year of the Mutiny, and after much agitation the first remedial measure was passed in the Chota Nagpur Tenures Act of 1869, of which the object was to ascertain, record, and regulate the lands belonging to the Bhuinhari, Majahas, and Bhetkheta tenures.

"Land, it may be mentioned, in Chota Nagpur falls for the most part under the three divisions of Bhuinhari, that is held by persons claiming to be descendants of the original founders of the village; Majahas, that is reserved for the absolute use of the village zamindars; and Rajahas, or ordinary rent-paying land There are other tenures which I need not mention. The Act of 1869 did not provide for a record of the Rajahas land, and the Special Commissioner appointed under it dealt only with the Bhuinhari and Majahas land.

"Ten years later was passed the Landlord and Tenant Act of 1879, which we now propose to amend. The Act of 1879 was based upon Act X of 1859, formerly the Rent Law for the whole of Upper India, which had been recognised as being in force in Chota Nagpur. In practice however, as Mr. Reynolds explained, several important modifications of Act X of 1859 had been made in Chota Nagpur which rested on no specific legal basis, but upon orders of the executive authorities.

"I find that in his speech of the 29th December, 1877, Mr Reynolds dwelt upon five matters of first-rate importance as then requiring attention. They were the occupancy right, the conditions of enhancement of an occupancy raiyat's rent, distraint, ejectment, and sales of tenures. With regard to occupancy right, it was said at the time that this right was never claimed, and that the great majority of the raiyats in Chota Nagpur were entirely in ignorance of its existence. I have not been able to ascertain how this assertion was reconciled with a statement made by Colonel Dalton, Commissioner of the Division, as far back as the year 1869, to the effect that the cultivators had generally obtained a right of occupancy. Mr. Reynolds remarked that there was no good reason for excluding the Chota Nagpur raiyats from this privilege; and the section of the older Rent Law (Act X of 1859) is substantially reproduced in section 6 of the Act of 1879. With regard to enhancement of rent, special provisions were made in sections 21 to 24 of the Act.

"The provisions of Act X of 1859 relating to distraint were omitted from the later Act, on the ground that they had never been enforced, and that there was reason to apprehend serious agrarian difficulties if they should be enforced. It was provided that the right to eject a raiyat should not be exercised, except under a decree of Court. Sales of tenures and under tenures were made subject to the approval of the Commissioner of the Division. These, I have said, were the matters which attracted most attention in 1879, and the Act passed in that year was no doubt remedial in these matters.

"The Act did not, however, go to the root of the troubles, nor did the land have rest after it. The raiyats specially complained of exactions made by the landlords in the matter of services and cesses. From 1887 to 1890 the attention of Sir Steuart Bayley, at that time Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, was prominently drawn to agitations connected with claims made by the landlords for services, claims made by the tenants to hold land at quit-rents, petitions made by zamindars and raiyats for assistance of the authorities, and also to the intervention of the missionaries in the dispute. Rents were withheld and meetings were held at which leaders of the raiyats incited them to take possession of the Majahas land.

"The disputes continued during the last decade, and may be said to have culminated in the disturbances of 1899 to 1900, when troops and armed police had to be called out to put down acts of violence in the Munda country in Ranchi, which were committed by, and at the instigation of, religious fanatics, but which were intimately connected with the agrarian dissensions

"The proposal first made by Sir Steuart Bayley's Government, which was endorsed by the local officers and accepted by Sir Charles Elliott, was to extend the Bengal Tenancy Act to Chota Nagpur. In 1892, after further inquiries had been made, Sir Charles Elliott was led to entertain doubts as to the desirability of extending the Bengal Tenancy Act in its entirety to Chota Nagpur. But the proposal to extend that Act, with the exception of a few sections, and to repeal the local Act I of 1879, still held the field till 1897, when Mr. Grimley introduced a Bill into this Council for the limitation of the enhancement of rent for the record and commutation of predial services and for the registration and resumption of tenures The Bill proposed to repeal Act I of 1879, and it was intended to extend the Bengal Tenancy, save certain sections, by notification

"In that year, however, the then Commissioner of Chota Nagpur, Mr. Arthur Forbes, opposed the substitution of the Bengal Tenancy Act for Act I of 1879 on the ground that the question had not been fully examined; and for this reason, and also because the Bengal Tenancy Act was itself at the time under amendment, the Select Committee appointed to consider Mr. Grimley's Bill recommended that the repeal of Act I of 1879 and the substitution of the Tenancy Act should be deferred. This recommendation was accepted by the Council; and Act II of 1897, known as the Commutation Act, is confined, therefore, to the subject of record of predial services, that is to say, services of ploughing, digging, sowing, and reaping for the landlord and carrying the landlord's burdens in journeys and their commutation into cash payments.

"There remained the question of extension of the Bengal Tenancy Act, or of amendment of the local Act of 1879, and on this question there has been much correspondence during the last five years, local Conferences have been held, and three distinct Bills have been drafted. Mr. Forbes was supported by a general consensus of local opinion in his view that the extension of the Bengal Tenancy Act en bloc to the Division was an unsuitable measure. The Board of Revenue and the late Lieutenant-Governor accepted this view; and further decided, while admitting the great official convenience of having the law in a compendious Act, that legislation should be undertaken in the simplest and least contentious form; in other words, that it would be better to have an amending rather than a consolidating Bill.

"The reasons which led the late Sir John Woodburn to this decision were partly political and partly administrative. With reference to the rising of the Mundas in Ranchi in 1890 and 1900, it seemed to the Lieutenant-Governor to be inadvisable to introduce a Bill which might lead to lengthy discussions and give rise to wild rumours among an easily-excited and very credulous people. Furthermore, it appeared that until a survey and record-of-rights had been prepared, it was impossible to say whether the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act were really suitable to the conditions of this wild area.

"Sir John Woodburn held, therefore, that legislation should be limited for the present to what is absolutely necessary for the appeasement of agrarian troubles in Chota Nagpur. The measures for which in his judgment legislative action is urgently required are those which come under the eleven heads set forth in the Statement of Objects and Reasons appended to this Bill. And the late Lieutenant Governor further recorded his opinion that 'the essence of the whole business is to get a correct record of existing facts in tenants' holdings.' In this view he proposed that a survey and record-of-rights should be undertaken at first in the Munda tract, an area of some 1,800 to 2,000 square miles in the Ranchi district; and survey operations in this tract were sanctioned by the Government of India and were commenced just a year ago. Hon'ble Members may have noticed that a Notification was published in a recent Gazette extending to Chota Nagpur those sections of the Bengal Tenancy Act which authorise a survey and record-of-rights.

"Sir John Woodburn's proposals for legislation on the lines of the present Bill were made to the Government of India early in the year 1901, and the Government of India promptly replied that they were in complete agreement with the Lieutenant-Governor that legislation is required to amend the law of landlord and tenant in Chota Nagpur, and gave their assent to the general form which it was proposed that the legislation should take. Before giving a final opinion, however, on the precise form and scope of the needful changes in the law, the Government of India asked the Lieutenant-Governor to consider the desirability of giving finality to the legislation by dealing with the questions of occupancy right and rent settlement.

"This injunction necessitated a reference back to the Board and to the local officers, and another year was occupied with discussion of these two difficult questions, with the result that the Government of India ultimately accepted the late Lieutenant-Governor's view, which coincided with that of the local officers, that the question of introduction into Chota Nagpur of the provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act on the subject of the occupancy right should be postponed until the completion of the survey and record-of-rights which has begun in the Ranchi district.

"Except, therefore, in the adoption in clause 2 of this Bill of the definition contained in the Tenancy Act of a 'raiyat,' and except also in adoption in clause 3 of a section of a Central Provinces Act with regard to lands exchanged, it is proposed to leave the occupancy right question in Chota Nagpur alone for the present, that is, to leave it as the Act of 1879 left it.

"With regard to fixation of rents, I shall invite the attention of the Council to clause 9 of the Bill, which proposes a new section—28B—in adaptation of a section of the Bengal Tenancy Act. It will be for the Select Committee and the Council to decide whether this clause provides a satisfactory solution of a difficult question. The difficulty of the question consists in the treatment of areas held in excess by raiyats, and it will be a principle new to this Province to enact that there shall be fixity of rents recorded without settlement. The object of Government is to prevent enhancement of rate; but the late Lieutenant-Governor recorded his opinion that the landlord should not be excluded from rent for any excess area which the tenant may subsequently take up.

"Clause 5 of the Bill contains two new sections, based on the law in the Central Provinces, which impose restrictions on the sale or other transfer of the rights of raiyats. This is a policy of great importance, which merits the close attention of the Council.

"The Bengal Tenancy Act allows free transfer of permanent tenures, and leaves the validity of transfers of ordinary raiyati holdings without the consent of the landlord to custom, but does not prohibit transfers of such holdings. In special areas of this Province, such as the Sonthal Parganas, the Kolhan estate in Singhbhum, and in Angul in Orissa, transfer of tenant right is restricted by executive order, which in the case of the Sonthal Parganas may be said to have the force of law, inasmuch as it is based on provisions of a Regulation which give large powers to Government and to Settlement Officers. Transfers of raiyats' rights are said to be contrary to custom in Chota Nagpur. Writing of the Hos in Singhbhum, Dr. Manuk, who long held office as an Assistant Commissioner in that district, said: 'A Ho cannot dispose of his lands as he chooses. The land does not belong to him; it is hereditary, inalienable, and must descend to his sons and sons' sons; and if a Ho has not direct male issue, the land goes to his brother or next of kin; and if no kith or kin, to the village community represented by the Munda.'

"I have drawn the attention of the Council to three of the principal amendments of the law which are proposed in this Bill, or which have been considered by Government, and I shall briefly mention three more. The first is clause 6 of the Bill, which would enact a provision similar to a section of the Central Provinces Tenancy Act of 1898, empowering Revenue Officers to impose a fine for exactions in excess of rent. This is not an entirely novel provision. Section 11 of the existing Act of 1879 gives tenants a right to recover damages for exactions in excess of rent; and section 75 of the Bengal Tenancy Act authorises a Civil Court, on institution of a suit by the tenant, to award a penalty not exceeding Rs. 200, or not exceeding double the amount levied in excess. The Central Provinces section, however, is more stringent in this matter, and it may be more suitable to the conditions of Chota Nagpur, where illegal exactions are such a danger to the peace of the country.

"The next matter is the provision made in clauses 19 and 20 for giving relief to zamindars in recovering rents from tenure-holders, and especially from holders of resumable tenures. The necessity of giving such relief to superior landlords was strongly pressed upon Government by Mr. Forbes, the late Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division.

"The third matter is the provision made in clause 27 for the amendment of the Commutation Act of 1897, in which a defect has been found. It is desirable that commutation of predial services, that is, of the labour services rendered by the tenant, should be placed on a more equitable basis.

"With these remarks, which, I fear, have been wearisome, but which were the least that I could offer on a great subject, I ask for the leave of the Council to introduce this Bill."

The Hon'ble DR. ASUTOSH MUKHOPADHYAYA said:—"Before the motion of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill is put to the Council, I would ask permission to make a few observations on the importance of the measure which I welcome as a very necessary piece of legislation. The very fact that the Act which is now sought to be amended was passed 24 years ago, during which time the information at our disposal, regarding the land law of Chota Nagpur, has been considerably increased, would be sufficient to show that a revision is necessary. On looking at the Statement of Objects and Reasons it will be found that it is proposed to alter not only the substantive law but also the adjective law on the subject. Heads 1 to 6 and 11 deal with the substantive law on the subject, and 7 to 10 deal with the procedure applicable to suits between landlords and tenants.

"As regards the substantive law, very important changes are proposed in the sections dealing with occupancy rights, right of registration, the right to alienate a holding, and the preparation of a record-of-rights. As regards first of all the clauses relating to occupancy rights, the registration of rights and the right to alienate a holding, I entirely agree with the Hon'ble Member in charge that they are needed and are intended to protect the interests of an aboriginal ignorant population. As regards the preparation of a record-of-rights, it is unquestionable that such a record is necessary in order to enable the Government to have reliable materials for legislation in future.

"But, so far as the procedure goes, I would have been glad if the Bill had been fuller. I will explain in a few words what I mean. Act I of 1879, the present Chota Nagpur Act, was modelled on the Bengal Rent Act X of 1859. When Act X of 1859 was drafted we had no elaborate Code of Procedure. The consequence was that Act X of 1859 not only contained the substantive law on the subject, but also the procedure applicable to suits for rent between landlord and tenant. This part of Act X of 1859 was necessarily incomplete, because you cannot in one Code comprehend the whole of the substantive law and the whole of the procedure, so far as rules are necessary for regulating suits between landlord and tenant. When Act I of 1879 was passed, Act X of 1859 was taken as its model. But when the Bengal Tenancy Act VIII of 1885 was passed, the Legislature had before it an elaborate Code of Procedure, namely, the Civil Procedure Code of 1882. The consequence was that in Act VIII of 1885 we find a provision to the effect that the rules contained in the Code of Civil Procedure are ordinarily applicable, subject to certain modifications stated in the Act, and I would submit that when we amend the Act of 1879, a similar course may be followed.

"I will give one illustration to the Council. Act I of 1879 is silent as to the right of appeal in rent suits to the High Court. From 1879 up to 1900, that is to say, for 21 years, appeals were allowed to the High Court on the analogy of appeals being allowed to the High Court under Act X of 1859; but in 1900 a Full Bench of the High Court decided that as Act I of 1879 contains Rules of Procedure, the Act must be taken to be a Code complete in itself; and as the Act nowhere says that appeals may be preferred to the High Court, there is no right of appeal under Act I of 1879 to the High Court. Of course it is not for us to say if this is the right view of the law or not, but this is how the law has been interpreted by a Full Bench of the High Court. The consequence is that, whereas in a suit for rent between landlord and tenant under the Bengal Tenancy Act an appeal is allowed to the High Court, under Act I of 1879 no such appeal is allowed.

"Now, as we are going to amend this Act and are putting in a number of new provisions in the clauses relating to occupancy rights and the right to transfer holdings, there can be no doubt that questions of interpretation of these sections will from time to time arise. Is it desirable that these questions of law should be decided once for all by an inferior Court, or is it desirable that the High Court should be given an opportunity of judging of the correctness or otherwise of these decisions? If I had to give an opinion on this point, you know what my answer would be. I think if any question of interpretation arises, the High Court ought to have an opportunity of settling the matter.

"I should therefore ask the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, at a later stage, when the Select Committee has been appointed, to consider more fully the question of procedure applicable to rent suits under the Chota Nagpur Act.

"I may give another illustration. I find that in section 21 of the Bill we have a provision which is modelled upon section 174 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. It is a very salutary provision. It enables a judgment-debtor to have the sale of his holding set aside under certain conditions. But since the passing of the Bengal Tenancy Act, a section has been put into the Civil Procedure Code (section 310A) which entitles all judgment-debtors to have sales of their property set aside under similar but not exactly the same conditions. I will point out to you in what the difference consists. Under section 174 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, as also under section 21 of this Act, a sale may be set aside if the amount recoverable, with costs, is paid. That leads often to disputes as to what the exact amount recoverable under the decree is. But section 310A of the Civil Procedure Code entitles an applicant to have a sale set aside upon payment of a determined sum, namely, the amount specified in the sale proclamation by the decree-holder. This clearly simplifies matters, and the new section in the Bill before us may perhaps be modified in the direction indicated by me.

"These are merely suggestions which I throw out for the consideration of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, at a later stage, when the matter comes before the Select Committee."

The Motion for leave to introduce the Bill was then put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON also applied to the President to suspend the Rules of Business for the purpose of introducing the Bill and moving that it be read in Council.

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT having declared the Rules suspended—

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON introduced the Bill and moved that it be read in Council. He said :—

"I think that when this has been done, we shall have done what is possible to advance the consideration of this measure which has been so long on the anvil. The next stage will be to move that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee, and at that stage, I understand, that Hon'ble Members will have an opportunity of discussing the policy of the Bill. With the permission of the Council I introduce the Bill and move that it be read in Council."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Bill was read accordingly.

The Council adjourned to Saturday, the 7th March, 1903.

Chapel island—Shoals to the north-west.

WITH reference to notice to Mariners, No. 41, dated 16th March 1895, issued by this office, the British Admiralty has given further notice (No. 95 of 1903) of the existence of the two undermentioned shoal heads, north-west of Chapel island, in the southern approach to Amoy harbour:—

The three-fathom patch marked on the chart "position approximate," about one mile S. 6° E. from the above shoal, has been expunged from the chart, as it is probable that these dangers are identical.

(b) A shoal, with a depth of $4\frac{1}{2}$ fathoms over it at low-water springs, situated with Chapel island light, bearing S. 36° E., distant $3\frac{1}{10}$ miles, and Lamtia island summit, S. 65° W.

There may be less water on this shoal.

A considerable area between Chapel island and the coast was examined without any other danger being found, but the depths are irregular.

Danger reported to the southward of this island.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 105 of 1903) that the Master of the American barque Star of Bengal reports that his vessel, when about 60 miles southward of the Kermadec islands, passed over a patch of shoal water, with an estimated depth on it of 5 fathoms, the bottom being clearly visible, in approximately lat. 32° 27′ S., long. 179° 1′ W.

This danger appeared to be breaking in one part, though the sea was quite smooth, and to be about 1¼ miles long in a northerly and southerly direction, and 150 yards wide.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

To—His Excellency the Right Honourable the GOVERNOR-GENERAL of India in Council.

WITH reference to the letter from your Government, No. 34, dated 1st September 1896, I forward, for the consideration of Your Excellency in Council, an extract from a letter from the Secretary of the Society of Comparative Legislation enclosing papers* relating to the work and the extension of that Society.

* Copy of Circular letter from Colonial Office to various Colonies, 21st August, with enclosures, sent by book post.

Extract from letter from Secretary, Society of Comparative Legislation.

The enclosed circular has been kindly sent out by the Colonial Secretary with a view to extending the Society's sphere, and we have great hopes that it may lead to useful results; but that great field India still remains, and I am venturing now to write and ask you whether you think it possible that a similar course might be adopted for planting branches of the Society in different parts of India. There are many there to whom our work is, I know, of great interest.

I have to refer you to my Circular despatches of the 20th of July 1895 and 3rd October 1895, which were accompanied by papers showing the constitution of this Society, the objects for which it was formed, and the several points on which it desired information with regard to the laws and methods of legislation in the Colonies. You will observe that I have always heartily approved of the objects which the Society has in view, and that I am desirous of affording it every facility in my power. I enclose a copy of a memorandum which the Society has prepared, containing suggestions as to the composition and duties of the Branches or Committees, which they are anxious should be established in the Colonies; and I should be glad if you would again bring the matter to the notice of the Law Officers in the Colony under your Government.

3. The following are the addresses of the Secretary of the Society and the Editor of its publications:—

John Macdonell, Esq., C.B., LL.D., Master of the Supreme Court of Judicature, Royal Courts of Justice, London, W. C. (Editor).

Edward Manson, Esq., 8, Old Square, Lincoln's Inn, London, W. C. (Secretary).

4. I shall be glad to learn in due course what measures your Government would be prepared to adopt in order to meet the views of the Society of Comparative Legislation.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient humble Servant,

J. CHAMBERLAIN.

The Officer Administering the Government of

Enclosure to Circular, dated 21st August 1902.

SOCIETY OF COMPARATIVE LEGISLATION.

Suggestions for extending the Society in the Colonies.

The aim of the Society is to promote a systematic interchange of ideas and information between all parts of the Empire on subjects interesting to lawyers, jurists and statesmen.

We think this object could best be secured—

1. By forming branches of the Society in the different parts of the Empire, and we would suggest that the most effective way of doing this would be for the Colonial Office to invite the Attorney Generals of the various Colonies to form Local Committees on the model of the Executive Committee of the Home Society.

2. The Committee so formed would put itself in communication with the Law Societies and Local Bars, and would ask their co-operation in carrying on the work of the Society. Any subscriptions might, it is suggested, be divided between the Home Society and the Local Branch.

3. Every Branch Society would make a quarterly report to the Home Society of all matters of interest to the Society, such as pending Bills in Parliament, Acts passed, important decisions of the Courts, meetings, etc., and what was of permanent interest in such report would be embodied in the Journal of the Society, published quarterly, which would thus reflect the legal ideas and transactions of all parts of the Empire.

4. Each branch would forward to the Home Society a complete set of the Statutes of the Colony which would be housed by the Home Society, and would form the nucleus of a legal Library for the Empire.

5. The Home Society being in constant correspondence with foreign jurists would be a medium by which the Law Officers in the Colonies could obtain information as to the law in foreign countries.

6. The executives of the Local Branches would meet monthly.

7. There would be periodical Conferences, at intervals of three years, between the different branches of the Society.

ADDRESS TO THE COLONIAL PREMIERS.

THE following is a copy of an address which has been presented, with the approval of the Executive Committee of the Society, to the Colonial Premiers and others, and which may, it is hoped, lead to the Society increasing its sphere of usefulness:—

THE SOCIETY OF COMPARATIVE LEGISLATION.

Address to the Members of the various Colonial Governments now in England.

On the occasion of the visit of the representatives of the various colonies of the Empire, at a time when the common interests of all parts of it are under consideration, the Society of Comparative Legislation submits the following facts and proposals in the belief that they may be deemed worthy of the attention of His Majesty's Government and of the Governments of the Colonies:—

1. The Society was established in 1894, mainly for the purpose of obtaining and diffusing a knowledge of the course of legislation in different countries, but more particularly in the several parts of His Majesty's dominions and in the United States of America.

2. In a large degree, owing to the friendly co-operation of various Government Departments in England, particularly the Colonial and Foreign Offices, and of the Colonial Government throughout the Empire, the Society has, it is believed, been useful in furthering the object for which it was formed.

3. To name only one thing accomplished: For the first time, owing to the labours of the Society, each member or part of the Empire may now easily ascertain the legislative work and methods of all other parts. The many Statute Books of the Empire have, by means of annual summaries, digests, and indices published by the Society, been made accessible as they never were before. The Society is endeavouring to accomplish a similar work for the legislation of the chief countries of Europe.

4. Recognising the value of the work which the Society has already carried out, and believing it may be made still more useful, especially to the interests of commerce, the Board of Trade has promised to contribute a sum to the funds of the Society; and it is hoped that the journal of the Society will prove a useful medium of communication as to legal information of interest to men of business throughout the Empire.

5. A further development of the work of the Society is believed to be both practicable and opportune The Government at home and the Colonial Governments might, it is conceived, without incurring any responsibility, direct or indirect, for the action of the Society, and without trenching on the provinces of their official advisers, further aid the Society in performing still more important work.

6. Following the example of the State of New York, which in 1890 passed a Law for the appointment of Commissioners to promote uniformity of legislation in the United States, most of the States of the American Union have appointed Commissions for the promotion of such unity; conventions and conferences attended by such Commissioners have been held; and it is believed that progress has thus been made towards the end in view.

7. In connection with the Ministry of Justice in France there exists a Comité de Législation Etrangére which does useful work in regard to legislation, more especially by putting at the service of the Government information as to measures of a similar character in other countries. A similar service is rendered by the Société de Législation Comparée.

8. The Society might, it is suggested, be made the nucleus of an organisation performing work akin to that of those bodies which two countries, recognising the need of unity in legislation and the desirableness of profiting by the experience of other countries, have created. The Society might become something more—it might become, in a sense, a legal consultative Council of the Empire.

9. Without endeavouring to forecast all possible directions of activity, it may be suggested that—

(a) The Society may form one or more standing committees for the collection and interchange of information in regard to legislation between different parts of the Empire, the United States of America, and other foreign countries.

(b) It might aid in assimilating and codifying large parts of the laws of the Empire; in realising, so far as is practicable and desirable, its legal unity, and in forming a Rechtsverein.

(c) It might help to codify, so far as is practicable, the commercial law of the Empire—to give it that which is possessed by France, Germany, Italy, Holland, and, indeed, by most of the chief States of the world, including some of them with commercial interests far inferior to ours, and to carry out a work which has been more than once declared to be expedient by the United Chambers of Commerce of the Empire.

(d) It might give useful assistance in regard to such questions as naturalisation, legal education, enforcement of judgments of Colonial Courts, security for costs of British subjects not resident in the United Kingdom, and many questions of private international law.

(e) It might confer and advise as to the form and methods of legislation in the United Kingdom, India, and the Colonies.

(f) It might answer enquiries, or conduct investigations or obtain reports from competent authorities, as to foreign legislation upon questions which occupy the attention of the Imperial Parliament or of Colonial legislatures.

(g) Lastly, it might represent the scientific spirit, the movement towards unity, in law, never so much needed as in these days, when no one Parliament can without loss to itself afford to ignore the legislative experiments and experience of others.

10. To accomplish no small part of all this only a trifling expenditure is necessary. So far the work of the Society has been done gratuitously, and there is no intention to change this policy for the additional work here proposed. Probably a contribution of not exceeding £50 to £60 a year from each Colony would suffice to meet normal expenditure. What is mainly required is organisation, co-operation, and recognition of the desirableness of the ends which the Society has chiefly in view.

11. It is tentatively suggested that a certain proportion of members of the General Council of the Society should be nominated as follows:—

In the United Kingdom by—

The Lord Chancellor of Great Britain;
The Lord Chief Justice of England;
The Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs;
The Secretary of State for the Colonies;
The Law Officers of the Crown.
The Lord Chancellor of Ireland;
The Lord Chief Justice of Ireland;
The Law Officers of Ireland.
The Lord President of the Court of Session of Scotland;
The Lord Justice Clerk of Scotland;
The Law Officers of Scotland.

In each of the Colonies by—

The Premier;
The Chief Justice;
The Law Officers.

In India by—

The Viceroy and his Council.

12. With some such organisation as is here suggested—and it is needless to say that modifications of these proposals are contemplated, and that the details of organisation would require much consideration before any scheme was finally adopted—there would exist all over the Empire local legal councils, together with an Imperial Legal Council, all of them entirely unofficial, the executive Governments at home and in the Colonies being of course in no way bound by, or responsible for, the opinions or action either of the Imperial or of the local councils, each council acting independently, if desirable, and not responsible for the action of other councils: but from time to time all conferring and co-operating, their discussions being fruitful and instructive, their joint representations possessing great moral weight.

13. It is conceived that such a scheme, even if very imperfectly realised, would form an important link in the unity of the Empire.

14. A minor matter may be mentioned. The Society might, it is conceived, also aid in forming what is much needed—a central library containing complete sets of the Statutes and Ordinances of all legislative bodies within the Empire.

15. Such a library, which does not, it is believed, at present exist, would be of great importance and value, not only to lawyers, but to persons concerned with administration or engaged in business. The absence of such a library and the impossibility of procuring without much delay accurate information as to the Statute law of the Empire are serious anomalies.

16. If each of the Colonies supplied a complete set of its own Statutes, the Society would probably find means of housing them in a building which would be conveniently situated, and where they could be readily consulted.

17. The Society would venture to request the various members of all Colonial Governments now in this country to take into consideration the above facts and suggestions, and in the event of their approving generally of the objects in view, to adopt such measures as they deem best fitted to further such objects. The Executive Committee of the Society will be pleased to render any practical aid in their power.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

CHANGE IN THE ADMINISTRATION OF ORISSA DIVISION.

The Hon'ble DR. ASUTOSH MUKHOPADHYAYA asked:—

Is it true that it is the intention of Government to sever Orissa from the Bengal Administration and to place it under the Administration of the Central Provinces?

If no such change of Administration is under consideration, will the Government be pleased to allay the alarm which the news of such a possible change has created in Orissa?

The Hon'ble MR. HARE replied:—

"No such proposal is under the consideration of the Government of Bengal."

LANDLORDS' FEES.

The Hon'ble MR. COLLIN, in continuation of the answer given to Questions Nos. II and III of the Hon'ble Maulvi Seraj-ul-Islam, Khan Bahadur, at the Council Meeting of the 7th February, 1903, said:—

"The Board of Revenue have furnished a statement showing the amount of landlords' fees realized under the Bengal Tenancy Act from the date of passing of the Act up to the end of the last financial year, and the amounts held in deposit at the close of that year in the several district treasuries in the Chittagong Division. THE BENGAL MOTOR-CAR AND CYCLE BILL, 1903.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill for regulating the use of motor-cars and cycles in streets and public places in Bengal.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND also moved that the Report be taken into consideration, and that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee. He said:—

"The Select Committee met the other day and gave the Bill before them the most careful consideration; the alterations they had to suggest are only of a minor character and in regard merely to details. I propose first, with Your Honour's permission, to describe briefly the small changes which are included in the Bill. In the first place we propose to insert the words 'or area' in clause 1, sub-clause (3), so as to make it possible for Government to extend the operations of the Bill to any area they think necessary outside the town. It seemed to be desirable, when rules may be made for Calcutta and Barrackpore, or say for Dacca and Naraingunj, or, again, say for Patna and Dinapur to give power to the Local Government to make rules for controlling the use of motor-cars and bicycles on the roads and streets between these places respectively It is quite possible that before very long motor-cars may be in use in the Chota Nagpur Division. It seems, therefore, desirable, while we are undertaking this legislation, to give power to the Local Government to enable them to include in the operation of the Act areas outside of towns. Whether they will ever avail themselves of it is, of course, for the consideration of the Government, but it seemed undesirable to tie their hands by limiting the operation of the Act strictly or merely to towns. In the second place, in the amended Bill, a definition of what is a motor car has been inserted. This has been rather widely drawn on purpose. I have not been able to find any definition of 'motor-car,' but in the English Act there is a description of locomotives to which the Act is intended to apply, rather than a strict scientific definition. Our purpose, therefore, was to make a definition, or so-called definition, of motor-car, which would reasonably include any such vehicles as those to which we intend the Act to apply. It has been drawn rather widely so that it may apply hereafter also to traction engines.

"In clause 3 (1) of the amended Bill we have endeavoured to make it clear that the rules the Local Government intend to make under this Act should be previously published for criticism, and that the Government should have the power to modify or cancel such rules from time to time.

"In the second sub-clause of the third clause of the Bill we have added some words to make it clear that the rules which may be drawn up when applying to the following matters which are named in the Bill, may also apply to other matters which are not named. It was for this object that we have resorted to the addition of the words 'without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power.' I think this form will commend itself to the Council so as not to limit unduly the power of the Local Government to make rules under this Act.

"The other changes which have been proposed to be made in the Bill are shown in italics in the sub-clauses (d), (f), (i), (k) and (n).

"When I was introducing the Bill in Council, I said I did not propose to require from the driver of a motor-car any certificate of competency, but it was pointed out to us in Select Committee that it was desirable that there should be some standard of competency required from the driver. I have therefore introduced a few words into the Bill which will make it possible for the Local Government to insist upon a standard of competency in the form of a certificate, from the driver, or person in charge of a motor-car It is required, I am told, on the Continent, and on reflection it seems to me that on the whole it is desirable that in a country like India we should require a certificate of competency from the driver, or person in charge of a motor-car; the Select Committee have, therefore, introduced these words, acting on such advice as we had before us.

"Sub-clause (f) prohibiting the leaving of motor-cars unattended or in the charge of incompetent persons speaks for itself. It will never do to have motor-cars ready for driving left about the streets, which might go off themselves if not properly attended to.

"In another sub clause (i) we have added a provision to make a rule to insist upon the carrying of number and name-plates on motor-cars. It has been pointed out that often the only means of identifying a motor-car will be the number on the side or end of it. I shall move later on to amend this sub-clause in a slight degree by providing for the registration of those numbers and name-plates

"I will next refer to sub-clause (n) relating to the stoppage of motor-cars when required by the police for the regulation of traffic. It seemed desirable to give the police power to stop motor-cars when it was desirable to do so in the interests of the traffic. My attention has been called to the fact that this power will not be sufficiently wide and that the police might from time to time require to stop a motor-car when it might be contested that the stoppage was not altogether necessary for regulating traffic. I shall have to say a few words on that subject when I come to deal later on with an amendment which I propose to that sub-clause.

"I omitted just now sub-clause (k) which refers to cycles and the riding of cycles on footways, streets or other places where their use may be attended with danger to the public. When I introduced the Bill in Council the other day my attention was drawn to two decisions in the English Courts. It was pointed out that it seemed to have been held in England that the term 'carriage' included 'bicycle.' When we looked into these decided cases it did not appear to me to be clear that this statement was altogether correct. In the one case it was held distinctly that a bicycle was not a carriage for the purpose of paying toll under the English Act, and in the other case it was held that a bicycle was a carriage when a prosecution was instituted for driving furiously. When we came to consider this point in the Select Committee it also transpired that, when the Calcutta Municipal Act was on the legislative anvil in 1899, care was then taken to define 'carriage' so that it did include a 'bicycle.' It therefore seemed to us most likely that the Indian Courts would decide that a bicycle was not a carriage within the meaning of the Calcutta and Suburban Police Acts. It therefore seemed desirable to adhere to the opinion that I ventured to submit in introducing the Bill that we should take care to provide by legislation for the punishment of people who ride bicycles on footways, streets or other places where their use was attended with danger to the public, and also with regard to the rules of the road, so as to make it quite clear that, whatever was the previous opinion with regard to bicycles not being carriages, the point should be quite clear for the future that the abuse of bicycles on footways, streets and public places is to be punishable.

"The last clause that we have inserted is, that offences committed in contravention of this Act shall be triable by Presidency Magistrates or by any Magistrate of the first class within whose jurisdiction the offence may have been committed. It was thought desirable that power should be taken so as not to leave a matter like this, which might perhaps be a difficult one to be decided, to any Magistrate of the third class or of inferior status to a Presidency Magistrate of the first class.

"I think I have nothing more to add to show to the Council in what respects the Bill has been amended by the Select Committee.

"I trust this Bill will be found to be a useful measure, and that it will help the police materially in the regulation of traffic and the use of motor-cars and cycles in Calcutta and the other towns and places to which it might be made to apply.

"I therefore beg to move that the Report be taken into consideration and that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 3.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND also moved that in clause 3, sub-clause (2) (i) of the Bill as amended, after the words "on motor-cars" the words "and the registration thereof" be inserted. He said:—

"My attention has been drawn to the necessity of some few words, such as I have mentioned, for the reason that motor-cars can go great distances, and the only way of identifying them and tracing them will be by the numbers on the cars. It is not of much use to have numbers on the motor-cars unless there is some central place where the numbers are registered through which their owners and drivers may be traced. It may easily be imagined that a motor-car may go dashing along at a speed of, say, 12 miles an hour, and that all that can be distinguished is the number. It is obvious that there should be some office or institution to apply to from which can be traced by means of the number, the owner of the car. I presume, if these words which I propose to add are accepted, as I trust they will be, that the Government would, in making a rule, lay down that every person possessing a car and wishing to use it, must register his name and number at some office, i.e., either with the Commissioner of Police or the Chairman of the Corporation, or Head of the Municipality, or the Magistrate and Collector of the district where he proposes to use it. I think it is a little provision which we ought to insert in the Bill, so as to give the Government power to make rules to this effect."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND also moved that in sub-clause (2) (n) of the same clause, after the word "traffic" the words "or for other reasonable purpose" be inserted. He said:—

"It is far from my desire to put unlimited power in the hands of the police, and I do not think we are doing so by inserting these words. Occasions may arise on which the police ought to interfere and stop motor-cars from proceeding for other reasons than merely for the regulation of traffic. I have thought of such cases, as, for instance, the obvious inability of the driver to manage his car either at starting or on a clear road; or when it may be necessary for the police to warn the driver of some obstruction in the road ahead; or, for instance, it may be necessary for the police to get on to a car to inquire and find out the address of the driver or to see whether he holds a proper certificate of competency. These are cases which have occurred to me, in thinking this over, where the police may reasonably be required to use their power, not necessarily for the regulation of traffic, but to carry out the purpose of the Act in regulating the use of the cars driven, and preventing injury to the public or inconvenience to the driver of the car himself. Other cases may occur to Members of the Council. It is rather difficult to think of all possible cases. I use the words 'or for other reasonable purpose,' so that the police will have no excuse for interfering unnecessarily. I therefore beg to move that in sub-clause (2) (n) of the same clause, after the word 'traffic' the words 'or for other reasonable purpose' be inserted."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND also moved that in sub-clause (2) (o) of the same clause the word "unnecessary" be omitted. He said:—

"In looking up the Act on which this Bill was drawn and modelled I do not find the word 'unnecessary,' and clearly it is not wanted here. What we want is that the Government should have power to make rules for the prevention of obstruction of traffic. It may well be said that all obstruction of traffic is unnecessary and undesirable. The word 'unnecessary' must have crept in (apparently in drafting though I am not prepared to say so), and I regret that it escaped my notice before when we were dealing with it in Select Committee. I do not think anybody would wish to legalise any necessary obstruction to traffic. I think the omission of the word 'unnecessary' is most desirable."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND also moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed. He said:—

"The explanation I made to the Council, I am afraid, at some length, just now, and the explanation I gave in asking for leave to introduce the Bill a few days ago will, I hope, have put the Council in possession of all the reasons that seem to make it necessary to have a Bill of this sort, and for having it drafted in the form which we have adopted in this measure. I think it will be admitted that Calcutta should not be behind the times in the matter of the regulation of traffic. Though motor-cars may not have appeared in very large numbers at present we all know that there are some about the streets, and as they get cheaper at home, more will be in use here, and it seems to me to be high time that some measure of this kind should be on our Statute Book to give the police power under the rules drawn up by Government to interfere with the abuse of motor-cars in this and other towns and areas in Bengal to which it may be applied."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

THE CHOTA NAGPUR TENANCY (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1903.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON moved that the Bill to amend the Chota Nagpur Landlord and Tenant Procedure Act and the Chota Nagpur Commutation Act, 1897, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Gupta, the Hon'ble Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya, the Hon'ble Maharaja Bahadur of Gidhour and the Hon'ble Babu Chaturbhooj Sahay, with instructions to report on the 1st August next. He said:—

"In making this motion, I have to say a few words only with reference to the remarks made at the last Council meeting by the Hon'ble Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya. The Hon'ble Member pointed out that the Bill before the Council proposes both to amend the substantive law of landlord and tenant in Chota Nagpur, and also the adjective law, that is, the judicial procedure; and with regard to the procedure, the Hon'ble Member recommended that instead of retaining the special procedure of the Act of 1879, we should make the rules of the Civil Procedure Code ordinarily applicable. This is the course which has been followed in the Bengal Tenancy Act of 1885, except in the case of suits for recovery of rent.

"Under the Bengal Tenancy Act the High Court has power, with the approval of the Governor General in Council, to make rules declaring that any portions of the Code of Civil Procedure shall not apply to suits between landlords and tenants or to specified classes of suits. But the High Court has not exercised this power.

"On the other hand, with regard to suits for recovery of rent, the Bengal Tenancy Act itself contains special provisions which oust the Civil Procedure Code.

"Now, if we adopt the Hon'ble Member's suggestion, we should probably enact sections similar to sections 143 and 148 of the Bengal Tenancy Act in place of the numerous procedure sections of the Act of 1879. I would not say that such a course may not ultimately be desirable. But before we could take such short cut, we should have to make a careful and elaborate comparison of the procedure sections of the Act of 1879 with the corresponding sections of the Code of Civil Procedure and of the Bengal Tenancy Act: and it would be necessary for the local officers and persons interested to consider, section by section, what is to be said in favour of retention or otherwise of about 100 sections of the existing Act of 1879. Such an examination in full of the procedure sections would go beyond the intention of Government, which, as I explained at our last meeting, is that immediate legislation should be confined to what is necessary for the appeasement of agrarian trouble.

"Another point which occurs to me as necessary to be remembered is that rent suits are at present tried in Chota Nagpur by Revenue Officers, and that if we substitute the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure and of the Bengal Tenancy Act for Act I of 1879 in Chota Nagpur, such suits must in future be tried by Munsifs; or if we specially provide that Revenue Officers shall continue to try such suits, it will be necessary for the Revenue Officers to acquaint themselves with the Code of Civil Procedure.

"While on these considerations and on the information which Government at present holds, I am not prepared to advise the Council to make such a comprehensive change of the procedure of the Act of 1879 as was indicated by the Hon'ble Member, I have permission to state that there will be no objection on the part of Government to discussion by the Select Committee of the two particular matters of procedure to which the Hon'ble Member drew attention, viz., the appellate jurisdiction of the Honourable High Court under the Act of 1879 and the modification of clause 23 of the Bill on the subject of setting aside judgment sales so as to bring the clauses into nearer conformity with section 310A of the Code of Civil Procedure.

"The first suggestion is, I think, of considerable importance, and it may properly be circulated for opinion, when the Bill is referred to the local officers and to non-officials in Chota Nagpur.

"The second suggestion is one which will, I think, at once commend itself to the Select Committee.

"Any other particular suggestion with regard to procedure in suits which does not obviously exceed the scope of the Bill may also be considered by the Select Committee.

"I now beg, Sir, to make the motion which stands in my name."

The Hon'ble BABU CHATURBHOOJ SAHAY said:—"The Bill I am afraid will be regarded as a piece of tinkering legislation by the public. It is very important, affecting, as it does, vitally the interests of both the landlords and the tenants in the Chota Nagpur Division. The provisions relating to (a) exemption of raiyats' rights in holding from sale; clause 5 (b) prohibition of transfer of raiyats' rights for more than two years are quite new and radical in their character. Whether the raiyats will be eventually benefited or seriously hampered in their actions and agricultural lives by such provisions will have to be carefully considered in the Select Committee, but it would be interesting to know if the transfers which we are now going to restrict had had anything to do with the agrarian disputes alluded to by the Hon'ble Mover in his speech. It is said that transfers of the rights of raiyats in their holdings are contrary to custom in Chota Nagpur, and it is also admitted that the practice of transferring such rights is, however, gradually forcing its way. It becomes a question worthy of our consideration if we are to stifle or foster the growth of such a practice, which is in consonance with reason and common sense. The whole thing has to be decided on local conditions and requirements.

"Clause 6 deals with the question of penalty on a landlord when he levies anything in excess of rent legally payable to him. The amount of penalty, viz., Rs. 500, or in some cases even more, for illegal exactions, however small, provided in the Bill, seems to me to be very excessive, and has no parallel in the Regulations or the Bengal Tenancy Act, and in the strained relations between the zemindar and the raiyats we ought to be circumspect and alive to the danger that by such a legislation we may not open a wide door to incessant false complaints on the part of the raiyats. The question will have to be particularly examined from this standpoint.

"There are other points which will require the most careful attention of the Select Committee, but the proviso added by clause 4 to section 9 of the Act we are seeking to amend seems open to the objection that in case of non-occupancy raiyats—and we are dealing with that case—the matter of settlement of rates of rent should be left to free contract and not clogged by any proviso of the kind we are dealing with.

"In the first place, it is very difficult to ascertain, with any degree of accuracy, the customary rate in cases of non-occupancy raiyats, should any exist. In the second place, the time has come when the raiyats of even Chota Nagpur can be left alone to understand their own interests whether they will take lease of any land or not and at what rate. It is fair that in this age of progress customary rate should give place to competition rate in cases of non-occupancy raiyats."

The Motion was then put and agreed to.

THE CHITTAGONG PORT COMMISSIONERS' (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1903.

The Hon'ble MR. INGLIS moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Chittagong Port Commissioners' Act, 1887. He said:—

"As explained in the Statement of Objects and Reasons which has been circulated to Hon'ble Members with the Bill, the main object of this Bill is to enable the Port Commissioners of Chittagong to increase their income. At present the Port of Chittagong has not got sufficient revenue to meet its ordinary working expenses, and the Port is virtually insolvent. The Port Commissioners are now under obligation to pay to the Bengal Government annually a sum of Rs. 18,815 in repayment of previous loans. For some years past they have had considerable difficulty in making these payments, and they have not been able to make them with any regularity. Last June a sum of Rs. 32,593 was due to the Government. They were not only unable to pay this sum, but in fact at that time they wrote and asked for an overdraft or advance of Rs. 5,000 to meet their current expenses, and at the same time they asked that the repayments of the loan might be deferred till their receipts shall allow.

"The business of the Port of Chittagong is increasing, and it has considerable possibilities before it. Various improvements to the Port are required, these cannot be made without funds, and it is quite certain that the business of the Port cannot be properly conducted without a larger income. Assistance has been given by the Provincial Government on various occasions in the past, and such assistance will, no doubt, be given in the future, but, I think, it will be generally accepted that before such assistance should be given from Provincial Revenues, it is incumbent upon the authorities who are responsible for the direct administration of the Port to take all reasonable steps to make it self-supporting.

"It is proposed in the Bill which has been drafted that powers should be taken to levy a river due on all goods exported from the Port or imported into the Port through sea-going vessels. The rate which may be charged is not less than one anna and not more than four annas per ton of goods. In determining in practice on the actual rate to be charged at any particular time the financial position of the Port and the nature and value of the goods will require to be considered. I may explain that the Bill provides that the rate may either be a general one to be charged on all goods, or it may be varied from time to time, and goods of one class charged at, say, four annas, and goods of another class at two annas or at one anna, and so on.

"As regards the value which this due may have as a potential asset of the Port, this must vary with the volume of trade. Taking the tonnage of goods as given in the Administration Report of the Port for the year 1901-1902, the exports of grain, jute and tea, which are the main staples of the Port, aggregated nearly 69,500 tons, while the imports of salt and mineral oil came to something over 21,000 tons. In addition to these articles there is a certain trade in piece-goods and other commodities. Assuming 96,000 tons as the total of imports and exports each anna per ton of the due will bring in about Rs. 6,000 a year. At the maximum rate the total probable increase of revenue to the Port would be about Rs. 24,000 a year.

"The incidence of the proposed due, even at its maximum of 4 annas a ton, is so small relatively to the value of the goods that it is hoped that it will have no appreciable effect in hindering the development of the trade of the Port, while, as I have already said, it is absolutely necessary that the Port should have an increased revenue.

"The other objects of the Bill, which are the authorising of leave being given to the Vice-Chairman and the appointment of a person to officiate as Vice-Chairman, and also the legalising of the grant of pensions and gratuities to the staff of the Port, are formal matters which call for no comment.

"I therefore now move for leave to introduce the Bill.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. INGLIS also applied to the President to suspend the Rules of Business for the purpose of introducing the Bill and referring it to a Select Committee.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT having declared the Rules suspended —

The Hon'ble MR. INGLIS introduced the Bill and moved that it be read in Council.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Bill was read accordingly.

The Hon'ble MR. INGLIS also moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Gupta, the Hon'ble Mr. Colvin, the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar, the Hon'ble Maulvi Seraj-ul-Islam, Khan Bahadur, and the Mover, with instructions to report at the next meeting of the Council.

The Hon'ble DR. ASUTOSH MUKHOPADHYAYA said:—"I hope, Sir, I shall be pardoned if I detain the Council with a few observations on this matter. I have been looking at the matter with some degree of care, and I feel some difficulty, which is no doubt capable of being removed, though there are some questions in connection with it which I cannot myself answer. In the first place I understand that the object of the Bill is to secure an increase of revenue which is absolutely necessary. Why that cannot be done under the existing Act, I cannot make out.

Section 23 of the Act says:—

'When a sufficient number of wharves, quays, stages, jetties, piers, warehouses, sheds and appliances have been provided as aforesaid, the Commissioners may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, or by an order published in three consecutive numbers of the Calcutta Gazette, direct that no goods shall be landed or shipped from or in sea-going vessels within the port, save at such wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers.'

"That is to say if there is sufficient accommodation, all sea-going vessels may be compelled to use wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers which have been erected by the Port Commissioners. Then under section 33 the Commissioners may frame

'(a) A scale of tolls, dues, rates and charges for the landing and shipment of goods from and in sea-going vessels and vessels not being sea-going vessels respectively, at the wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers and for the use of such wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers by such vessels, and for the storing and keeping of any goods stored in any premises belonging to the Commissioners, and for the removal of goods and for the use of any moorings.

'(b) A scale of tolls for the use of the said wharves, quays, moorings, stages, jetties and piers by any such vessel in case the Commissioners permit the goods to be landed or shipped by others than their own servants.

'(c) A scale of charges for any service to be performed by the Commissioners or their servants in respect of any vessels or goods, or for the use of any works or appliances to be provided by the Commissioners.

'Such scale shall be submitted to the Local Government and, after approval or modification by the Local Government, shall be published by the Commissioners in the Calcutta Gazette.

'The Commissioners may from time to time in like manner, with the like approval or modification and publication, alter such scales.

'Every such scale shall be printed in the English and Bengalee languages and characters and shall be hung up, and kept hung up, in some conspicuous place at the several wharves, quays, stages, jetties, piers, warehouses and sheds.'

"So that the Port Commissioners have power under section 23 to oblige all sea-going vessels to use their wharves, and under section 33 they have power to levy tolls and charges; if the rates and dues which have been levied in the past have been found to be insufficient, the Port Commissioners have only to raise them.

"The Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill has not explained whether section 23 of the Act is in force, and whether it is compulsory upon all sea-going vessels to use the wharves erected by the Commissioners of the Port of Chittagong. If section 23 is in force, no further legislation is necessary. If section 23 is not in force, it must be due to the fact that there is no sufficient accommodation, and if there is not sufficient accommodation, I think it is open to sea-going vessels to land or ship their goods in places other than those erected by the Port Commissioners. Certainly it seems somewhat unreasonable, if this is so, to realise more money in order that they may be able to balance their income and expenditure, from people who do not generally land their goods at their wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers. Upon that point I would be glad if the Hon'ble Member would furnish some information.

"Then, again, if section 33 applies and is in force, tolls and dues may be recovered from all vessels, whether they are sea-going vessels or not. The term 'vessel' is defined in the Act and 'includes any ship, barge, boat, raft or craft or any other thing whatever, made for the conveyance by water of human beings or of property.' The present Act is confined only to sea-going vessels, and I think it would be desirable to define a 'sea-going vessel,' otherwise there may be disputes as to whether a vessel is a sea-going vessel or not. I hope the Select Committee will bear this in mind and give us a practical definition of what is a sea-going vessel.

"There is another point I would like to mention. In the Bill it is suggested that the dues should be not less than one anna and not more than four annas a ton. I think it would be desirable to have a minimum weight fixed for the levy of the new rate. If a maund of potatoes, for instance, were landed, is it intended that some dues should be recovered, a maund being about one-twenty-eighth of a ton? This is a matter which the Select Committee might also bear in mind.

"These are all the observations I wish to place before the Council."

The Hon'ble MR. INGLIS said:—"With reference to the remarks of the Hon'ble Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya with regard to section 23 of the existing Act, I may mention that this question is at present under consideration. We have referred to the Port Commissioners of Chittagong as to whether the provisions of section 23 should be made compulsory on all vessels. A short time ago the Port Commissioners declined to make that section compulsory, but we have asked them to reconsider that question. I consider that, notwithstanding all the resources of the existing Act, we shall require assistance from the amendment proposed in the present Bill.

"The question of non-sea-going vessels being compelled to use the wharves is also one which is under consideration, but at present the Port Commissioners have no facilities to that end. Inland vessels at present use private wharves and do not pay anything for their use. It has been suggested to the Port Commissioners that if they could arrange to build wharves and piers for the accommodation of inland vessels they might put in force section 24 of the Act under which all non-sea-going vessels can be required to use the smaller wharves and jetties and pay for their use. These points are receiving consideration, but I think the finances of the Port are such that it will be necessary to have power which may not always be enforced of raising an additional revenue by levying this river due or tax on goods as opposed to a port due or tax on shipping."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR said:—"I should like to make just one observation with reference to what the Hon'ble Member has said with regard to section 23. I understand from the Hon'ble Mr. Inglis that this matter has already been considered by the Port Commissioners of Chittagong and that they have declined to exercise the discretionary power they possess to oblige all sea-going vessels to use their jetties. I think, with the knowledge I possess of steamers and their working, that the decision of the Chittagong Port Commissioners, is a very proper one. It would not do for all sea-going vessels to be indiscriminately obliged to go to the jetties. The port is a tidal port in a river and there are certain difficulties in getting in and out and in working there at times when the tide is unfavourable.

"Moreover when the mail steamers come in they perhaps bring in about 30 or 40 tons of cargo and take away about 40 or 50 tons; there is an average of something like 70 or 80 tons altogether. By working both sides, discharging on one side and loading on the other, they can do their work much quicker, and they can come when they like and go when they like; whereas if they were compelled to go to the jetties they would be tied down to moving in at certain tides and moving out at certain tides, and in place of the 12 or 18 or at most 24 hours in which they now finish and are able to leave, they would in all probability be detained two or three or perhaps four days. I think, therefore, that it should not be proposed to bind the Port Commissioners of Chittagong to make it compulsory for every steamer to go to the jetties, because I think the effect of this would be to hamper trade and cause unnecessary expense, inconvenience and delay to steamers which do not require to go there."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Saturday, the 21st March, 1903.

Danger reported to the southward of this island.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 105 of 1903) that the Master of the American barque Star of Bengal reports that his vessel, when about 60 miles southward of the Kermadec islands, passed over a patch of shoal water, with an estimated depth on it of 5 fathoms, the bottom being clearly visible, in approximately lat. 32° 27′ S., long. 179° 1′ W.

This danger appeared to be breaking in one part, though the sea was quite smooth, and to be about 1¼ miles long in a northerly and southerly direction, and 150 yards wide.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY 1903.

WEATHER during February resembled that for the corresponding month last year in pressure, being relatively much above the normal, and it differed noticeably as regards the rainfall. With the high pressure distribution of 1902, and chiefly owing to the absence of shallow depressions, practically no rain fell throughout the month, but in the past month showers were of frequent occurrence during the latter half, and over a considerable portion of the Province the rainfall was in excess of the normal. Excess falls occurred in the southern districts, chiefly in East Bengal and Orissa. In South-West Bengal, Chota Nagpur, and Assam about the normal amount was received. In Bihar rather more than half and in North Bengal less than half the normal amount fell.

A not unusual feature of atmospheric conditions at the change of season is large oscillations of pressure and temperature. These changes are usually associated with the passage of depressions, and may be accompanied by rainfall and occasionally by thunder. As thunder never occurs with cold-season disturbances and almost invariably occurs with disturbances in March and April, the storms of February might be classified as of the cold-season or hot-season type according to the occurrence of thunder.

Now in the past month thunderstorms nearly always occurred when there was rainfall, and therefore, notwithstanding the high pressure, and at times the steep-pressure gradient of the cold-season type, it may be stated that in the latter half of February, if not earlier, weather was more of the hot-season character than usual.

Mean temperature for the month as a whole was practically normal in Bengal Proper and Bihar. In Orissa, Chota Nagpur, and Assam there was considerable defect. At the beginning of the month pressure and temperature were about normal, the usual light northerly winds prevailed over the Province and the Bay, and fine settled weather was general. The rise of pressure which had then commenced continued steadily for some days By the 3rd there was general excess and a steeper pressure gradient from north to south. Stronger northerly winds followed and somewhat later a brisk fall of temperature. On the 4th and 5th mean temperature was about 6° below the normal in the south of the Province and 3° in the north. By the 7th this cold wave had passed south-eastward, and on the 8th most of the Bengal stations reported excess, some as much as 6°.

During these days the pressure changes had been generally upward, and on the 9th pressure was very high over the whole area. Excess was considerably larger in Bengal than at the coast stations, and there was in consequence a much steeper gradient than is usual in February or even than is usual at any time during the cold season. This excess varied in Bengal from ·18 inch to ·22 inch, and over the Bay it diminished to less than ·1 inch in the extreme south.

Pressure began to fall on the 10th, and such evidence as there is supports the assumption that the change beginning in the north-east advanced south-westward over the Province. A few days later a depression was shown over Central India, and with the formation of this depression weather became disturbed in Bengal.

Rain began on the 14th in Lower Bengal, and was fairly general in Bengal Proper on the 15th and 16th. In Bihar a few showers fell on the 14th and 17th. Rainfall was more general in that division on the 18th and more so on the 19th, after which it almost ceased. In Orissa and Chota Nagpur the rainfall period extended from the 18th to the 21st.

It is difficult, with the available data, to account for the rainfall distribution on the supposition that a depression was passing eastward over the Province. The rainfall began in East Bengal, then extended northwards to North Bengal and Bihar, and afterwards to Orissa and Chota Nagpur. Atmospheric conditions were complicated during the third week by the wave of falling pressure which passed south-westward from Assam and the shallow but well-defined depression which almost immediately followed in Central India. The earlier rainfall in Bengal Proper may have been due to whatever caused the fall of pressure between the 10th and 13th, and the later rainfall in the western districts to the depression which appeared over Central India and afterwards disappeared over the Bay.

By the 18th pressure was again in large excess, and the cold-weather gradient with northerly winds was well marked over the Province and the north of the Bay But there remained low pressure over the south of the Peninsula with south-easterly winds on the Madras coast.

The abnormal conditions between the 10th and the 18th may be roughly accounted for by the advance from Central Asia of a depression which, after passing the Himalayan range, became better defined over Central India. It first may have recurved eastward from Central India towards the Bay, but ultimately passed away southward over Southern India. The heavier rainfall in the west of the Province occurred during the period in which the recurving appeared to take place.

All appearance of the disturbance had ceased on the 21st when there was high pressure in Bengal and at all the coast stations with a cold season gradient. Fine weather was general, but pressure was beginning to fall, and conditions were again disturbed on the 23rd when showers were fairly general in the southern districts. That disturbance was of brief duration, and appears not to have been felt to any extent in North Bengal and Orissa. On the 25th ordinary weather again prevailed and continued up to the end of the month, except in East Bengal, where showers fell on the 27th and 28th.

The cause of this rainfall in East Bengal appeared to be a shallow depression, which formed over the south of the Province and passed slowly eastward.

Pressure was at times in large excess and was rarely below the normal. As the defect was always small, mean pressure for the month is above the normal at all stations. The mean excess varies from ·05 inch in Bihar and Chota Nagpur to ·08 inch in North Bengal and Assam. On the coast excess was uniform and about ·07 inch.

Temperature underwent considerable oscillations, being as usual high before disturbed weather and low afterwards. Mean maximum temperature is 2° below the normal except in North Bengal, where it is practically normal, and in Bihar, where there is excess of about 2°.

The variation from the minimum is more irregular, there being two areas of low temperature—one in the south-west of the Province, the other in the north, separated by a belt of country over which there is excess of about 2°.

On an average mean temperature is normal in Bengal Proper, 1° below in Assam, 1°·4 in Chota Nagpur, and 2° in Orissa

Rainfall almost all occurred during the period of disturbed weather, in the middle of the month, beginning on the 14th and ending about the 23rd. Showers were of almost daily occurrence during this period in all parts of the Province except Bihar, where there was practically no rain except between the 18th and 20th. Though showers were falling in North Bengal, they were more scattered than in Lower Bengal and were in all cases very light.

In Bihar and North Bengal the total fall is only half the normal for the month. In Orissa and Lower Bengal most of the stations received more than the usual amount, the average fall varying from 1 inch in South-West Bengal to 1·33 inches in East Bengal.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the month of February 1903:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

DRAFT RULES.

N.B.—"Explosive," as defined in section 4, Act IV of 1884, and as used in these rules—

(a) means gunpowder, nitro-glycerine, dynamite, gun-cotton, blasting powder, fulminate of mercury or of other metals, coloured fires, and every other substance, whether similar to those above mentioned or not, used or manufactured with a view to produce a practical effect by explosion or a pyrotechnic effect; and

(b) includes fog-signals, fireworks, fuzes, rockets, percussion caps, detonators, cartridges, ammunition of all descriptions and every adaptation or preparation of an explosive as above defined. It also includes any dangerous substance which may have been ordered by the Governor-General in Council, under section 17 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, to be deemed an explosive.

1. Except as is hereinafter provided for, no vessel shall have on board, within the limits of the port, any explosive, as defined in section 4, Act IV of 1884, except 15 lbs. of common gunpowder in addition to 12 rockets and 12 blue-lights. All explosives which vessels are by this rule permitted to keep on board shall be stored in a copper magazine out of risk of fire and explosion.

All explosives which by this rule may be ordinarily retained on board vessels in port shall be discharged before a vessel is taken into dry dock.

2. All inward-bound vessels carrying explosives in excess of 15 lbs. of common gunpowder, in addition to 12 rockets and 12 blue-lights, are prohibited from proceeding above Budge-Budge, and the master of any vessel lying within the port which shall have on board any explosive in contravention of these rules shall be liable to a fine which may extend to the sum mentioned in clause (a) or clause (b), as the case may be, of the proviso to section 5 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884.

3. Explosives of classes 1, 6 and 7, as laid down in the rules issued under Government of India Notification No. 5528, dated 11th October 1901, that is to say, gunpowder, ammunition and fireworks in excess of the quantity prescribed in Rules 1 and 2, shall be landed and deposited in the magazine at Moyapore.

4. For the convenience of vessels having ship's gunpowder on board, a properly constructed powder-boat will be always in attendance off the magazine for landing and shipping the powder. No charge will be made for the use of the boat for landing ship's powder, but the responsibility of the keeper in respect of the ship's powder shall not commence until it is landed on the bank, and shall cease as soon as it is shipped on board the boat. Every precaution will be taken to insure the safety of the powder while in the boat, but the landing and shipping shall be at the risk of the vessel.

5. Vessels bringing consignments of trade explosives shall be allowed the use of the magazine boat; but should passing vessels require the use of the boat to put out or take in ship's powder, such vessels shall be accommodated before the boat can be used to discharge explosives brought as cargo. The landing of such consignments, whether the station boats or private boats are employed, shall be at the risk and expense of the consignees of the explosives, and no liability shall be accepted for damage sustained while in course of landing or until the consignments are stored in the magazine.

6. Explosives specified in the first division, class 6 of the rules published under Government of India's Notification No. 5528, dated 11th October 1901, viz., safety cartridges, safety fuzes for blasting, railway fog-signals, percussion caps and, under certain conditions, fuzes for shells and tubes friction for guns brought as part of a general cargo and which have been placed on board the vessels while lying in dock at ports of shipment, may be brought into port and landed at the docks or jetties in accordance with the regulations prescribed in that behalf in the Port Commissioners' bye-laws.

The term "safety fuze" means a fuze for blasting which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive in such quantity, that the burning of such fuze will not communicate laterally with other like fuzes.

The expression "safety cartridges" means cartridges for small arms of which the case can be extracted from the small-arm after firing, and which are so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges. The term also includes rifle-calibre machine-gun cartridges if they are of the above description, whether they are for use with machine-guns having chambers identical with those of rifles or with machine-guns which have special chambers.

The maximum diameter at which a small arm or machine gun cartridge can be accepted as "safety" is one inch.

7. In order to avoid unnecessary detention, masters of vessels requiring the use of the powder-boat shall hoist a flag at the fore topmast head on coming in sight of the magazine as a signal to the keeper to have the boat and coolies in attendance.

8. Masters of vessels shall mark the names of their respective vessels on the barrels and packages of ships' gunpowder previously to their being landed; if not marked, they shall not be received by the magazine boat.

9. Explosives shall not be landed within the port or at Moyapore or Diamond Harbour at any time when artificial lights are required to be used, and no explosives shall be landed, received into, or delivered from, the magazine when artificial lights are required to be used.

10. The magazine-keeper shall give to the master of any vessel landing explosives at the magazine a receipt for the number of packages, and the magazine-keeper shall be accountable to such master for the re-delivery of such packages.

11. Before entering the limits of the port, the master of every vessel having explosives on board shall make and sign a declaration in writing that to his knowledge and belief there is not on board any explosive exceeding the quantity prescribed in these rules.

12. A clerk shall be always in attendance in the powder-boat, and shall receive from the master the declaration specified in the foregoing rule.

13. If any vessel shall be prevented, by stress of weather, or by being in distress, from landing or depositing such explosives in excess of the quantity allowed as aforesaid, such vessel may be permitted to come up to the lower limits of the port, but shall not proceed above Matteabrooj Ghat, and the master of such vessel shall forthwith give notice to the Harbour Master of his having such explosives on board, and shall obey the Harbour Master's directions relating to the same.

14 Masters of vessels outward bound, who may require ships' gunpowder for their outward voyage, shall not take such powder on board in any part of the river above Budge-Budge, with the exception of a quantity not exceeding 15 lbs. of common gunpowder in addition to 12 rockets and 12 blue-lights.

15. Masters of vessels who have deposited ship's powder at the magazine shall inform the Harbour Master of the date on which the vessel will pass the magazine outward bound, and on receipt of this information, orders shall be forwarded to the keeper to place the powder in the boat, and send it off in such time as to avoid any detention of the outward-bound vessel. Before taking the powder on board, the receipt granted by the magazine-keeper shall be given up.

16. Boats shall be permitted to take on board at the Moyapore magazine and bring as far as Neemuck Mehal Ghat, under cover of passes to be granted by the Commissioner of Police and the Port Commissioners, 50 lbs of trade gunpowder, the property of dealers and consignees.

17. Delivery of trade powder into boats at the Moyapore magazine for conveyance to Calcutta shall only be granted upon orders issued by the Port Commissioners.

18. No boat containing powder under the provisions of Rules 16 and 17 shall be allowed to proceed above Neemuck Mehal Ghat. All such powder shall be landed at Neemuck Mehal Ghat, and no powder shall be landed at any other ghat, except with the special permission of the Port Commissioners.

19. No smoking, and no fire or light of any description, except the red lamp between sunset and sunrise, shall be permitted on board of any boat having explosives on board.

20 Masters of vessels having on board explosives belonging to the following classes, as laid down in the rules prescribed in the notification of the Government of India, Home Department, No. 5528, dated 11th October 1901, must make their own arrangements for the discharge of the explosives:—

CLASS 2.—Nitrate mixture.	CLASS 4.—Chlorate mixture.
,, 3.—Nitro compound.	,, 5.—Fulminate.

21. Explosives of the classes specified in the foregoing rule shall not be landed at the Moyapore magazine. They shall only be allowed to enter, and pass through, the port under the supervision of the Port Police and subject to such restrictions as may, from time to time, be ordered by the Commissioner of Police and the Port Commissioners, in addition to the restrictions laid down in the rules promulgated by the Government of India under Notification No. 5528, dated 11th October 1901. But they may be landed at Diamond Harbour and conveyed thence by rail to Durgapur: provided they are taken direct from the vessel to wagons; or if there be no wagons ready to receive them, arrangements are made for their safe custody after leaving the vessel.

22. Boats containing explosives of the classes specified in the two foregoing rules may anchor at Diamond Harbour if it is intended to land the explosives at that place, but shall, in no case, anchor within port limits, or be made fast at any part of the river bank or alongside any vessel, stage, jetty, or pier within the limits of the port. Such boats, if allowed to enter port, shall proceed direct through the port to the place licensed by the Local Government for the landing and storage of the explosives.

THE Custom House Notice of the 22nd December 1902, published in this paper on the 24th and 31st December last, concerning the procedure for the shipment of goods in urgent cases, has been cancelled and the following is tentatively issued in its place:—

The Superintendent of the Preventive Service is empowered to permit the shipment of free goods when urgently required after office hours or at the last moment to complete a vessel's cargo without the usual formalities provided that the following precautions are observed:—

(1) With vessels for foreign ports loading in the stream.—The Mate's receipt for the goods must be handed to the Preventive Officer on board, by whom it will be forwarded to the Superintendent's office for despatch to the Export Department. Here it will be retained until the shipping bills and any documents required are produced.

(2) With vessels loading at the Kidderpore Docks—

(a) When the goods are shipped by the Port Commissioners.—As the Mate's receipt is required by the Port Commissioners in these cases, it cannot be forwarded by the Preventive Officer. In lieu of it he will send a list of the goods urgently shipped for the information of the Export Department on the following morning.

(b) When the goods are put on board by the shippers without the Port Commissioners' intervention.—The Mate's receipt will be retained as in the case of vessels loading in the stream.

(3) With coasting vessels loading for free ports.—As there is no Preventive Officer on board these vessels, arrangements have been made with the agents of the chief coasting lines to withhold the bills-of lading until the shipping bills, duly endorsed by the Custom House, have been produced.

(e) The grant of a license under this Part for any purpose shall not in any way hinder or restrict the grant of another license to another person within the same area of supply for a like purpose.

(f) The provisions contained in the schedule shall be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under this Part, save in so far as they are expressly added to, varied or excepted by the license, and shall, subject to such additions, variations or exceptions (if any) which the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, is hereby empowered to make, apply to the undertaking authorized by the license, and shall be binding in like manner and to the same extent as if enacted in this Act.

(c) where the licensee not being a local authority fails, within a period of six months after the date of his license or such further period as the Local Government may determine and before exercising any of the powers conferred on him thereby in relation to the execution of works, to show, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, that he is in a position fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed on him by his license, or fails to make the deposit or furnish the security required by his license;

The Indian Electricity Act, 1903.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy to the Public.—Section 5.)

(d) where the licensee is, in the opinion of the Local Government, unable, by reason of his insolvency, fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed on him by his license;

(e) where the licensee, not being a local authority, shows, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, at any time after the commencement of his license, that his undertaking cannot be carried on with profit and ought to be abandoned;

(f) where the licensee supplies energy by means of some system not approved by the Local Government;

(g) in any other case, with the consent of the licensee and, if the licensee is not a local authority, with that of the local authority (if any) concerned, and upon such terms and conditions as it thinks just:

Provided that the Local Government shall not revoke the license as to part only of the area of supply if the licensee represents that he desires to be relieved of his liabilities in respect of the whole.

(3) Where the Local Government might, under sub-section (2), revoke a license, it may, instead of revoking the license, permit it to remain in force subject to such further terms and conditions as it thinks fit, and any further terms or conditions shall be binding upon, and be observed by, the licensee, and shall be of like force and effect as if they were contained in the license.

Provisions where license of licensee, not being a local authority, is revoked.

(b) Within one month after the service of such notice as aforesaid any local authority concerned may, if the Local Government has intimated to the local authority that it is at liberty so to do, by notice in writing, require the licensee to sell, and thereupon the licensee shall sell, to the local authority the undertaking or such part thereof as is carried on within the area for which it is constituted, on payment of the value of all lands, buildings, works, materials and plant of the licensee suitable to, and used by him for, the purpose of the undertaking or such part thereof as aforesaid, such value to be, in case of difference or dispute, determined by arbitration:

Provided that the value of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant shall be deemed to be their fair market-value at the time of purchase, due regard being had to the nature and condition for the time being of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant, and to the state of repair thereof, and to the circumstance that they are in such a position as to be ready for immediate working, and to the suitability of the same for the purposes of the undertaking, and, where a part only of the undertaking is purchased, to any loss occasioned by severance, but without any addition in respect of compulsory purchase or of goodwill or of any profits which may be or might have been made from the undertaking, or of any similar considerations.

(c) Where no purchase has been effected by a local authority under clause (b), and any other person is willing to purchase the undertaking or such part of it as aforesaid, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, with the consent of the licensee, or without the consent of the licensee in case the price is not less than that for which the local authority might have purchased the same, require the licensee to sell, and thereupon the licensee shall sell, to such other person the undertaking or such part thereof as aforesaid.

(d) Where a purchase has been effected under clause (b) or clause (c), the undertaking, or such part thereof as aforesaid, shall vest in the purchasers free from any debts, mortgages or similar obligations of the licensee or attaching to the undertaking; and the revocation of the license shall extend only to the revocation of the rights, powers, authorities, duties and obligations of the licensee from whom the undertaking, or such part thereof as aforesaid, is purchased, and, save as aforesaid, the license shall remain in full force, and the purchaser shall be deemed to be the licensee.

(e) Where no purchase has been effected under clause (b) or clause (c), the

The Indian Electricity Act, 1903.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy to the Public.—Sections 6-7.)

Local Government shall have the option of purchasing the undertaking, or such part thereof as aforesaid, and, if the Local Government elects to purchase, the licensee shall sell the undertaking or part thereof to the Local Government upon terms and conditions similar to those set forth in clauses (b) and (d) save that where the Local Government is the purchaser the license shall, in so far as the Local Government is concerned, cease to have any further operation.

(f) Where no purchase has been effected under any of the foregoing clauses, the Local Government may forthwith cause the works of the licensee to be removed and the street to be reinstated and recover the cost of such removal and reinstatement from the licensee.

(g) If the licensee has been required to sell the undertaking or any part thereof, and if the sale has not been completed by the date fixed in the notice issued under clause (a), the purchaser may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, work the undertaking or such part thereof pending the completion of the sale.

Provisions where license of local authority is revoked.

6. Where the Local Government revokes the license of a local authority as to the whole or any part of the area of supply, it may forthwith cause the works of the licensee to be removed and the street to be reinstated, and recover the cost of such removal and reinstatement from the licensee.

Purchase of undertaking.

7. (1) Where a license has been granted, a local authority shall, on the expiration of such period, not exceeding forty-two years, and of every such subsequent period, not exceeding ten years, as shall be specified in this behalf in the license, have the option of purchasing such portion of the undertaking as is in the area for which it is constituted, and, if the local authority, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, elects to purchase, the licensee shall sell the undertaking or part thereof to it upon terms and conditions similar to those set forth in section 5, clauses (b) and (d).

(2) In any such case as aforesaid, if a local authority does not elect to purchase, the Local Government shall have the like option upon the like terms and conditions save that where the Local Government purchases the undertaking or any part thereof under such option the license shall, in so far as the Local Government is concerned, cease to have any further operation.

(3) Where, in exercise of the option conferred by sub-section (1), a local authority has elected to purchase the portion of the undertaking which is within the area for which it is constituted, the Local Government shall have the like option upon the like terms and conditions in respect to any portion of the undertaking which is without such area.

(4) Not less than twelve months' notice in writing of any election to purchase under this section shall be served upon the licensee by the local authority or the Local Government, as the case may be.

(5) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, the local authority may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, waive its option of purchase and enter into an agreement with the licensee for the working by him of the undertaking, or such portion thereof as is in the area for which such authority is constituted, until the expiration of the next subsequent period referred to in sub-section (1), upon such terms and conditions as may be stated in such agreement.

Provisions where no purchase and license revoked with consent of licensee.

8. Where, on the expiration of any of the periods referred to in section 7, sub-section (1), neither the local authority nor the Local Government purchases the undertaking or any portion thereof, and the license is, with the consent of the licensee, revoked, the licensee shall have the option of disposing of all lands, buildings, works, materials and plant belonging to the undertaking in such manner as he may think fit :

Provided that, if the licensee does not exercise such option within a period of six months, the Local Government may proceed to take action as provided in section 5, clause (f).

Licensee not to purchase, or associate himself with, other licensed undertakings or transfer his undertaking.

9. (1) The licensee shall not, at any time without the previous consent in writing of the Local Government, acquire, by purchase or otherwise, the undertaking of, or associate himself with, any person supplying, or intending to supply, energy under any other license, and, before applying for such consent, the licensee shall give not less than one month's notice of the application to every local authority, both in the licensee's area of supply, and also in the area or district in which such other person supplies, or intends to supply, energy.

(2) The licensee shall not at any time transfer his undertaking, or any part thereof, by sale, mortgage, leave, exchange or otherwise without the previous consent in writing of the Local Government.

(3) Any agreement relating to any transaction of the nature described in sub-section (1)

The Indian Electricity Act, 1903.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy to the Public.—Sections 10-13.)

or sub-section (2) which may be made without such consent as aforesaid shall be void.

Annual accounts of licensee.

11. (1) Every licensee shall prepare and render to the Local Government, on or before such date in each year as the Local Government may by rule fix, an annual statement of accounts of his undertaking made up to such date, in such form, and containing such particulars, as may be prescribed by the said rule.

(2) The licensee shall keep copies of such annual statement at his office and sell the same to any applicant at a price not exceeding one rupee per copy.

Provisions as to the opening and breaking up of streets, railways and tramways.

12. (1) Any licensee may, from time to time but subject always to the terms and conditions of his license,—

(a) open and break up the soil and pavement of any street, railway or tramway within the area of supply ;

(b) open and break up any sewer, drain or tunnel in or under any such street, railway or tramway ;

(c) lay down and place within the area of supply electric supply-lines and other works ;

(d) repair, alter or remove the same ; and

(e) do all other acts necessary for the due supply of energy within the area of supply.

(2) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to authorize or empower a licensee, without the consent of the local authority or of the owner and occupier concerned, as the case may be, to lay down or place any electric supply-line or other work in, through or against any building, or on, over or under any land not dedicated to public use, whereon, whereover or whereunder any electric supply-line or work has not already been lawfully laid down or placed by such licensee :

Provided that any stay or strut required for the sole purpose of securing in position any support of an aërial electric supply-line may be fixed on any building or land or, having been so fixed, may be altered, notwithstanding the objection of the owner or occupier of such building or land, if the District Magistrate, or, in a Presidency-town, the Commissioner of Police, by order in writing so directs :

Provided also that if at any time the owner or occupier of any building or land on which any such stay or strut has been fixed shows sufficient cause, the District Magistrate or, in a Presidency-town, the Commissioner of Police, may by order in writing direct any such stay or strut to be removed or altered.

(3) Every order made by a District Magistrate or a Commissioner of Police under sub-section (2) shall be subject to revision by the Local Government.

(4) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to authorize or empower any licensee to open or break up any street not repairable by a local authority, or any railway or tramway, without the consent of the person by whom the same is repairable, unless with the written consent of the Local Government :

Provided that the Local Government shall not give any such consent as aforesaid, until notice has been given, by advertisement or otherwise as the Local Government may direct, to the person by whom the street, railway, or tramway concerned is repairable, and until all representations or objections received in accordance with the notice have been considered by the Local Government.

Notice of new works.

13. (1) Where the exercise of any of the powers of a licensee in relation to the execution of any works involves the placing of any works in, under, over, along or across any street, part of a street, railway, tramway, canal or waterway, the following provisions shall have effect, namely :—

(a) Not less than one month before commencing the execution of the works (not being a house-service or the repair, renewal or amendment of existing works of which the character or position is not to be altered), the licensee shall serve upon the person or authority responsible for the repair of the street or part of a street (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the repairing authority") or upon the person or authority for the time being entitled to work the railway, tramway, canal or waterway (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the owner"), as the case may be, a notice in writing describing the proposed works, together with a detailed plan thereof, on a scale which shall not be smaller than eighty-eight feet to the inch, or such other scale as the Local Government may approve and intimating the manner in which and the time at which, it is proposed to interfere with or alter any existing works, and shall, upon being required to do so by the repairing authority or owner, as the case may be, from time to time give such further information in relation thereto as may be desired.

(b) If the repairing authority intimates to the licensee that it disapproves of such works or plan, or approves thereof subject to amendment, the licensee may within one week of receiving such intimation appeal to the Local Government, whose decision, after considering the reasons given by the repairing authority for its action, shall be final.

(c) If the repairing authority fails to give notice in writing of its approval or disapproval to the licensee within one month, it shall be deemed to have approved of the works and plan, and the licensee, after giving not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing to the repairing authority, may proceed to carry out the works in accordance with the notice and plan served under clause (a).

(d) If the owner disapproves of such works or plan, or approves thereof subject to amendment, he may, within three weeks after the service of the notice under clause (a), serve a requisition upon the licensee demanding that any question in relation to the works, or to compensation, or to his obligations to others in respect thereof, shall be determined by arbitration, and thereupon the matter shall, unless settled by agreement, be determined by arbitration.

(e) Where no requisition has been served by the owner upon the licensee under clause (d), the owner shall be deemed to have approved of the works and plan, and in that case, or where after a requisition for arbitration the matter has been determined by arbitration, the works may, upon payment or securing of compensation, be executed according to the notice and plan, subject to such modifications as may have been determined by arbitration or agreed upon between the parties.

(f) Where the works to be executed consist of the repair, renewal or amendment of existing works of which the character or position is not to be altered, the licensee shall, except in cases of emergency, give to the repairing authority, or to the owner, as the case may be, not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention to execute such works, and, on the expiry of such notice, such works shall be commenced forthwith and shall be carried on with all reasonable despatch and, if possible, both by day and by night until completed.

(2) Where the licensee makes default in complying with any of these provisions, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof, and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in this section, the licensee may, in case of emergency due to the breakdown of an underground electric supply-line, after giving notice in writing to the repairing authority or the owner, as the case may be, of his intention to do so, place an aërial line without complying with the provisions of sub-section (1):

Provided that such aërial line shall be used only until the defect in the under-ground electric supply-line can be made good, and in no case for a period exceeding six weeks, and shall be removed as soon as may be after such defect is removed.

Alteration of pipes or wires.

14. (1) Any licensee may alter the position of any pipe (not forming, in a case where the licensee is not a local authority, part of a local authority's main sewer), or of any wire under or over any place which he is authorized to open or break up, if such pipe or wire is likely to interfere with the exercise of his powers under this Act; and any person may alter the position of any electric supply-lines or works of a licensee under or over any such place as aforesaid, if such electric supply-lines or works are likely to interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in him.

(2) In any such case as aforesaid the following provisions shall, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary between the parties concerned, apply, namely:—

(a) Not less than one month before commencing any alteration, the licensee or other person desiring to make the same (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the operator") shall serve upon the person for the time being entitled to the pipe, wire, electric supply-lines or works, as the case may be (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the owner"), a notice in writing, together with a plan, on a scale which shall not be smaller than eighty-eight feet to the inch, or such other scale as the Local Government may approve, describing the proposed alteration, and intimating the time when it is to be commenced, and shall subsequently give such further information in relation thereto as the owner may desire.

The Indian Electricity Act, 1903.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy to the Public.—Sections 14-15.)

(b) Within fourteen days after the service of the notice and plan upon the owner, the owner may serve upon the operator a requisition to the effect that any question arising upon the notice or plan shall be settled by arbitration, and thereupon the matter shall, unless settled by agreement, be determined by arbitration.

(c) Every arbitrator to whom a reference is made under clause (b), shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owner is under, and may require the operator to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid as far as possible interference therewith.

(d) Where no requisition is served upon the operator under clause (b), or where such a requisition has been served and the matter has been settled by agreement or determined by arbitration, the alteration may, upon payment or securing of any compensation accepted or determined by arbitration, be executed in accordance with the notice and plan and subject to such modifications as may have been determined by arbitration or agreed upon between the parties.

(e) The owner may, at any time before the operator is entitled to commence the alteration, serve upon the operator a statement in writing to the effect that he desires to execute the alteration himself and requires the operator to give such security for the repayment of any expenses as may be agreed upon or, in default of agreement, settled by arbitration.

(f) Where a statement is served upon the operator under clause (e), he shall not less than forty-eight hours before the execution of the alteration is required to be commenced, furnish such security and serve upon the owner a notification in writing intimating the time when the alteration is required to be commenced, and the manner in which it is required to be made; and thereupon the owner may proceed to execute the alteration as required by the operator.

(g) Where the owner declines to comply, or does not, within the time and in the manner prescribed by a notification served upon him under clause (f), comply, with the notification, the operator may himself execute the alteration.

(h) All expenses properly incurred by the owner in complying with a notification served upon him by the operator under clause (f) may be recovered by him from the operator.

(i) Where the operator makes default in complying with any of these provisions, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof, and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Laying of electric supply-lines, or other works near sewers, pipes or other electric supply-lines or works.

15. (1) Where a licensee requires to dig or sink any trench for laying down any new electric supply-lines (not being service-lines) or other works, near to which any sewer, drain, watercourse or work under the control of the Local Government or of any local authority, or any main, pipe, syphon, electric supply-line or other work belonging to any duly authorized person, has been lawfully placed, or where any duly authorized person requires to dig or sink any trench for laying down or constructing any new mains or pipes (not being service-pipes) or other works, near to which any electric supply-lines or works of a licensee have been lawfully placed, the licensee or such duly authorized person, as the case may be (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the operator") shall, unless it is otherwise agreed upon between the parties interested or in case of sudden emergency, give to the Local Government or local authority, or to such duly authorized person, or to the licensee, as the case may be (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the owner"), not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing before commencing to dig or sink the trench, and the owner shall have the right to be present during the execution of the work, which shall be executed to the reasonable satisfaction of the owner.

(2) Where the operator finds it necessary to undermine, but not to alter, the position of any pipe, electric supply-line or work, he shall temporarily support it in position during the execution of the work, and before completion shall provide a suitable and proper foundation for it where so undermined.

(3) Where the operator (being the licensee) lays any electric supply-line across, or so as to be liable to touch, any mains, pipes, lines or service-pipes or lines belonging to any duly authorized person or to any person supplying or using energy under this Act, he shall not, except with the consent of such person and of the Local Government, lay his electric supply-lines so as to come into contact with any such mains, pipes, lines or service-pipes or lines, or, except with the like consent, employ any such mains, pipes, lines or service-pipes or lines as conductors for the purpose of supplying energy,

The Indian Electricity Act, 1903.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy to the Public.—Sections 16-19.)

(4) Where the operator makes default in complying with any of the provisions of this section, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof.

(5) Where any difference or dispute arises under this section, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

(6) Where the licensee is a local authority, the references in this section to the local authority and to sewers, drains, water courses or works under its control shall not apply.

Streets, railways or tramways broken up to be reinstated without delay.

16. (1) Where any person, in excercise of any of the powers conferred by or under this Act, opens or breaks up the soil or pavement of any street, railway or tramway, or any sewer, drain or tunnel, he shall—

(a) immediately cause the part opened or broken up to be fenced and guarded;

(b) before sunset cause a light, sufficient for the warning of passengers, to be set up and maintained until sunrise against or near the part opened or broken up;

(c) with all reasonable speed fill in the ground and reinstate and make good the soil or pavement, or the sewer, drain or tunnel, opened or broken up, and carry away the rubbish occasioned by such opening or breaking up; and,

(d) after reinstating and making good the soil or pavement, or the sewer, drain or tunnel, broken or opened up, keep the same in good repair for three months and for any further period, not exceeding nine months, during which subsidence continues.

(2) Where any person fails to comply with any of the provisions of sub-section (1), the person having the control or management of the street, railway, tramway, sewer, drain or tunnel in respect of which the default has occurred, may cause to be executed the work which the defaulter has delayed or omitted to execute, and may recover from him the expenses incurred in such execution.

(3) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of the expenses incurred under sub-section (2), the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Aërial lines.

17. (1) Nothing in this Part shall be deemed to authorize or empower a licensee to place any aerial line along or across any street unless and until the Local Government, after consulting the local authority, has communicated to him a general approval in writing of the methods of construction which he proposes to adopt:

Provided that the communication of such approval shall in no way relieve the licensee of his obligations with respect to any other consent required by or under this Act.

(2) Where any aërial line has been placed or maintained by a licensee in breach of the provisions of sub-section (1), the Local Government may require the licensee forthwith to remove the same, or may cause the same to be removed and recover from the licensee the expenses incurred in such removal.

(3) Where any tree, standing or lying near an aërial line, interrupts or interferes with, or is likely to interrupt or interfere with, the conveyance or transmission of energy, a Magistrate of the first class may, on the application of the licensee, cause the tree to be removed or otherwise dealt with as he thinks fit.

(4) When disposing of an application under sub-section (3), the Magistrate shall, in the case of any tree in existence before the placing of the aërial line, award to the person interested in the tree such compensation as he thinks reasonable, and such person may recover the same from the licensee.

Compensation for damage

18. (1) A licensee shall, in exercise of any of the powers conferred by or under this Act, cause as little damage, detriment and inconvenience as may be, and shall make full compensation for any damage caused by him or by any one employed by him.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount or the application of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Power for licensee to enter premises for ascertaining energy consumed, or to remove fittings or other apparatus of licensee.

19. (1) A licensee or any person duly authorized by a licensee may at any reasonable time, and on informing the occupier of his intention, enter any premises to which energy is or has been supplied by him, for the purpose of—

(a) inspecting and testing the electric supply-lines, meters, fittings, works and apparatus for the supply of energy belonging to the licensee;

(b) ascertaining the quantity of energy consumed or supplied; or

(c) removing, where a supply of energy is no longer required, or where the licensee is authorized to take away and cut off such supply, any electric supply-lines, fittings, works or apparatus belonging to the licensee.

(2) A licensee or any person authorized as aforesaid may also, in pursuance of a special order in this behalf made by the District Magistrate, or, in a Presidency-town, by the Commissioner of Police, and after giving not less than twenty-four hours' notice in writing to the consumer, enter any premises to which energy is or has been supplied, or is to be supplied, by him, for the purpose of examining and testing the electric wires, fittings, works and apparatus for the use of energy belonging to the consumer.

Restrictions on licensee's controlling or interfering with use of energy.

20. (1) A licensee shall not be entitled to prescribe any special form of appliance for utilizing energy supplied by him, or, save as provided by section 23, sub-section (2), or by section 30, sub-section (6), in any way to control or interfere with the use of such energy:

Provided that no person may adopt any form of appliance, or use the energy supplied to him, so as unduly or improperly to interfere with the supply by the licensee of energy to any other person.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises under this section, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Obligation on licensee to supply energy.

21. Where energy is supplied by a licensee, every person within the area of supply shall, except in so far as is otherwise provided by the terms and conditions of the license, be entitled, on application, to a supply on the same terms as those on which any other person in the same area is entitled in similar circumstances to a corresponding supply:

Provided that no person having a private generating plant shall be entitled to demand a connection with the mains of the licensee in order to use the energy of the licensee only in the event of accident to the plant of such person.

Maximum electrical power.

22. (1) The electrical power at which any consumer shall be entitled to be supplied by a licensee, shall not exceed what is necessary for the maximum consumption of energy on his premises:

Provided that, where a consumer has required a licensee to supply him at a specified maximum power, he shall not be entitled to alter that maximum except after one month's notice in writing to the licensee, and the licensee may recover from the consumer any expenses incurred by him by reason of the alteration in respect of the service-lines by which energy is supplied to the consumer's premises, or of any fittings or apparatus of the licensee upon those premises.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises between a consumer and a licensee as to the power at which energy is to be supplied under sub-section (1) or as to the amount of the expenses incurred under the proviso thereto, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Charges for energy to be made without undue preference.

23. (1) A licensee shall not, in making any agreement for the supply of energy, show undue preference to any person, but may, save as aforesaid, make such charges for the supply of energy as may be agreed upon, not exceeding the limits imposed by his license, and may allow rebates thereon according to the quantity supplied, either in relation to the maximum power to which the consumer is entitled under section 22, or to the total quantity, or to the time at which the supply is needed.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (1), the licensee may, with the consent of the Local Government, charge at one rate for the supply of energy for lighting purposes, and at other rates for the supply of energy for purposes other than lighting; and no person shall be entitled to utilize for one purpose energy supplied to him at a lower rate for any other purpose.

(3) Where any difference or dispute arises between a consumer and a licensee as to any matter provided for in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Discontinuance of supply to consumer neglecting to pay charge.

24. Where any person neglects to pay any charge for energy or any other sum due from him to a licensee in respect of the supply of energy to him, the licensee may, after giving not less than seven clear days' notice in writing to such person and without prejudice to his right to recover such charge or other sum by suit, cut off the supply and for that purpose cut or disconnect any electric supply-line or other works through which energy may be supplied, and may discontinue the supply until such charge or other sum, together with any expenses incurred by him in cutting off and re-connecting the supply, are paid, but no longer:

Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply in any case in which any difference, or dispute of the nature described in section 30, sub-section (7), has been referred for determination by an Electric Inspector or other person as therein provided until such Inspector or other person has given his decision.

Exemption of electric supply-lines, or other apparatus from attachment in certain cases.

25. Where any electric supply-lines, meters, fittings, works or apparatus belonging to a licensee are placed in or upon any premises, not being in the possession of the licensee, for the purpose of supplying energy, such electric supply-lines, meters, fittings, works and apparatus shall not be liable to be taken in execution under any process of any Civil Court or in any proceedings in insolvency against the person in whose possession the same may be.

The Indian Electricity Act, 1903.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy to the Public.—Sections 26-29.)

Protection of railways and canals, docks, wharves and piers.

26. No licensee shall, in exercise of any of the powers conferred by or under this Act, in any way injure any railway, tramway or canal or (in cases where the licensee is not a local authority) any dock, wharf or pier vested in or controlled by a local authority or obstruct or interfere with the traffic on any railway, tramway or canal.

Protection of telegraphic, telephonic and electric-signalling lines.

27. (1) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to authorize or empower any licensee to lay down any underground, or place any aërial, electric supply-line or other works, or to make any alterations in any telegraph line, maintained or worked by the Government or by any person licensed under the Indian Tele-
XIII of 1885. graph Act, 1885, without the previous sanction of the telegraph-authority, to whom the licensee shall give not less than one month's notice in writing of his intention, specifying the course of the works or alterations proposed, the manner in which the works are to be utilized, the amount and nature of the energy to be transmitted, and the extent to, and manner in, which (if at all) earth returns are to be used; and the licensee shall conform with such reasonable requirements, either general or special, as may be laid down by the telegraph-authority for preventing any telegraph line from being injuriously affected by such works or alterations:

Provided that, in case of emergency (which shall be stated by the licensee in writing to the telegraph-authority) arising from defects in any of the electric supply-lines or other works of the licensee, the licensee shall be required to give only such notice as may be possible after the necessity for the proposed new works or alterations has arisen.

(2) Every licensee shall take all reasonable precautions in constructing, laying down and placing his electric supply-lines and other works and in working his undertaking, so as not injuriously to affect, whether by induction or otherwise, the working of any wire or line used for the purpose of telegraphic, telephonic or electric-signalling communication, or the currents in such wire or line.

(3) Where any difference or dispute arises between the licensee and the telegraph-authority or any person licensed under the Indian Tele-
XIII of 1885. graph Act, 1885, as to whether the licensee has constructed, laid down or placed his electric supply-lines or other works, or made alterations in a telegraph line, or worked his undertaking, in contravention of sub-section (1), or sub-section (2), or as to whether the working of any wire, line or current is or is not injuriously affected thereby, the matter shall be referred to the Governor General in Council; and the Governor General in Council, unless he is of opinion that the wire or line has been placed in unreasonable proximity to the electric supply-lines or works of the licensee after the construction of such lines or works, may direct the licensee to make such alterations in, or additions to, his system as may be necessary in order to comply with the provisions of this section, and the licensee shall make such alterations or additions accordingly:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to the repair, renewal or amendment of any electric supply-line, so long as the course of the electric supply-line and the amount and nature of the current transmitted thereby are not altered.

(4) Where a licensee makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof, and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, a telegraph-line shall be deemed to be injuriously affected by a work if telegraphic communication by means of such line is, whether through induction or otherwise, prejudicially interfered with by such work or by any use made thereof.

Notice of and inquiry into accidents.

28. (1) Every licensee shall, within twenty-four hours of the occurrence, send to the Local Government and to the District Magistrate, or in a Presidency-town, to the Commissioner of Police, notice in writing of any accident by explosion, fire, electric shock or fall of an aërial line and also of any other accident resulting or likely to have resulted in loss of life or personal injury in any part of the licensee's works or circuits, or in connection with the same, and also notice of any loss of life or personal injury actually occasioned by any such accident

(2) The Local Government may also, if it thinks fit, appoint any Electric Inspector or other competent person to inquire and report as to the cause of any accident affecting the safety of the public, which may have been occasioned by or in connection with a licensee's works, or as to the manner in, and extent to which the provisions of the license and of this Act, so far as these provisions affect the safety of the public, have been complied with by the licensee.

Power for Local Government to interfere in certain cases of default by licensee.

29. If at any time it is established, to the satisfaction of the Local Government,—

(a) that a licensee is supplying energy otherwise than by means of a system which has been approved of by the Local Government or (except in accordance with the provisions of his license) has permitted any part of his circuits to be connected with earth, or

The Indian Electricity Act, 1903.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy to the Public.—Section 30.)

(b) that any electric supply-lines or works of a licensee are defective ; or

(c) that any works of a licensee or his supply of energy are or is attended with danger to the public safety ;

the Local Government may, by order in writing, specify the matter complained of and require the licensee to remedy it in such manner as shall be specified in the order, and may also in like manner forbid the use of any electric supply-line or works until the order is complied with or for such time as is specified in the order.

Meters.

30. (1) In the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the amount of energy supplied to a consumer or the electrical quantity contained in the supply (such amount or quantity being hereinafter referred to as "the value of the supply") shall be ascertained by means of a duly certified meter, and the licensee shall, if required by the consumer, cause the consumer to be supplied with such a meter :

Provided that the licensee may require the consumer to give him security for the price of a meter and enter into an agreement for the hire thereof, unless the consumer elects to purchase a meter.

(2) Where the consumer so enters into an agreement for the hire of a meter, the licensee shall keep the meter in proper order for correctly registering the value of the supply, and, in default of his doing so, the consumer shall, for so long as the default continues, cease to be liable to pay for the hire of the meter.

(3) Where the meter is the property of the consumer, he shall keep the meter in proper order for correctly registering the value of the supply, and, in default of his doing so, the licensee may, for so long as the default continues cease to supply energy through the meter.

(4) The licensee or any person duly authorized by the licensee shall, at any reasonable time and on informing the consumer of his intention, have access to, and be at liberty to take off, remove, test, inspect and replace, any meter whereby the value of the supply is ascertained or to be ascertained ; and, except where the meter is so hired as aforesaid, all reasonable expenses of, and incidental to, such taking off, removing, testing, inspecting and replacing, and the procuring the meter to be again duly certified, where that is thereby rendered necessary, shall, if the meter is found to be otherwise than in proper order, be recovered from the consumer ; and where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such reasonable expenses, the matter shall be determined by arbitration :

Provided that the licensee shall not be at liberty to take off or remove any such meter if any difference or dispute of the nature described in sub-section (7) has arisen until the matter has been determined as therein provided.

(5) A consumer shall not connect any meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained or to be ascertained with any electric supply-line through which energy is supplied by a licensee, or disconnect the same from any such electric supply-line, without giving to the licensee not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention.

(6) In addition to any meter which may be placed upon the premises of a consumer to ascertain the value of the supply, the licensee may place upon such premises such meter or other apparatus as he may think fit for the purpose of ascertaining or regulating either the amount of energy supplied to the consumer, or the number of hours during which the supply is given, or the maximum power taken by the consumer, or any other quantity or time connected with the supply :

Provided that the meter or apparatus shall be of a construction and pattern approved of by the Local Government, and shall be fixed and connected with the service-lines in a manner so approved, and shall be supplied and maintained entirely at the cost of the licensee, and shall not, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, be placed otherwise than between the mains of the licensee and the consumer's terminals.

(7) Where any difference or dispute arises as to whether any meter, whereby the value of the supply as to pressure or quantity is ascertained or to be ascertained, is or is not in proper order for correctly registering the value of the supply, or as to whether such value has in any case been correctly registered by the meter, the matter shall be determined, upon the application of either party, by an Electric Inspector or by a competent person specially appointed by the Local Government in this behalf ; and, where the meter has, in the opinion of such Inspector or person, ceased to work for a period not exceeding one month, such Inspector or person shall estimate the value of the supply for such period on the basis of the value of the previous supply ; and the decision of such Inspector or person shall be final, and the costs of or incidental to such determination shall be recoverable as such Inspector or person may direct : but, save as aforesaid, the register of the meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained, shall, in the absence of fraud, be conclusive proof of such value.

Explanation.—A meter shall be deemed to be "duly certified" if it is certified by an Electric Inspector or by a competent person appointed by the Local Government in this behalf to be a correct meter, and to be of a construction and pattern approved by the Local Government, and to have been fixed and connected with the electric supply-lines in a manner so approved :

The Indian Electricity Act, 1903.

(Part III.—Restrictions on Use of Energy not supplied under Part II.—Section 31.—Part IV.—General—Sections 32-33.)

Provided that, where any alteration is made in a duly certified meter, or where any such meter is unfixed or disconnected from the electric supply-lines, it shall cease to be a duly certified meter unless and until it is again duly certified as aforesaid.

PART III.

RESTRICTIONS ON USE OF ENERGY NOT SUPPLIED UNDER PART II.

Use of energy not supplied under Part II to be subject to rules.

31. (1) No person shall, for any purpose, in any street, or in any place in which one hundred or more persons are likely ordinarily to be assembled or which is a factory within the meaning of the Indian Factories Act, 1881, use energy which is not supplied to him under Part II, without giving not less than seven clear days' notice in writing of his intention to the District Magistrate or, in a Presidency-town, to the Commissioner of Police, and complying with such rules as may be made in this behalf under section 33 :

XV of 1881

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to any railway or tramway subject to the provisions of the Indian Railways Act, 1890.

I X of 1890.

Provided also that the Local Government may by general or special order and subject to such conditions and restrictions as may be specified therein, exempt any person or class of persons using energy on premises upon or in connection with which it is generated, from the application of this section or of any such rule as aforesaid.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to whether a place is or is not one in which one hundred or more persons are likely ordinarily to be assembled, the matter shall be referred to the Local Government, and the decision of the Local Government thereon shall be final.

PART IV.

The Indian Electricity Act, 1903.

(The Schedule.—Provisions to be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under Part II.)

(b) where it is made by the Local Government or a local authority, the Local Government or local authority, as the case may be, does not, within the like period, tender a like agreement binding itself to take a supply of energy for not less than three years for the public lighting of such street or part thereof.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises between the licensee, and such owners, occupiers or local authority as to the sufficiency of the security offered under this clause, or as to the amount of energy to be taken or guaranteed as aforesaid, the matter shall be referred to the Local Government and either decided by it or, if the Local Government so directs, determined by arbitration.

(1) Where a requisition is made by the owners or occupiers of any premises situate within one hundred yards from any distributing main in which the licensee is required to maintain a supply of energy for the purposes of general supply, requiring the licensee to supply energy for such premises, the licensee shall supply, and, save in so far as he is prevented from doing so by cyclones, floods, storms or other occurrences beyond his control, continue to supply, energy in accordance with the requisition, unless the person making it fails, within fourteen days after the service on him by the licensee of a notice in writing in this behalf, to tender to the licensee a written contract, duly executed and with sufficient security, binding himself to take a supply of energy for not less than two years to such amount as will produce, at current rates charged by the licensee, a reasonable return to the licensee:

Provided, first, that the cost of so much of any electric supply-line as may be laid for the purposes of the supply upon the property in respect of which the requisition is made, and of so much of any electric supply-line as it may be necessary for the said purposes to lay for a greater distance than one hundred feet from the licensee's distributing main, although not on that property, shall, if the licensee so requires, be paid by the owner or occupier making the requisition:

Provided, secondly, that the licensee may, after he has furnished a supply of energy for any premises, by notice in writing require the owner or occupier within seven days after the date of the service of the notice, to give him security for the payment of all money which may become due to him in respect of the supply, in case the owner or occupier has not already given that security, or in case any security given has become invalid or is insufficient; and, if the owner or occupier fails to compiy with the terms of the notice, the licensee may discontinue to supply energy for such premises so long as such failure continues:

Provided, thirdly, that if the owner or occupier of any such premises as aforesaid adopts any form of lamp or burner, or uses the energy supplied to him by the licensee for any purposes, or deals with it in any manner, so as to interfere unduly or improperly with the efficient supply of energy to any other person by the licensee, or fails to keep his meter in proper order, the licensee may discontinue the supply of energy for such premises so long as such lamp or burner is so adopted, or the energy is so used or dealt with, or the meter is not kept in proper order, as the case may be:

Provided, fourthly, that the licensee shall not be bound to furnish a supply of energy to any premises if an Electric Inspector or other competent person appointed by the Local Government is satisfied that the electric line, fittings, works and apparatus therein are not in good order and condition and are likely to affect injuriously the use of energy by the licensee or by other persons:

Provided, fifthly, that in the event of any alterations of, or additions to, any electric wires fittings, works or apparatus within such premises as aforesaid, all such alterations or additions shall be notified to the licensee by the owner or occupier before being connected to the source of supply, with a view to their being examined and tested: and

Provided, sixthly, that, in the event of any requisition being made for a supply of energy from any distributing main of which the licensee can prove, to the satisfaction of an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf,—

(a) that it is already loaded up to its full-current-carrying capacity, or

(b) that, in case of a larger amount of current being transmitted by it, the loss of pressure will seriously affect the efficiency of the supply to other consumers in the vicinity, the licensee may refuse to accede to the requisition for such reasonable period, not exceeding six months, as such officer may think sufficient for the purpose of amending the distributing main or laying down a further distributing main,

The Indian Electricity Act, 1903.

(The Schedule.—Provisions to be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under Part II.)

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the sufficiency of the security offered by such owner or occupier or as to the improper use of energy, or as to any alleged defect in any wires, fittings, works or apparatus, or as to any alleged excess or defect in the pressure or quantity of the energy supplied, the matter shall be referred to the Local Government and either decided by it or, if the Local Government so directs, determined by arbitration.

(3) Every requisition under this clause shall be signed by the maker or makers thereof and shall be served on the licensee.

(4) Every requisition under this clause shall be in a form to be prescribed by rules under the Indian Electricity Act, 1903; and copies of the form shall be kept at the office of the licensee and supplied free of charge to any applicant.

X. (1) Where a requisition is made by the Local Government or by a local authority requiring the licensee to supply for a period of not less than one year energy for any public lamps within the distance of one hundred yards from any distributing main in which the licensee is required to maintain a supply of energy for the purposes of general supply, the licensee shall supply, and, save in so far as he is prevented from doing so by cyclones, floods, storms or other occurrences beyond his control, continue to supply, energy for such lamps in such quantities as the Local Government or the local authority, as the case may be, may require.

(2) The provisions contained in the first, fourth, fifth and sixth provisos to sub-clause (1) and in sub-clause (2) of Clause IX shall, so far as may be, apply to every case in which a requisition for the supply of energy is made under this clause as if the Local Government or local authority were an owner or occupier within the meaning of those provisions.

Charges.

Methods of charging.

XI. In the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the licensee may charge for energy supplied by him to any consumer—

(a) by the actual amount of energy so supplied; or

(b) by the electrical quantity contained in the supply; or

(c) by such other method as may be approved by the Local Government:

Provided, first, that, where the licensee charges by any method so approved by the Local Government, any consumer who objects to that method may, by not less than one month's notice in writing, require the licensee to charge him, at the licensee's option, either by the actual amount of energy supplied to him or by the electrical quantity contained in the supply, and thereafter the licensee shall not, except with the consent of the consumer, charge him by another method:

Provided, secondly, that, before commencing to supply energy through any distributing main for the purposes of general supply, the licensee shall give notice, by public advertisement, of the method by which he proposes to charge for energy so supplied; and, where the licensee has given such notice, he shall not be entitled to change that method of charging without giving not less than one month's notice in writing of such change to the Local Government, to the local authority (if any) concerned, and to every consumer of energy who is supplied by him from such distributing main:

Provided, thirdly, that, if the consumer is provided with a duly certified meter for the purposes of ascertaining the value of the supply and the licensee changes the method of charging for the energy supplied by him from the distributing main, the licensee shall bear the expense of providing a new duly certified meter if such is necessary for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply according to the new method of charging.

Maximum charges.

XII. The price charged by the licensee for energy supplied by him shall not exceed the maximum fixed by his license, or, in the case of a method of charge approved by the Local Government, such maximum as the Local Government shall fix on approving the method:

Provided that, if, at any time after the expiration of seven years from the commencement of the license, the Local Government considers or is satisfied that the maximum so fixed or approved as aforesaid should be altered, it may, after such inquiry (if any) as it thinks fit, make an order accordingly, which shall have effect from such date as may be mentioned therein:

Provided, also, that where an order in pursuance of the foregoing proviso has been made, no further order altering the maximum fixed thereby shall be made until the expiration of another period of seven years.

Charge for supply for public lamps.

XIII. The price to be charged by the licensee and to be paid to him for energy supplied for the public lamps, and the mode in which those charges are to be ascertained, shall be settled by agreement between the licensee and the Local Government or the local authority, as the case may be, and, where any difference or dispute arises the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Testing of mains.

XVII. On the occasion of the testing of any main of the licensee by an Electric Inspector, reasonable notice thereof shall be given to the licensee, and the testing shall be carried out at such suitable hours as, in the opinion of the Electric Inspector, will least interfere with the supply of energy by the licensee, and in such manner as the Electric Inspector may think fit; but, except under the provisions of an order made in each case in that behalf by the Local Government, the Electric Inspector shall not be entitled to have access to, or interfere with, the mains of the licensee at any points other than those at which the licensee has reserved for himself access to the same :

Provided that the licensee shall not be held responsible for any interruption in the supply of energy which may be occasioned by or required by the Electric Inspector for the purpose of any such testing as aforesaid :

Provided, also, that the testing shall not be made in regard to any particular portion of a main oftener than once in any three months, unless in pursuance of an order made in each case in that behalf by the Local Government.

The licensee shall also, if so required by the Local Government, cause to be made sections showing the level of all his existing distributing mains and underground works other than service-lines.

(2) Every such plan shall be drawn to a scale which shall not be smaller than eighty-eight feet to the inch or to such other scale as may be approved by the Local Government.

(4) Every plan and section so made or corrected, or a copy thereof, marked with the date when it was so made or corrected, shall be kept by the licensee at his principal office or place of business within the area of supply, and shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of all applicants, and copies thereof shall be supplied on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by rules under the Indian Electricity Act, 1903.

(5) The licensee shall, if required by the Local Government, or, where the licensee is not a local authority, by the local authority (if any) concerned, supply to the Local Government or local authority, as the case may be, a copy of every such plan or section duly corrected so as to agree with the original kept at the principal office or place of business of the licensee.

(a) the degree of urgency which has led to the damage or the imposition of restrictions;

(b) any disinclination of the person interested to submit to damage or restrictions;

(c) any damage sustained by him, which, if caused by a private person, would not render such person liable to a suit;

(d) any increase to the value of the other land of the person interested, accruing or likely to accrue from anything done under this Act; or

(e) any outlay or improvements on, or disposal of, the land commenced, made or effected without the sanction of the Collector after the date of the publication of the declaration under section 3.

(2) When the applicant has refused to make such claim or has omitted without sufficient reason (to be allowed by the Judge) to make such claim, the amount awarded by the Court shall in no case exceed the amount awarded by the Collector.

(3) When the applicant has omitted for a sufficient reason (to be allowed by the Judge) to make such claim, the amount awarded to him by the Court shall not be less than, and may exceed, the amount awarded by the Collector.

Form of awards.

26. Every award under this Part shall be in writing signed by the Judge and shall specify the amount awarded under section 23, sub-section (1), clause (a), and also the amounts (if any) respectively awarded under each of the other clauses of the same sub-section, together with the grounds of awarding each of the said amounts.

Costs.

27. (1) Every such award shall also state the amount of costs incurred in the proceedings under this Part, and by what persons and in what proportion they are to be paid.

(2) When the award of the Collector is not upheld, the costs shall ordinarily be paid by the Collector, unless the Court is of opinion that the claim of the applicant was so extravagant or that he was so negligent in putting his case before the Collector that some deduction from his costs should be made or that he should pay a part of the Collector's costs.

Collector may be directed to pay interest on excess compensation.

28. If the sum which, in the opinion of the Court, the Collector ought to have awarded as compensation is in excess of the sum which the Collector did award as compensation, the Court may direct that the Collector shall pay interest on such excess at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date of his award to the date of payment of such excess into Court.

PART IV.

APPORTIONMENT OF COMPENSATION.

PART V.

Payment of compensation or deposit of same in Court.

31. (1) On making an award under section 12, the Collector shall tender payment of the compensation awarded by him to the persons interested entitled thereto according to the award, and shall pay it to them unless prevented by some one or more of the contingencies mentioned in sub-section (2).

(2) If they do not consent to receive it, or if there is no person competent to alienate the land, or if there is any dispute as to the title to receive the compensation or as to the apportionment of it, the Collector shall deposit the amount of the compensation in the Court to which a reference under section 18 would be submitted:

Provided, first, that any person admitted to be interested may receive such payment under protest as to the sufficiency of the amount:

Provided, secondly, that no person who has received the amount otherwise than under protest shall be entitled to make any application under section 18:

Provided, thirdly, that nothing herein contained shall affect the liability of any person, who may receive the whole or any part of any compensation awarded under this Act, to pay the same to the person lawfully entitled thereto.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in this section, the Collector may, with the sanction of the Local Government, instead of awarding a money-compensation in respect of any land, make any arrangement with a person having a limited interest in such land, either by the grant of other lands in exchange, or by the remission of land-revenue on the same or on other lands held under the same title, or in such other way as may be equitable having regard to the interests of the parties concerned.

(4) Nothing in sub-section (3) shall be construed to interfere with or limit the power of the Collector to enter into any arrangement with any person interested in the land and competent to contract in respect thereof.

Investment of money deposited in respect of lands belonging to persons incompetent to alienate.

32. (1) If any money is deposited in Court under section 31, sub-section (2), and it appears that the land in respect of which the same was awarded belonged to any person who had no power to alienate the same, the Court shall order the money to be invested—

(a) in the purchase of other lands to be held under the like title and conditions of ownership as the land in respect of which such money was deposited is held, or,

(b) if such purchase cannot be effected forthwith, then in such Government or other approved securities as it thinks fit; and shall direct the payment of the interest or other proceeds arising from such investment to the person or persons who would for the time being have been entitled to the possession of the said land, and such moneys shall remain so deposited and invested until the same are applied—

(i) in the purchase of such other lands as aforesaid; or

(ii) in payment to any person or persons becoming absolutely entitled thereto.

(2) In all cases of moneys deposited to which this section applies, the Court shall order the cost of the following matters, including therein all reasonable charges and expenses incident thereto, to be paid by the Collector, namely:—

(a) the costs of such investments as aforesaid;

(b) the costs of the orders for the payment of the interest or other proceeds of the securities in which such moneys are for the time being invested, and for the payment out of Court of the principal of such moneys and the costs of all proceedings relating thereto, except such as may be occasioned by litigation between adverse claimants.

Investment of money deposited in other cases.

33. If any money is deposited in Court under this Act for any cause other than that mentioned in section 32, the Court may, on the application of any party interested or claiming an interest in such money, order the same to be invested in such Government or other approved securities as it thinks fit, and may direct the interest or other proceeds of any such investment to be accumulated and paid in such manner as will, in its opinion, give the parties interested therein the same benefit therefrom as they might have had from the land in respect of which such money was deposited or as near thereto as may be.

Payment of interest

34. When the amount of any compensation awarded under this Act is not paid or deposited within fifteen days of making the award, the Collector shall pay the amount awarded with interest thereon at the rate of six per centum per annum from the date of the award until it is so paid or deposited.

PART VI.

(6) The Trustees may appoint a person to act as their Secretary.

(7) Orders for the payment of money on behalf of the Trustees shall be deemed to be sufficiently authenticated if signed by two Trustees and countersigned by the Secretary.

Property vested in Trustees.

3. All sums of money now in the custody of the said Provisional Executive Committee and all other property, whether moveable or immoveable, which have been or may hereafter be given, bequeathed or otherwise transferred for the purposes of the said Memorial or acquired for the said purposes by the Trustees shall vest in the Trustees.

Officers and servants to be public servants.

4. All officers and servants employed by the Trustees shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code ; XLV of 1860.

Provided that this section shall not apply to persons in the service of any contractor employed by the Trustees.

Rules.

5. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide—

(a) for the manner in which Trustees, other than ex officio Trustees, shall be appointed, and for the periods of time for which such Trustees shall hold office;

(b) for the manner in which meetings of the Trustees shall be convened, the quorum necessary for the transaction of business, and the procedure at such meetings;

(c) for the appointment of Committees of the Trustees, and the powers of expenditure and control which may be delegated to such Committees;

(d) for the erection, maintenance and management of the Memorial, the care and custody of the objects deposited therein, and the conditions under which the public shall have access thereto;

(e) for the form of accounts to be kept by the Trustees, and for the audit and publication of such accounts; and

(f) for the application to the officers and servants employed by the Trustees of the rules which apply to the civil servants of the Crown, or to any class of such civil servants.

PART VI.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 13th March, 1903:—

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the Law relating to the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the Appendix, and have now the honour to submit this our Preliminary Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

CHAPTER I.

2. As in the case of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898), we have, for greater facility of reference, classified and numbered the "preliminary" portion as a Chapter.

Clause 1.—We have, in view of local opinion, altered the extent clause so as to render the Bill applicable ex proprio vigore to Sindh, where the present Code is in force in virtue of a notification under the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (XIV of 1874), section 5.

Clause 2.—The special provisions regulating the attachment of "growing crops" will be ineffectual if they do not cover the same crops after they have been cut or gathered. We propose, therefore, to employ the compendious expression "agricultural produce" which we would define on the lines of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885 (VIII of 1885), section 121, clause (b).

The wording of the definition of "agriculturist" has been slightly altered to meet criticisms to the effect that the corresponding passage in the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1879 (XVII of 1879), would, if strictly construed, include for the time being a person occasionally earning the whole or the greater part of his livelihood by agriculture. An explanation has been added for the purpose of removing any doubt on the question whether the expression "agriculture" includes market-gardening to which we consider the principle underlying the proposed provision to be equally applicable.

We have considerably modified the definition of "cause of action". The substitution of "all the facts" for "every fact" is intended to give effect to the principle that the term relates to an aggregate of facts constituting the right and its infraction. For the words "the plaintiff" the words "a party" have been substituted to meet the case, for example, of set-off or counter-claim. We have replaced the word "traversed" by the words "not admitted," inasmuch as certain facts, such as those supporting a claim to be decreed ex parte, have to be established as substantive propositions, even though they are not traversed by the opposite party. We have restricted the term "order" by adding the words "capable of execution" to avoid the inclusion of orders of a purely incidental and interlocutory character. We have omitted the words "has no relation to the defence nor", which, though appropriate in the course of a decision [per Lord Watson, Mussummat Chand Kour v. Partab Singh (1888), L. R. 15 I. A. 156, at p. 157], appear to us to be too general for use in a Code.

Into the definition of "Chief Controlling Revenue-authority" we have introduced some verbal alterations for closer conformity with the terms of the Proclamation of the 22nd March, 1902, and the United Provinces (Designation) Act, 1902 (VII of 1902). In sub-head (ii) we have, with reference to the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897), section 3, clause (41), slightly departed from the wording of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899 (II of 1899), section 2, clause (8).

We have shortened and lightened the definition of "decree" by omitting certain items which, though embodied in the Bill as exemplars, are founded upon cases not likely to prove of general utility in practice. In some cases, moreover, we have found it more convenient to provide in other clauses for giving the force of a decree to the decisions thereunder. It will be observed that we have omitted the words restricting "decree" to adjudications "upon the merits," because they might be held to exclude final decisions given wholly upon questions of law. We have considered it expedient to include in the definition an express reference to "preliminary decree", which is an expression somewhat frequently employed in the course of this Bill. In the various sub-heads retained by us we have substituted the word "decision" for the word "order" to avoid a verbal inconsistency occurring in the present Code with the definition reproduced by us in paragraph (t). In sub-head (i) we have affirmed the broad principle that the return of a plaint should never, and the rejection of a plaint should always, be appealable as a decree. In sub-head (ii) we have added words to restrict frivolous appeals in incidental matters, such as adjournments in execution-proceedings. In sub-head (v), as in clause 366 there cited, we propose to act upon the view that abatement results from operation of law and does not depend upon the issue of an order. We have slightly modified the language of sub-head (xi) because it has been pointed out that there are "references" in section 588 to matters other than orders from which an appeal is given thereunder.

The distinction between decrees according as they are final or preliminary has necessitated the substitution of the words "final and conclusive", of which we have proposed a definition, for the word "final" wherever it occurs in this sense in the present Code.

Words have been added to the definition of "sign" for greater conformity with the terms of the General Clauses Act, 1897, section 3, clause 52.

As it is proposed to restrict the expression "suit" to proceedings in Civil Courts commenced by plaints [compare, Venkata Chandrappa Nayanivaru v. Venkatarama Reddi (1898), I. L. R. 22 Mad. 256], the insertion of a definition to this effect has been considered desirable.

In the original Bill it was sought, by the substitution of the expression "female," to obviate the straining of language by which, in some cases, girls of twelve years of age have been brought [In the matter of Mainath Singh v. Mussamut Moorta Kooer (1875), 24 W. R. 375] within the purview of the term "woman". As objections have been raised to the substituted expression, it is proposed to revert to the term "woman" but to add a definition on the lines of the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), section 10.

Clause 3.—As the subordination of Courts is not strictly a matter of definition, we have removed the existing provision on the subject from clause 2 and propose to convert it into an independent clause.

Clauses 4 to 7.—In the replies from Local Governments to a special reference on the subject, a unanimous opinion was expressed to the effect that the cumbrous provisions of clauses 4 (1), 6 (1) and 7 should be replaced by a simpler and more comprehensive saving on the lines of that contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898), section 1, sub-section (2). The necessity for preserving the substance of clause 7 has involved some addition to the First Schedule, which has been redrafted at the desire of the Government of Bombay.

The revenue laws of several Provinces contain special provisions for the more speedy recovery of agricultural rent to which indeed the produce of the land is, in several instances, declared to be hypothecated. The more general terms of the saving clause, as now proposed by us, would, we think, suffice to save such rights and remedies. At the same time, for the sake of greater clearness, we have inserted an express saving which is likely to save mistakes in practice. This enables us to dispense with the proviso originally appended to clause 269B. The purview of clause 4, sub-clause (2), which now appears as clause 4, has been expanded by us to cover the case of Civil Judges in the Central Provinces. These officers, who are not District Judges under the local enactment, exercise a concurrent civil jurisdiction with regard to which the Government should have the same power as in the case of Commissioners and Deputy Commissioners.

In view of the proposals to remove certain matters from the pecuniary limitations imposed upon the jurisdiction of the Courts, we have somewhat amplified the references in clause 6, sub-clause (2), now appearing as clause 6, to cases excepted. On the other hand, the reference to clause 111 has been omitted because, as we have noted upon the provision in question, we propose, in preference to extension of jurisdiction, to require transfer of cases involving a set-off or counter-claim in respect of which the Court is not competent to grant relief.

Clause 8.—We have added words represented to us as necessary for the purpose of meeting the case of judicial officers invested with the powers given by law to Provincial Courts of Small Causes.

PART II.

OF SUITS IN GENERAL.

CHAPTER II.

OF THE JURISDICTION OF THE COURTS AND RES JUDICATA.

Clause 11.—Explanation II has been added to give effect to a decision [Kishori Mohun Roy Chowdhry v. Chunder Nath Pal (1887), I. L. R. 14 Cal. 644].

Clause 12.—We have substituted the word "stay" for the words "not try" to explain more clearly the action to be taken by the Court; and the words "for the same relief" have been omitted because the application of the provision should depend not upon the mere prayer of the parties, but upon the matter in issue.

Clauses 13 to 14B.—It has been represented to us that clause 13 as originally drafted in the Bill is not unlikely to prove too elaborate for some of the subordinate Courts of this country. We have accordingly simplified the arrangement by first stating so much of the rule of res judicata as lends itself to general expression and have then enunciated, as separate propositions, the various conditions to which the rule is subject and which at present are inconveniently and inappropriately subjoined as explanations. We have, moreover, omitted the saving of remedies embodied as sub-clause (2) of clause 13 of the Bill, because we consider that such a saving is necessarily implied and that no special provision, therefore, is required for the case-law [Lalla Sheo Churn Lal v. Ramnandan Dobey (1894), I. L. R. 22 Cal. 8; Cursandas Natha v. Ladkavahu (1895), I. L. R. 19 Bom. 571], which it was sought to settle by the sub-clause. The existing explanation VI, which in strictness is not an explanation at all but rather a substantive rule of evidence, has been relegated by us to a more convenient position at the end of the Chapter.

From clause 13 we have omitted the words "which has not been obtained by fraud or collusion" because the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (I of 1872), section 44, which it was intended to save, are confined to judgments proved by the adverse party, and we think that a provision relating to procedure is, of necessity, subject to the general law of evidence. We have avoided the expression "subsequent suit or proceeding" and have recast the sentence to render it clear [Balkishan v. Kishan Lal (1888), I. L. R. 11 All. 148; Gururajammah v. Venkatakrishnama (1901), I. L. R. 24 Mad. 350] that the date, not of institution but of decision, determines the application of the principle of res judicata.

As in the definition of a "decree", we have omitted the words "the merits of", which might be held to exclude the decision upon a point of limitation.

The words "and not collaterally, incidentally or inferentially", which add nothing to "directly and substantially," have been expunged; and the language has been much shortened by the use of the compendious expression "previously decided suit or other proceeding".

Explanation (b) appended to condition I aims at superseding in the sense of an Allahabad ruling [Sri Gopal v. Pirthi Singh (1897), I. L. R. 20 All. 110] a decision of the Calcutta High Court [Woomesh Chandra Maitra v. Barada Das Maitra (1900), I. L. R. 28 Cal. 17].

Sub-head (i) has been inserted in clause (b) of condition II to meet the cases in which, without the sanction referred to in clause 30, a litigant legally represents other persons, who are consequently bound by the decision. An instance will be found in the explanation appended to clause 368B.

An explanation has been added to condition IV with a view to setting at rest the doubts entertained with regard to the degree of exclusiveness attaching to the jurisdiction of Courts of Small Causes and of Criminal Courts.

By the explanation appended to condition V it is sought to set at rest the doubts on the question whether matter involved in a suit or other proceeding disposed of ex parte or notwithstanding default or on a compromise or award or upon evidence given upon oath by which the parties agree to abide, can be said to have been heard and finally decided for the purpose of rendering the doctrine of res judicata applicable.

With reference to clause 14, sub-clause (f), paragraph (d), it has been represented to us as expedient that the language of the Code should direct attention to the necessity not merely for alleging fraud but for proving it.

CHAPTER III.

OF THE COURT OF INSTITUTION.

Clause 15.—We have omitted the reference to clause 578A and the words "properly exercised under this section" as likely to occasion difficulties of interpretation. We have avoided the term "process of accumulation" [Shamrav Pandoji v. Niloji Ramaji (1885), I. L. R. 10 Bom. 200] because it is not wide enough to cover other changes such as an increase in market-value and might, if specified, be held to exclude them. On the other hand, we have, in paragraph (b), expressly declared that the increase in the value here referred to must be subsequent to the institution of a suit. We have added a paragraph rendering it clear that mesne profits do not oust the Court's jurisdiction merely because their addition to the value of a suit for recovery of possession is in excess of the pecuniary limits of such jurisdiction.

Clause 16.—Now that growing crops are to be included in the definition of "moveable property", paragraph (f) is no longer required, more especially because, as a matter of drafting, the ground is covered by paragraph (a).

Clause 16A.—We think that objections under sub-clause (2) should be taken at the earliest opportunity; and we have sought to exclude frivolous objections by parties not substantially prejudiced by the error.

Clause 17.—In paragraph (b) we have substituted the words "do not object to" for the words "acquiesce in" to give effect to a ruling [Viraragava v. Krishnasami (1882), I. L. R. 6 Mad. 349] and have provided that objections to this provision must be taken at the earliest opportunity and in any case before the issues are settled.

With reference to paragraph (c) we have given effect to strong representations that the necessity for obtaining the leave of the Court serves no useful purpose, while it affords opportunities for obstruction and delay. In view of the definition of "cause of action", we have omitted references to "claims".

Explanation III, as it stood in the Bill, has been omitted by us as no longer required in view of the re-draft, but in spite of the doubts expressed by the High Court of Madras [Murugesa Chetti v. Annamalai Chetti (1899), I. L. R. 23 Mad. 458, at p. 466], we have considered it expedient to append an explanation in the sense of a Bombay ruling [Rambhat v. Shankar Baswant (1901), I. L. R. 25 Bom. 528] the effect of which has been reproduced in illustration (c).

Clauses 20 to 25.—To sub-clauses (2) and (4) of clause 20, as originally drafted, a general application has been given in our proposed clause 24A. The extended powers given by clause 25 enable us considerably to shorten clauses 20 to 23. Sub-clause (1) of clause 24 has been recast and amplified to provide for the case, not covered by the present section, of suits instituted in the Original Side of a High Court. While one High Court cannot well be empowered to bind another by a decision given under section 24 [compare, Skinner v. Orde (1879), I. L. R. 2 All. 241, at pp. 246-7], we think it only right that the parties to such a decision should be debarred from raising objections to it. Sub-clause (1) of clause 25 has been modified more particularly to cover suits and other proceedings transferred to a Court newly established. In sub-clause (2), we propose to authorize the High Court or District Court to declare that proceedings taken before transfer need not necessarily be taken afresh where no useful purpose would be served by repetition.

CHAPTER IV.

OF PARTIES AND THEIR APPEARANCES, APPLICATIONS AND ACTS.

We have omitted the sub-headings in this Chapter as unnecessary and inaccurate.

Clause 26.—For the word "hearing" we have substituted the word "trial" for greater conformity with Order XVI, rule 1, and have introduced a few verbal changes into the illustrations, of which (c) has more especially been criticized as expressed in language too technical for use in Indian practice.

The latter portion of sub-clause (2) has been transferred to a more convenient position in clause 220, sub-clause (1).

Clause 27.—We have thought it convenient to insert a reference to the Indian Limitation Act, 1877 (XV of 1877), section 22, the provisions of which are apt to be overlooked.

Clause 28.—The words "in respect of the same matter" have been inserted to restore the substance of the existing section in spite of the terms of Order XVI, rule 4, because rule 5 of the Order is not reproduced in the Code.

We have added an illustration to give effect to a decision [Serajul Huq Khan v. Dinabundhu Sen (1902), 6 Cal. W. N. 300].

Clause 30.—For the word "parties" we have substituted the word "persons" as the more appropriate expression [The Oriental Bank Corporation v. Gobind Lall Seal (1883), I. L. R. 9 Cal. 604, at p. 606]. We think, however, that the words "or implied" should be omitted so as to give effect to an Allahabad dictum [per Stuart, C. J., Hira Lal v. Bhairon (1883), I. L. R. 5 All. 602, at p. 604] and thereby to supersede a Bengal decision [Dhunput Singh v. Paresh Nath Singh (1893), I. L. R. 21 Cal. 180], from which it would appear that the Court's permission may be inferred from its procedure.

We have added to this clause a sub-clause reproducing the substance of clause 32, sub-clause (3), which appears to us to be out of place in its present position.

Clause 31.—We have restated the rule contained in this provision. The correct principle, in our opinion, is that, if possible, the Court must adjudicate between the parties before it; but, where misjoinder or non-joinder is fatal to the right to sue [compare, Ramsebuk v. Ramlall Koondoo (1881), I. L. R. 6 Cal. 815; Rajendronath Dutt v. Shaik Mahomed (1881), L. R. 8 I. A. 135; Ghulam Kadir Khan v. Mustakim Khan (1895), I. L. R. 18 All. 109], we think that every reasonable opportunity for remedying the defect, so far as may be, should be given before the plaint is rejected or the suit is dismissed.

Sub-clause (3) has been transferred by us to a more appropriate position in clause 44, sub-clause (1).

Clause 32.—We have recast sub-clause (1) which has been criticized as cumbrous. To paragraph (b) we have added a passage showing that, even where the Court acts of its own motion, the law of limitation will apply. This amendment will have the effect of superseding the view hitherto entertained in Bengal [The Oriental Bank Corporation v. Charriol (1886), I. L. R. 12 Cal 642; Grish Chunder Sasmal v. Dwarka Nath Dinda (1897), I. L. R. 24 Cal. 640; Fakera Pasban v. Bibi Asimunnissa (1899), I. L. R. 27 Cal. 540].

So much of sub-clause (2) as relates to a "next friend" has been omitted by us as finding a more appropriate place in Chapter XXXII.

Sub-clause (3) has been omitted in view of the addition proposed to clause 30.

We have relaxed the stringency of sub-clause (4), which we have re-numbered (3), because notice is obviously an unnecessary formality where the party has been added on his own application.

We have slightly recast the wording of sub-clause (6), now sub-clause (5), to give more precise effect to the underlying decision [Imam-ud-din v. Liladhar (1892), I. L. R. 14 All. 524].

Clause 34.—We have somewhat shortened the prolix language of the Code.

Clause 36.—For the word "appeal" we have substituted the words "other proceeding" as more exhaustive, and after the word "rule" we have omitted the words "of law" as not required.

Clause 37.—In paragraphs (a) and (b) of sub-clause (1) the words "general" and "special" have been omitted as unduly restrictive.

In sub-clause (2) a verbal alteration has been necessitated by the inclusion of the former Chief Commissionership of Oudh in the Lieutenant-Governorship of the United Provinces.

Clause 39.—In sub-clause (2) we have, to obviate hardship to legal practitioners, provided for the termination of an appointment by the resignation of the pleader. It has been represented to us as a common practice to enter the names of numerous pleaders in the appointment but to fee only one of them at the actual hearing.

We have amplified sub-clause (3) to give effect to what we understand to be substantially the practice of some of the Courts added by us to this provision.

CHAPTER V.

OF THE FRAME OF THE SUIT.

Clause 43.—We are of opinion that this clause should cover recurrent causes of action which, as in the case of mesne profits, do not arise out of contract. We have slightly shortened the concluding passage of sub-clause (1), with which we have amalgamated sub-clause (2) for greater accuracy, because we think that a plaintiff is entitled to relinquish a portion of his claim, irrespective of the question whether his object is to bring the suit within jurisdiction. We have slightly altered the provisions of this clause with a view to representing more exactly the underlying decision [Musaheb Zaman Khan v. Inayat-ul-lah (1892), I. L. R. 14 All. 513], and we have amplified the illustration to state more fully the principle formulated in the concluding portion of sub-clause (1).

Clauses 44 to 47.—We have attempted to arrange clauses 44 to 46 of the Bill in what we conceive to be a more logical order. The principle on which we have proceeded is that joinder of claims should generally be permissible, subject to the power of the Court, as defined in clause 46, to order separate trials.

Clause 44, sub-clause (1), which reproduces clause 31, sub-clause (3), we have sought to explain by an illustration showing that we do not desire to give effect to the interpretation of the law adopted at Allahabad [Rahim Baksh v. Amiran Bibi (1896), I. L. R. 18 All. 219; following, Salima Bibi v. Sheikh Muhammad (1895), I. L. R. 18 All. 131].

We have amalgamated, in clause 46, sub-clause (1), the substance of the somewhat prolix provisions of clause 45, sub-clause (2), and clause 46, sub-clauses (1) and (2).

Clause 47A.—The reasons for requiring objections on the ground of non-joinder or mis-joinder of parties to be taken at the earliest opportunity apply with equal cogency to objections on the ground of misjoinder of claims.

CHAPTER VI.

OF THE INSTITUTION OF SUITS.

Clause 48.—We have explicitly cast upon the person presenting the plaint the responsibility for the proper endorsement of his name, description and place of residence.

Clause 49.—This provision has been omitted because it is proposed to add to clause 645 a more generally expressed direction with respect to all pleadings.

Clause 50.—In sub-clause (1) we have relaxed the rigour of paragraph (cc), which we have re-lettered (d), to avoid some of the difficulties connected with any attempt to compel women and natives of this country to state their ages.

In paragraph (d), re-lettered (e), for the word "circumstances" the word "facts" has been substituted for greater conformity with the definition of "cause of action".

In paragraph (e), now (f), "prayer" has been substituted for "demand" as more in accordance with the practice of the Courts.

In paragraph (g), now (h), the words "where necessary" have been inserted to prevent any apparent inconsistency with the practice of High Courts on the Original Side in admitting plaints upon payment of a fixed fee and not of an ad valorem duty.

With reference to sub-clause (2) we think that damages are, for the present purpose, governed by the same principle as mesne profits.

We have re-cast sub-clause (3) to bring it into greater conformity with the Indian Registration Act, 1877 (III of 1877), section 21, sub-section (a).

We have omitted the illustrations on the ground that they are both inaccurate and useless to practitioners.

Clause 51.—We have omitted a superfluous reference to the special provisions relating to suits instituted in the name of partners.

Clause 52.—In view of proposed additions to clause 416 the reference to informations exhibited by rhe Advocate General is unnecessary.

Clauses 53 and 54.—We have collected, by a more convenient arrangement, the provisions relating, respectively, to the amendment and to the rejection of plaints.

Clause 54A.—We consider it expedient to give legislative recognition to the principle accepted in English practice that the Court is not only entitled but bound to exercise an inherent power of preventing any abuse of its procedure.

Clause 54AA.—We have not felt justified in giving effect to the Allahabad decision [Jainti Prasad v. Bachu Singh (1893), I. L. R. 15 All. 65] debarring the Court from prolonging, by action under this provision, the period ordinarily prescribed by the law of limitation. We have accordingly expunged so much of the clause as was based upon this ruling.

Clause 54B.—We have somewhat recast the wording of the Bill as the existing section 582A, upon which it was founded, does not describe the procedure with precision.

Clause 55.—We have directed attention to the duty of signature ordinarily imposed upon the Judge by existing practice.

Clause 57—From sub-clause (1) we have omitted paragraphs (b) and (c) as sufficiently covered by paragraph (a), from which we have omitted a passage represented to us as both inaccurate and superfluous.

We have added sub-clause (3) to give effect to a Bombay ruling [Prabhakarbhat v. Vishwambhar Pandit (1884), I. L. R. 8 Bom. 313, overruling Jagjivandas Javherdas Seth v. Magdum Ali (1883), I. L. R. 7 Bom. 487].

Clause 57A.—We have omitted this clause as sufficiently covered by clauses 622 and 582.

Clause 57B.—We have relaxed the terms of this provision, because the statement in numbered paragraphs now required by clause 50, sub-clause (1), paragraph (e), cannot conveniently be reproduced in the form prescribed by the Third Schedule, No. 116.

Clause 58—We have substituted "lists" for "memoranda," not merely for greater conformity with clause 59, sub-clause (2), and clause 138, sub-clause (2), but for the lightening of legal expenses by the elimination of what is in practice a useless labour. The substitution of the words "prayed for" for the word "required" follows a similar amendment in clause 50, sub-clause (1), paragraph (f).

In sub-clause (5) we think that all the reasonable requirements of practice will be satisfied if the documents there referred to are certified to be correct by the plaintiff or his pleader instead of being verified in the manner provided for the verification of plaints.

Clause 62.—We have substituted "Judge" for "Court", because the duty of marking involves a personal act which cannot be performed by a Bench. We think, moreover, that the expression "attesting", which occurs in the existing Code, should be avoided in view of the technical meaning assigned to "attestation" in connection with documents.

Clause 63.—It has been represented that in the present Code the principle has been too rigorously enunciated, and we have, therefore, altered sub-clause (1) from the prohibitive to the permissive form. At the same time, we have omitted sub-clause (2) because, in view of this amendment, the provisions of clause 138, sub-clause (5), are sufficient.

CHAPTER VII.

OF THE ISSUE AND SERVICE OF SUMMONS.

Clause 66.—The existing section 67, reproduced in the Bill as sub-clause (3), has been criticized not merely as cumbrous and involved, but also as arbitrary in principle and as leading in practice to anomalous results. We have, at the representation, more especially, of the Governments of Burma and Madras, extended the scope of the section to cover modes of communication other than those by railway; and, in the case of journeys by public conveyance, we have substituted a time-limit for the present standard by mere distance. This will enable the Court to determine questions arising under this provision by the more convenient method of referring to a time-table.

Clause 69.—The explanation has been omitted as redundant.

Clause 70.—We have abridged this provision because, while the defendant should certainly produce all documents in his possession or power in so far as he relies on them in support of his case, it seems to us unreasonable to require him to produce any document merely because it may relate to the merits of the case for the plaintiff.

Clause 71.—The addition proposed by us is intended to prevent obstructive delay by the device of obtaining an adjournment for documents which the defendant could easily obtain and intends eventually to produce.

Clause 72.—The word "registered" has been omitted as already covered by the General Clauses Act, 1897, section 27.

Clause 78A.—We have transferred the existing section 167 to this Chapter, because we think that it should apply to the issue and service of summons in the case of a defendant as well as of a witness, to whom it will still extend by virtue of clause 166.

Clause 80.—We have brought this clause into closer conformity with clause 17, the principle of which is, in our opinion, equally applicable to the service of process. A similar alteration will be found inserted in clause 83. The words "if any" have been inserted, here as elsewhere in clause 81, between the words "person" and "identifying," because the Code should not render absolutely illegal the service of process without an identifier, where local experience justifies the High Court in issuing no directions for such a safeguard. We have slightly recast the proviso for purposes of greater accuracy.

Clause 85.—Sub-clause (1), paragraph (b), has been expanded in view of the inconvenience of limiting the power, here given, to personal presentation by the plaintiff himself.

Clause 87.—The language has been considerably shnrtened in view of the more general provision which we have inserted as clause 90AA.

Clause 89.—The word "sent" has been substituted for the word "forwarded" for greater conformity with the terms of the General Clauses Act, 1897, section 27.

Clause 90.—The language has been slightly modified to relieve the Court of the labour of personal signature. The illustration has been omitted, because we doubt whether diplomatic arrangements, which happen to be in force at the present moment, can appropriately be stereotyped in an enactment. The underlying difficulty of practice could, in our opinion, be more suitably met by the issue of instructions to subordinate Courts.

Clause 90A.—It has been deemed desirable, for greater clearness of procedure, to provide in the Code itself that process served under this clause shall be accompanied by a copy to be retained by the defendant.

Clause 90AA.—The duty to serve process transmitted for that purpose, and the admissibility in evidence of proceedings recorded thereon, have been given a more general application.

Clause 92B.—The language of sub-clause (2) has been harmonized somewhat more closely with the General Clauses Act, 1897, section 27.

We have substituted "not permitted" for "estopped" because the propriety of so technical an expression in this connection has been questioned.

In sub-clause (3) we have made additions extending the principle to proof of the agent's signature and at the same time preventing a possible misconception with regard to the admissibility of the evidence of an eye-witness.

Clause 93.—In sub-clause (2), for the word "levied" the word "paid" has been substituted to cast the duty here contemplated more directly upon the party..

Clause 95.—We have extended this provision to cover the postal receipts now given, as an additional safeguard, by the Post Office on payment of a fee.

CHAPTER VIII.

OF THE APPEARANCE OF THE PARTIES AND CONSEQUENCE OF NON-APPEARANCE.

Clause 96.—The language has been modified in this and similar clauses to remove the misapprehension that the Court is bound to hear the suit at a specific hour.

Clause 98.—The reference to adjournment has been omitted because this matter is sufficiently covered by the terms of clause 157. A similar alteration will be found in clause 104.

Clause 103.—References to the legal representative, and to the Court to which the business of the Court dismissing he suit has been transferred, have been inserted for closer conformity with clause 108.

Sub-clause (2) was originally inserted to remove doubts expressed in regard to the legal soundness of a decision [Lalla Sheo Churn Lal v. Ramnandan Dobey (1894), I. L. R. 22 Cal. 8] which has, however, been approved [Cursandas Natha v. Ladkavahu (1895), I. L. R. 19 Bom. 571, at p. 577; see also Hanmantapa v. Jivubai (1900), I. L. R. 24 Bom. 547, at p. 552]. We think that the matter may be left as settled by case-law and have omitted the sub-clause.

Clause 104.—We have inserted the words "in British India" after the word "agent" to prevent the recurrence of misconception with regard to the meaning of this provision.

Clause 107.—The reference to clause 436A, which seems to us somewhat out of place in this Chapter, has been omitted in view of the addition proposed by us to the clause in question.

Clause 108.—In order to supply an omission occasioning inconvenience in practice, sub-clause (1) has been expanded to meet the case of transfer of business to another Court.

The language of sub-clause (2) has been rendered slightly clearer, and sub-clause (3) has been omitted, inasmuch as the matter can be more appropriately treated in Chapter XX.

CHAPTER IX.

OF WRITTEN STATEMENTS, SET-OFF AND COUNTER-CLAIM.

This Chapter, the arrangement of which in the present Code presents some confusion, has been recast in a more logical sequence.

Clause 110.—In sub-clause (3) effect has been given to existing practice by provision for grounds of law in the written statement. It is thought that the requirements of section 63 can without impropriety be rendered applicable, mutatis mutandis, to documents in the possession of the defendant, who is stated to have at present an undue advantage in this matter over the plaintiff.

Clause 113.—The penalty provided by the existing section for a defect in procedure appears to us to be unduly severe. We think that the defaulting party should be placed in no worse position than that occupied by him on failure to comply with any order to answer interrogatories or to give inspection.

Clause 111.—In sub-clause (1), it has been considered desirable to render it clear that a written statement pleading a set-off or counter-claim is subject to the law of limitation applicable to a plaint in a cross-suit. By an amendment of the Fourth Schedule, we propose to render the set-off or counter-claim liable to the same court-fees as a plaint. These changes are essential in view of the provisions suggested by us in sub-clause (4), which we have renumbered as sub-clause (9).

We would depart from English practice inasmuch as we have proposed to render the convenience of the Court the short and simple test of the question whether the defendant should or should not be allowed to avail himself of his set-off or counter-claim in respect of which the Court has jurisdiction. We think that the words "or ought to be allowed", as originally inserted in the Bill, would occasion much difficulty of construction

With reference to sub-clauses (3) to (7), we consider it inexpedient, in view of the constitution of the Courts and the circumstances of litigation in this country, to adopt in its entirety the English practice originally reproduced in the Bill with regard to set-off or counter-claim involving matter beyond jurisdiction. We have thought it preferable, more especially with the object of avoiding difficult questions of res judicata, to insist upon transfer to a competent Court, unless, of course, the defendant chooses to relinquish so much of the set-off or counter-claim as is beyond jurisdiction.

We have re-cast the proviso to sub-clause (3), now re-numbered (8), in order to give effect to the rulings [Pringle v. Gloag (1879), L. R. 10 C. D. 676; Brijnath Dass v. Juggernath Dass (1879), I. L. R. 4 Cal. 742] which suggested the corresponding passage in the Code but were not reproduced therein.

The effect of our proposals is to limit set-off and counter-claim to matters within the jurisdiction of the same High Court, and, even in their case, the Court must be of opinion that the trial of such set-off or counter-claim is convenient. In these circumstances, provision has to be made for cases in which the defendant is precluded from availing himself of his set-off or counter-claim upon which, however, he may have paid the court-fees required by the addition proposed by us in the Fourth Schedule. In such an event, we would apply the principle accepted by us in clause 57, sub-clause (3), and clause 543F, sub-clause (3), of requiring no further court-fee upon a plaint or memorandum of appeal returned to be presented to the proper Court.

CHAPTER X.

OF THE EXAMINATION OF THE PARTIES BY THE COURT.

Clause 117.—Sub-clause (1) has been recast because the provisions as to admission and denial should apply equally to the plaint and to the written statement.

We would give express recognition in sub-clause (2) to the existing practice according to which the Judge authenticates the record of an admission or denial of parties by his signature.

Clause 120.—To remedy a defect disclosed by practice we have inserted a mention of persons accompanying the pleader such as are referred to in clause 118. We have further directed attention to the provisions of clause 66, sub-clause (3), which might otherwise be overlooked [Maharajah Juggud Inder Bunwaree v. Soorjcoomar Chowdhree (1863), Marsh. 627].

Sub-clause (2) has been relaxed on the lines of clause 136 for the reasons given under clause 113.

CHAPTER XI.

OF DISCOVERY AND OF THE ADMISSION, INSPECTION, PRODUCTION, IMPOUNDING AND RETURN OF DOCUMENTS.

Clause 124.—We have added sub-clause (1) because, in spite of the wording of the Government of India Act, 1858 (21 & 22 Vict., c. 106), section 65, the case of the Secretary of State for India in Council is not very clearly covered by the procedure prescribed in the existing section.

Clause 126.—We have inserted this clause before clause 125 for the sake of more logical arrangement

Clause 125A.—We propose to allow the Court to extend the period of seven days in order to meet possible cases of hardship.

Clause 128.—The rule should be that the party refusing should always bear the expense of proving the document unless the Court otherwise directs. We have accordingly omitted from sub-clause (3) the passage rendering such liability dependent upon the Court's opinion of the reasonableness of the admission. The alteration gives more precise effect to Order XXXII, rule 2.

Clause 131.—We have considered it expedient to limit the excessive generality of sub-clause (1), and have omitted sub-clause (3) because the necessity for the underlying decision [Ram Dyal Saligram v. Nurhurry Balkrishna (1894), I. L. R. 18 Bom. 368] seems to us to be obviated by sub-clause (1) as re-worded.

Clause 134B.—A reference to the second paragraph of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (I of 1872), section 162, which otherwise might be taken to be superseded, has been inserted.

Clause 136A.—It has been considered safer to invest next friends or guardians for the suit with express power to make affidavits under Chapter XI on behalf of minor parties or parties of unsound mind.

Clause 137.—Sub-clause (3) has been added to provide for certain cases in which, as a matter of practice, the obligation, impliedly assumed in the Code, to comply immediately with requests under this clause, would be productive of inconvenience and danger.

Clause 138.—We propose to give effect to a convenient practice by explicitly allowing the Court to fix a period later than the first hearing of the suit. For the sake of uniformity we have substituted the words "evidence in support of" for the words "essential to"; but, with reference to the decisions [Minakshi v. Velu (1885), I. L. R. 8 Mad 373; Ranchod Haribhai v. The Secretary of State for India (1897), I. L. R. 22 Bom. 583] underlying the words thus cancelled, we have added sub-clause (5).

Clause 142A.—This provision has been transferred to follow clause 138 for the sake of more logical arrangement.

In sub-clause (2) the word "persons" has been substituted for the word "parties", because persons other than parties are constantly required to produce documents. A similar amendment has been made in clause 144, sub-clause (2).

Clause 141.—Signature in full is usually unnecessary and, in the case of certain documents, actually impossible. We have, therefore, recognised existing practice by making provision for the initialling of endorsements. A similar amendment has been made in clause 142.

Clause 141A.—A saving of the Bankers' Books Evidence Act, 1891 (XVIII of 1891), seems to be required here as in clause 62, sub-clause (1). The opinions of officers consulted disclose a strong feeling in favour of extending the provisions of this clause to letter-books, without reference to which a business cannot, in many instances, be properly conducted. Here, as elsewhere, we have substituted a certificate for attestation.

Clause 144.—In sub-clause (1), paragraph (b), provision has been made for reviews which, for the present purpose, stand on the same footing as appeals. In practice it is understood that a person receiving back a document after delivery of a certified copy undertakes, as we propose to direct by our addition to the second proviso, to produce the original if so required

From sub-clause (2) we have omitted the provisions about the receipt-book as details better suited for administrative instructions.

CHAPTER XII.

OF THE SETTLEMENT OF ISSUES.

Clause 146.—The addition to the explanation is rendered necessary by the terms of clause 111 as redrawn.

Clause 148.—A reference to clauses 66 and 176, which are not unlikely to be overlooked, has been inserted.

It has been represented that the expression "hands", which occurs in the existing Code, is less familiar and less accurate than "possession".

Clause 149.—We think that issues should not be amended, added or struck out without hearing any objection which the parties or their pleaders may desire to advance.

For the purposes of this clause, moreover, the parties appear to us to stand on the same footing in the sense that the Court should not be authorized to convert a defence into a defence of a different and inconsistent character.

CHAPTER XIII.

DISPOSAL OF THE SUIT AT THE FIRST HEARING.

Clause 155.—For the words "at once deliver judgment" the words "proceed to try and decide the suit forthwith" have been substituted to render it clear that the judgment must be based upon the materials before the Court.

CHAPTER XIV.

OF ADJOURNMENTS.

Clause 156.—The language of the existing Code is inconvenient and inaccurate in treating the postponement of the hearing from one day to the next as not included in "adjournment".

Clause 157.—We have inserted a provision with reference to costs ordered to be paid before an adjourned hearing with a view to enabling the Court to deal with the device of obtaining an adjournment, not otherwise admissible, upon an undertaking, which is afterwards ignored with impunity, to pay the costs occasioned to the opposite party by such adjournment.

Clause 158.—The words "try and" have been inserted for conformity with clause 155 and for the reason noted thereunder.

CHAPTER XV.

OF THE SUMMONING AND ATTENDANCE OF WITNESSES.

Clause 159.—It has been represented to us that the procedure prescribed by the existing section has proved to be productive of inconvenience and delay, and is, therefore, no longer in accordance with actual practice, to which we have sought to give legislative recognition in our redraft.

We have omitted the third proviso which does not appear to us to be strictly necessary and has been misread as intended to confer an additional right of appeal.

Clause 165.—The reference to the law of evidence has been inserted to direct attention to the duty of the Court more especially in cases of privilege.

Clause 165A.—For the word "named" the word "called" has been substituted to meet the device of entering the names of inconvenient persons in the lists of witnesses and then refusing to call them.

Clause 168.—The coercive provisions of this clause should be applicable to persons intentionally failing to cause documents to be produced even though their personal attendance is not required.

Clause 170A.—This clause has been omitted as unnecessary in view of the amplified provision proposed to be inserted as clause 178A.

Clause 170B.—We have expunged the reference to clause 283 because we propose to omit that provision and to abolish the remedy, there contemplated, by way of regular suit.

Clause 173.—In view of the possible necessity for recall we think that witnesses should be required, as a general rule, to attend at each hearing until the suit has been disposed of. It is a common practice involving no hardship for a witness desirous of departing earlier to obtain the express permission of the Court.

With reference to sub-clause (2), we think that payment into Court is insufficient, and that payment through the Court to the person concerned should be a condition precedent to action. On the other hand, to render the provision effective, we propose to permit detention in the civil prison in default of entering into recognizances.

Clause 174.—We have slightly modified the language for conformity with clause 173, sub-clause (2), as amended.

Clause 176.—The language of this clause has been modified to correspond with clause 66, sub-clause (3), paragraph (b).

Clause 177.—As in other cases of default, we have assimilated the penalty to that prescribed in clause 136, sub-clause (1).

CHAPTER XVI.

OF THE HEARING OF THE SUIT AND EXAMINATION OF WITNESSES.

Clause 178B.—The language of sub-clause (1) has been slightly altered to render it clear that the principle of this provision is not affected by the mere circumstance of the admission by the defendant of one out of several prayers for relief.

Clause 179.—Sub-clause (5) seeks to give effect to what is understood to be the almost invariable practice outside the presidency-towns.

Clause 182.—We think it desirable to enact expressly that depositions should be read over in open Court. It is not sufficient to read them over, for example, in the course of miscellaneous business transacted in the Judge's office or retiring room. On the other hand, we have omitted the passage requiring the presence of the parties or their pleaders, since we are strongly of opinion that the validity of a deposition should not be vitiated by the departure of litigants or practitioners who, if they desire to object to the record, should remain in attendance. We have further made a slight alteration to cover the case of errors in depositions recorded in the vernacular which, in point of practice, are not usually corrected by the Judge himself. A similar alteration has been made in clause 192, sub-clause (2).

Clause 185.—The words "if required by any of the parties" have been inserted because, as a matter of fact, litigants are usually content with the English record.

Clause 185A.—We have rendered this provision permissive instead of leaving it imperative, because we think that the Judge should always have it in his power to direct, where necessary, a full record of the deposition in the manner prescribed by clause 182. In these circumstances, we see no necessity for retaining sub-clause (2). We have expunged the passage authorizing revocation or variance of directions because the matter is covered by the General Clauses Act, 1897, section 21, as expanded by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1903 (I of 1903).

Clause 187.—We have sought to obviate all discussion in respect of the importance of particular questions and to confirm once for all the principle that a Court has discharged its duty by noting the words "objected to".

Clause 189A.—In the interests of the despatch of public business, we consider it desirable, as in the case of clause 54A, to direct the attention of the Courts to their duty to control the proceedings before them and to exercise their inherent power of preventing its process from being abused.

Clause 191.—We have extended the provisions of this clause to evidence taken on issues referred under section 566, to which the principle appears to us to be equally applicable.

Clause 192.—The word "hereinbefore," which occurs in the existing Code, excludes the application of this provision to evidence taken on commission to which we think that it ought to extend.

Clause 193.—We have modified sub-clause (1) and expunged the whole of sub-clause (2) in order to confer upon the Court the widest powers of recall.

Clause 193A.—We think that this provision should be limited to analogous suits in the same Court, and we have omitted the second proviso as sufficiently covered by clause 203A.

CHAPTER XVIII.

OF JUDGMENT AND DECREE.

Clause 198.—We have shortened the language of sub-clauses (1) and (2) of the original Bill and combined them in one sub-clause, more particularly in view of the general provisions of clause 645.

From sub-clause (3) we have omitted the proviso, which, notwithstanding the corresponding passage in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898), section 366, sub-section (4), appears to us to be superfluous.

Clause 199.—We propose to prohibit in future the practice recognized in a local decision [Raja Muhammad Mumtaz Ali v. Deo Narain (Oudh Select Case No. 200)] of allowing a judgment to be written by a predecessor who has been relieved of his office.

Clause 199A.—We have abridged sub-clause (1) and omitted sub-clauses (3) and (4) in view of the opposition of some of the Chartered High Courts to the delivery by subordinate Courts of oral judgments, for which provision was made upon a strong representation received from the Government of Madras in 1896. The wording of the Bill will still enable the object then expressed by that Government to be effected to this extent, that the Judge will be able to dictate a decision to a shorthand-writer. It will, however, be necessary for the judgment so dictated to be transcribed and to be in every respect ready for signature before it is delivered.

Clause 202.—The words "and signed" have been inserted because delivery often directs attention to errors and omissions which can most conveniently be then and there corrected before the signature of the Judge is appended.

Clause 203A.—Some verbal alterations have been introduced for the sake of uniformity with clause 193A.

Clause 205.—We have limited sub clause (1) to suits and other proceedings triable as suits to render it clear that a formal decree containing all the particulars prescribed by section 206 of the Code, now re-numbered as clause 205, sub-clause (5), need not be drawn up in the various proceedings which, while technically ending in "decrees", have really been declared so to end only for purposes of appeal. The reference to the language, in which the decree must be drawn up, has been omitted in view of the addition proposed to clause 645.

In sub-clause (2) we have added certain articles of the second schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, which appear to us to be required for the sake of completeness.

We have included clause 206 as sub-clause (5) of clause 205, since it plainly relates to one and the same subject. Paragraph (d) has, however, been omitted in view of local opposition because the ruling contemplated thereby [Niamut Khan v. Phadu Buldia (1880), I. L. R. 6 Cal. 319] is impliedly, though not expressly, superseded [Run Bahadur Singh v. Lucho Koer (1884), I. L. R. 11 Cal. 301]. In these circumstances we do not feel justified in retaining the paragraph which would have, it is said, the effect of greatly increasing the labour of the Court in the preparation of decrees.

Clause 206A.—To sub-clause (2) two provisos have been added, precluding amendment of a decree in so far as an appeal has been preferred against it or the decree has been executed. Where an appeal has been preferred, the appellate decree will, under clause 579A, supersede that of first instance; and inconvenience would arise if restitution had to be made of assets realized in execution and perhaps rateably distributed in satisfaction of another decree.

The language of sub-clause (3), which was criticized as slightly obscure, has been modified accordingly

In sub-clause (4) we have attempted to settle the very disputed question of the appropriate remedy against an improper exercise of the powers conferred by the clause. We think that no appeal should lie from an order refusing to amend a decree, but where a decree would, if passed on the day of the amendment, have been open to appeal, an appeal should lie from it in so far as it has been amended. Our conclusion is in accordance with a Madras ruling [Visvanathan Chetti v. Ramanathan Chetti (1901), I. L. R. 24 Mad. 646].

Clause 207.—The language has been harmonized with that of clause 50, sub-clause (3), as amended.

Clause 210.—To sub-clause (1) we have appended a proviso giving effect to a ruling of the High Court of Bombay [Ragho Govind Paranjpe v. Dipchand (1879), I. L. R. 4 Bom 96].

With reference to sub-clause (2) we are of opinion that it would be inconvenient to give the benefit of the power here conferred to a judgment-debtor who has taken the decree to appeal. We think, moreover, that an order once made under sub-clause (2) should not be cancelled or varied by the Court otherwise than with the consent of both parties.

Clause 211.—We have amalgamated clauses 211 and 212 as originally drafted in one provision.

Sub-clause (3) supersedes the view entertained at Calcutta [Mon Mohun Sirkar v. The Secretary of State for India in Council (1890), I. L. R. 17 Cal. 968] in the sense of that accepted at Madras [Ramabhadra v. Jagannatha (1890), I. L. R. 14 Mad. 328, at p. 333].

Sub-clause (4) seeks to regulate jurisdiction in accordance with the principle adopted at Calcutta [Rameswar Mahton v. Dilu Mahton (1894), I. L. R. 21 Cal. 550] on the lines of the amendment introduced into clause 15.

Clause 213.—The addition in sub-clause (2) of the words "or declared" is intended to cover declarations under Chapter XXI in addition to adjudications under the Indian Insolvency Act, 1848 (11 & 12 Vict., c. 21). As there are various systems of insolvency relief in force in British India, we have considered it expedient to state that the rules there referred to are those in force within the local limits of the Court's jurisdiction and are not to be taken, as might otherwise be supposed, to be those contained in Chapter XXI.

Clause 214. We have considerably altered the form of the existing section which has been criticized as wholly inadequate.

In sub-clause (1), paragraph (b), the power of the Appellate Court to specify another day [Parshadi Lal v. Ram Dial (1880), I. L. R. 2 All. 714; Kodai Singh v. Jaisri Singh (1889), I. L. R. 13 All. 376] has been recognized, and in sub-head (i) of the same paragraph the duty of executing and registering any necessary instrument [Ramasami Pattar v. Chinnan Asari (1901), I. L. R. 24 Mad. 449, at page 463], has been enjoined upon the defendant.

In sub-clause (2) provision has been made for the form of decrees in the case of claims decreed in favour of rival pre-emptors [Kashi Nath v. Mukhta Prasad (1884),

I. L. R. 6 All. 370; Hulasi v. Sheo Prasad (1884), I. L. R. 6 All. 455; Ajaib Nath v Mathura Prasad (1888), I. L. R. 11 All. 164].

Clause 215.—The preliminary decree passed in a suit for dissolution of partnership should always contain a declaration of the rights of the parties.

Clause 215B.—We have re-cast this clause for the sake of greater clearness and closer conformity with clause 265. We would mention that certain local enactments, by which jurisdiction to effect "imperfect partition" of revenue-paying land is reserved exclusively to the Revenue Courts, contemplate a procedure inconsistent with this clause. Such enactments, however, will be saved by the terms of clause 4.

Clause 216.—Sub-clause (1) has been modified in view of the amendment of clause 111. This alteration obviates the necessity for sub-clause (3), which has accordingly been omitted.

Clause 217.—The slight amendment introduced by us gives effect to what we understand to be an obviously necessary practice of the Courts.

CHAPTER XIX.

OF COSTS.

Clause 219.—Proceedings other than suits frequently terminate in orders not supported by a formal judgment as defined in clause 2, paragraph (p). We think that such orders should equally contain directions with respect to costs.

Clause 220.—We have prefixed to sub-clause (1) a saving of other provisions, such as, for example, clause 128, sub-clause (2).

The proviso to sub-clause (2), which we have somewhat amplified, should, we think, be declared, by an addition to clause 638, not to apply to a Chartered High Court in the exercise of its ordinary or extraordinary original civil jurisdiction, because it conflicts with the rules of the High Court at Calcutta on the subject, and clause 206 has already been declared, for the same reason, to be inapplicable.

CHAPTER XX

OF THE EXECUTION OF DECREES AND ORDERS.

We have very materially altered the arrangement of this Chapter which, as it stands in the present Code, appears to us to have fallen into some confusion.

Clause 222B.—It is expedient to declare that the provisions of this Chapter apply not merely to decrees but to orders capable of execution. We have, therefore, added the words "and orders" to the title.

Clause 222C.—In this clause we have reproduced the second portion of section 649 which appears to us to be misplaced in the present Code. In paragraph (a), however, we have substituted the expression "Court of first instance" for "Court which passed the decree from which the appeal was preferred." Our reason is that, as a matter of practice, the Court of intermediate appeal never executes a decree passed in second appeal.

Clause 223.—We have in this and the ensuing clauses proposed an important simplification of procedure by substituting execution by precept for the existing procedure by transfer of the decree. The germ of this amendment was contained in clause 223B of the original Bill relating to attachment by precept in anticipation of the transfer of the decree with a view to enabling execution to proceed simultaneously in more than one district, as was ruled to be permissible under Act VIII of 1859 [Saroda Prosaud Mullick v. Lutchmeeput Singh Doogur (1872), 14 Moo. I. A. 529, at pp. 538-9]. On the analogy of the County Court procedure of execution by warrant, we would give legislative recognition to the principle that the Court which passed the decree is throughout responsible for seeing it enforced. The circumstances of litigation in this country render it expedient, of course, that the Court executing a decree not passed by it should have jurisdiction to entertain objections not affecting the legality or propriety of the order in pursuance of which it is acting At the same time, we consider that this safeguard can be maintained without the cumbrous and antiquated procedure by transfer of the decree. According to this procedure, the Court which passed the decree is, after transfer, virtually deprived of control until the decree is returned and, to all intents and purposes, execution is everywhere in suspense except in the particular Court which happens to have the decree on its file. In our opinion, such a result, which seriously affects the chances of realization and adds greatly to the expenses eventually to be borne by the judgment-debtor, is not justified by any compensating advantage. Excessive realization, which the system was primarily intended to prevent, can be quite as effectively obviated by reserving the power of ordering attachment or sale, as we suggest, to the Court which passed the decree and which will not issue a precept for either of these purposes unless, looking to the amount of assets obtained from all sources, it considers such action to be necessary.

Clause 223A.—The limitation upon jurisdiction, which we propose to insert as paragraph (b) of sub-clause (1), is essential to avoid complicated questions of res judicata in view of the extensive powers of disposing of claims and objections which are conferred by clauses 278 and 331.

We have not retained sub-clause (6), because the matter appears to us to be sufficiently covered by the provisions relating to jurisdiction as a whole.

Sub-clause (7) has also been omitted, because we are of opinion that it might tend to encourage judgment-debtors to obstruct proceedings by futile applications for transfer.

The explanation added by us is intended to give effect to a Calcutta decision [Rameswar Mahton v. Dilu Mahton (1894), I. L. R. 21 Cal. 550].

Clause 223B.—This provision, instead of conferring an exceptional power, will in future supply the normal procedure in execution. In order to guard against indiscriminate resort to concurrent execution in more than one Court, we have suggested that the issue of precepts for this purpose shall be justified by a record of reasons. The Court executing a precept of arrest will, of course, not be authorized to send away the prisoner to the Court issuing such precept but, as is at present the case with arrest under a transferred decree, will dispose of any objections within the scope of its powers, and, if it does not release the person arrested, will order his detention in the local prison. A precept to attach property, moreover, will not enable the Court executing such precept to proceed to sale. The mechanical guarantee, which we propose against excessive realization, is that the Court, which passed the decree and is responsible for its execution, must, in each case, separately decide whether property, which has been attached, ought also to be sold to make up any deficiency still outstanding.

Clause 223C.—The adoption of the precept system enables us to cancel, at one stroke, almost all the elaborate conditions of transfer as embodied in section 223 and somewhat amplified in clause 223C of the Bill. Sub-clauses (4) and (7) of that clause have been incorporated in clause 223B as sub-clauses (2) and (3). Sub-clause (3) will be found, in a more exhaustive form, as sub-clause (4) of clause 244A.

Clause 224.—Most of the particulars required to enable a Court to execute a transferred decree are unnecessary in the case of a precept. We see no advantage in fettering the discretion of the High Courts in regulating the procedure of Courts subordinate to them. We propose, therefore, to omit clause 224 and to leave the High Courts to prescribe the form of precept as local circumstances may require.

Clause 226.—Clauses 223A and 223B sufficiently indicate, we think, the Courts to which precepts can and should be issued. We have proposed, therefore, the omission of this provision. The power of transfer which clause 226, paragraph (a), reproduced from the present Code will, in future, be exercised under the expanded terms of clause 25.

Clause 244.—From sub-clause (1), paragraph (a), the reference to "three years" has been omitted as relating only to existing provisions in regard to mesne profits which have been excluded from the Bill.

The object of the insertion of explanation I is to remove a long-standing conflict of decisions with respect to which the most recent rulings from Madras [Ramaswami Sastrulu v. Kameswaramma (1900), I. L. R. 23 Mad. 361] and Allahabad [Kalka Prasad v. Basant Ram (1901), I. L. R. 23 All. 346] are directly at variance.

Explanation II gives effect to recent decisions of the High Court of Calcutta [Dwar Buksh Sirkar v. Fatik Jali (1898), I. L. R. 26 Cal. 250; Ganga Das Seal v. Yakub Ali Dobashi (1900), I. L. R. 27 Cal. 670].

We have extended the original explanation II, now re-numbered III, to cover the analogous case of execution against any person not in the capacity of a legal representative, but in virtue of possession of the estate of a deceased judgment-debtor.

Clause 244A.—Sub-clauses (1), (2) and (3) reproduce in somewhat altered language the substance of clause 228, sub-clauses (3), (1) and (2), of the original Bill. We have amplified sub-clause (1), now re-numbered (2), to render it clear that the powers of the Court to which a precept has been issued are not merely ministerial but extend to the decision of questions relating to execution. Clause 228, sub-clause (4), has been entirely omitted. It was intended to enable the holder of a transferred decree to follow assets from jurisdiction to jurisdiction without intermediate retransfer, in each instance, to the Court which passed the decree. The more direct system of execution by precept obviates the necessity for this provision.

Sub-clause (4) represents the original clause 223C, sub-clause (3), as adapted to the precept system.

Clause 257A.—The Bill, as introduced, declared agreements made in contravention of this provision to be "illegal" and not merely "void" in the sense of being incapable of being enforced by way of execution only as opposed to recovery by regular suit as upon a fresh contract. We propose to revert to the existing interpretation by which the penalty for want of sanction is confined to incompetency to obtain recognition for the agreement in the Court executing the decree.

On the other hand, we think that, where an agreement complies with the requirements of this provision, the greatest facility should be given to have its terms enforced by the cheap and summary process of execution. We propose, therefore, to authorize the Court to execute the agreement, even though the relief granted is beyond the ordinary limits of its jurisdiction and though the original proceedings in execution of the decree have terminated.

Clause 258.—We have added sub-clause (4) to meet a Bombay decision [Chintaman Ramchandra v. Dareppa (1890), I. L. R. 14 Bom. 506].

Clause 230.—We have broken up clause 230 into separate clauses because the discretion of the Court to refuse concurrent execution against the person and the property of the judgment-debtor and the limitation imposed upon the grant of execution in certain cases appear to us to relate to perfectly distinct matters. Sub-clause (2) has been transferred, as clause 230A, to a more appropriate position under the head of Procedure in execution. In sub-clause (3), which has been re-numbered clause 230B, we have, as in other passages, extended to charges the provisions relating to mortgages. In the text of this provision we have incorporated the substance of paragraphs (d) and (e) of the Bill which seem to us to be unnecessarily elaborate.

Clause 231.—In sub-clause (1), paragraph (b), we have modified the language with a view to rendering it clear that the interest there referred to is an interest determined by the decree itself.

Clause 232.—The words "if that Court thinks fit" have been omitted, because we are of opinion that, where the conditions specified in this provision are satisfied, the right to apply for execution should be absolute and should not depend upon the discretion of the Court.

Clause 234.—Exception has been taken to the terms of section 210 of Act VIII of 1859 which the Bill proposed to revive by allowing an alternative remedy against the estate of a deceased judgment-debtor. We think that the criticisms will be met by substituting a remedy against the person in possession of the estate. A similar alteration will be found in clause 248.

Clause 235.—In view of the redistribution of this Chapter, we have incorporated as sub-clause (1) of this provision a portion of clause 256 of the Bill relating to oral application for immediate execution of a decree for the payment of money. The action to be taken thereon by the Court will be found described in clause 256 under the head of Procedure in execution.

In this connection, it will be observed that we have removed the money-limit of Rs. 1,000 which, it is thought, is arbitrary and inconvenient. In many cases, the larger the judgment-debt, the more urgent the necessity for immediate arrest. On the other hand, with a view to rendering the procedure more effectual, we have dispensed, in clause 256, paragraph (a), with the prior preparation of a warrant where the judgment-debtor is within the precincts of the Court

In sub-clause (2) effect has been given to existing practice by requiring the signature in addition to the verification of the party.

In sub-clause (2), paragraph (f), we have somewhat amplified the details to be specified in the application, with regard to the particular mode of execution, more especially in view of the proposed procedure by garnishment of debts and charging of stock.

There seems to be a consensus of opinion that sub-clause (2) of the original Bill, which required every application to be accompanied by a certified copy of the decree, was too stringent, inasmuch as the production of a certified copy can rarely be necessary where the original decree is in Court. The subordinate tribunals, however, are in the habit of transmitting their records at stated periods to a record-room at head-quarters. To meet cases in which the decree has thus passed out of the Court's custody, we have provided that the applicants may be required to produce a certified copy.

Clause 237.—The language has been re-cast for closer conformity with clauses 50 and 207.

Sub-clause (2) has been omitted, because a verification separate from that prescribed by clause 235 does not appear to be necessary.

Clause 238.—We propose to give the Courts an option in requiring extracts since these do not in all cases appear to be required but have the effect of adding to the expenses of legal proceedings.

Clauses 238A to 243B.—We have transferred hither the substance of clause 546, sub-clause (1), as clause 238A, and clause 545, sub-clause (2), as clause 243B. These provisions appear to us to be out of place in the Chapter relating to appeals.

Clause 238B which is founded upon clause 228, sub-clause (3), and clause 239, sub-clause (2), ought, we think, to be grouped with clause 243 under the head of Stay of execution. In these circumstances, clause 243A, which consolidates the provisions of clause 239, sub-clause (3), and clause 243, so far as they relate to stay, has been rendered applicable to both provisions.

Clause 242 has been omitted as unnecessary if decrees are no longer to be transferred.

With regard to the provisions thus re-arranged, we would remark that, in clause 243A, we have sought to render it plain that, where a condition precedent is infringed, execution must continue as a matter of course, whereas conditions subsequent may be enforced like decrees.

Clause 245.—The term "amended", which was reproduced in sub-clause (1) as originally drafted, does not cover the "remedying of a defect" such as the omission to produce a copy required under clause 235.

With regard to sub-clause (2), the Bill declared, in view of a Calcutta decision [Gopal Sah v. Janki Koer (1895), I. L. R. 23 Cal. 217] that, until an application returned under this clause is presented with such amendments as the Court may have required, it shall not be deemed to be in accordance with law. We propose to relax the stringency of this rule and to date back the application to the time of its original presentation on the lines followed in clause 53, sub-clause (3), in connection with plaints

In sub-clause (4) we have limited the duty of entry in the register to the Court which passed the decree, in order to give effect to existing practice as dictated by necessity.

Clause 246.—The insertion of the words "in separate suits" is intended to show that, for the purposes of execution, a counter-claim is not a separate action [per Esher, M. R., Stumore v. Campbell & Co. (1892), 1 Q. B. 317].

In illustration (d) we have omitted the reference to "transfer" which is not of the essence of the example.

Clause 248.—This provision has been considerably lightened by the omission of the passages relating to the transfer of decrees. It has been represented to us that, even in the cases referred to in sub-clauses (1) and (2), issue of the notice may involve an unreasonable delay or defeat the ends of justice. We have accordingly proposed to give the Courts a discretion in the matter.

Clauses 248A to 248C.—The altered form of clause 248A has enabled us considerably to abridge the first five of the clauses relating to the procedure at the hearing of applications for execution and at the same time to state, it is believed, with even more clearness, the duty of the Court, irrespective of the decree-holder's actual appearance, to proceed with the application if he has placed it in a position to take the necessary action.

Clause 248F.—From sub-clause (1) we have omitted the period of days within which an application may be presented. It appears to us that such a provision more appropriately finds a place in the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, and we have accordingly suggested an amendment of articles 163 and 164 of the second schedule to that enactment. This amendment, which will cover also an analogous amendment in clause 248J, it is proposed to effect by the necessary entry in the fourth schedule of the Bill.

We think that sub-clause (2), as originally drafted, involves too severe a penalty for an error of procedure. It has accordingly been limited to the disability to preclusion from assistance of the same nature as that sought from the Court in the application dismissed for default.

Clause 248G.—The proposed extension of clause 13 to proceedings other than suits enables us to dispense with this provision.

Clauses 248H and 248I.—The Bill, as originally drafted, contemplated absolute continuity of execution-proceedings, subject only to stay for specific reasons. We do not see our way to keeping alive processes in execution when the proceedings themselves have been stayed. In these circumstances, we have provided in clause 248H that stay terminates all processes, with the result, of course, that clause 248I must be omitted.

Clause 248J.—We have made it clear that this clause applies only to cases in which the judgment-debtor has made default after notice.

Clause 248K.—We have omitted this provision because we think that the Court should in this respect also be trusted to exercise the discretion conferred by clause 220.

Clause 248M.—We have omitted this clause in view of the objections of the Courts to the labour involved in the preparation of the proposed memorandum.

Clause 250.—For the word "warrant" the word "process" has been substituted as more exhaustive and familiar.

Sub-clause (3) has been re-stated in a form intended to meet the facts underlying a Calcutta ruling [Anand Lall Bera v. The Empress (1883), I. L. R. 10 Cal. 18].

Clause 252.—In sub-clause (3) we have dealt with the execution against legal representatives of decrees other than decrees for the payment of money. There is no provision in the existing Code for such cases, although suits against legal representatives to compel the delivery of property or the performance of any other specific act are by no means uncommon.

Clause 253.—The provisions relating to the enforcement, by summary process in execution, of security given for the performance of a decree on the payment of money should, in our opinion, apply to security given for restitution of property or the fulfilment of conditions.

Clause 254.—We think it equitable that, if the period of detention in the civil prison actually undergone is not to preclude execution of a decree by further detention, it should be deducted from the period of further detention permissible under clause 342.

Clause 260.—Sub-clause (4) and the illustration have been added to remedy a defect disclosed in practice [Bhoobun Mohun Mundul v. Nobin Chunder Bullub (1872), 18 W. R. 282; Protap Chunder Doss v. Peary Chowdhrain (1881), I. L. R. 8 Cal. 174].

Clause 260A.—In sub-clause (2), paragraph (b), we have omitted the passages reproducing the provisions of the Matrimonial Causes Act, 1884 (47 & 48 Vict., c. 68), section 3, in so far as they authorize the Court to require a female judgment-debtor to provide for the support of her husband decree-holder. It has been represented that such a provision is not required in this country and might, to some extent, involve an inconsistency with the principles of Hindu law.

Clause 261.—Sub-clause (5) has been extended to cover optional, as well as compulsory, registration ; and we propose that an order for the payment of expenses of registration of either kind may be summarily enforced in the execution department.

Clause 263.—In sub-clause (4) we have specified the point from which the thirty days' period of limitation is to commence and which the Bill, as originally drafted, possibly left a little uncertain.

In sub-clause (5) we have added the words "by order" to show more clearly that enforcement is regulated by sub-clause (8).

In sub-clause (6) we have sought to meet a difficulty of practice by allowing the Court to deduct the expenses of sale.

Clause 265.—The slight amendments introduced into this section are required for uniformity with clause 215B as re-cast.

Clause 336.—It has been strongly urged in several quarters, more particularly by the Government of the Punjab, that the prohibition against the forcing of an outer door is an "inconvenient superstition". A corresponding alteration has been made in clause 271. We are of opinion that a warrant of arrest issued by a Court of Justice should receive implicit obedience ; and the distinction between warrants, according as they have been issued by Criminal or Civil Courts, seems to be an importation even now foreign to the ideas of the people of this country. We think it both fair and necessary that an order of authority, if resisted, should be carried out by force, and, where the house-holder objects to having his door broken, he has only to hand over the judgment-debtor or to allow the arresting officer to satisfy himself that the judgment-debtor is not on the premises.

In sub-clause (4) we have added a passage to supersede rulings to the effect that the security is released by the mere filing of the petition of insolvency [Koylash Chandra Shaha v. Christophoridi (1887), I. L. R. 15 Cal. 171 , Ramsan v. Gerard (1890), I L. R. 13 All. 100; Banna Mal v. Jamna Das (1893), I. L R. 15 All. 183, Dwarkadas Parshotam Das v. Isabhai Daudkhan (1894), I. L. R. 19 Bom 210] with which the judgment-debtor may never have intended to proceed.

We have omitted sub-clause (5) of the original Bill in view of the altered terms of clause 253.

Clause 653 —This clause appears to us to be misplaced in the Miscellaneous Chapter. We have transferred hither sub-clauses (1) and (2), while sub-clauses (3) and (4) have been inserted after clause 342. A consequential addition has been made to clause 481.

Clause 337A.—We propose that the remedy here provided should not be available to a judgment-debtor who has already been released under clause 336, sub-clause (4), and fails to carry out the conditions of such release.

Clause 266.—In sub-clause (1) we have amplified the language because, under the procedure now proposed, attachment by way of garnishment or charging will not terminate in sale.

In paragraph (c) of the proviso we have somewhat enlarged the wording, though not the principle, of the exemption relating to houses and buildings of agriculturists. The exemption is of little efficacy if the site and the land immediately appurtenant and necessary for enjoyment are liable at any moment to attachment and sale. We have omitted the words "as such" and have inserted the words "as an agriculturist" after the word "representative" to give more precise effect to the underlying decision [Radhakisan Hakumji v. Balvant Ramji (1883) ,I. L. R. 7 Bom. 530].

In paragraph (g) we have amalgamated paragraphs (g) and (h) of the original Bill and, to meet a case of extreme hardship reported to us, have excepted decrees for alimony from the exemption to the extent of one moiety of each of the exempted particulars. We conceive that the sums referred to are exempted to enable the judgment-debtor to maintain himself and his family in a position appropriate to his rank. We do not think that the purposes of such exemption are carried into effect where an officer or a pensioner refuses to make any attempt to satisfy a decree obtained by his wife for alimony.

In paragraph (m) we have made an addition to cover the case of local enactments passed by the Governor General in Council.

Paragraph (a) of sub-clause (2) has been slightly amended for closer conformity with paragraph (c) of the proviso to sub-clause (1) as re-cast.

Clause 267.—In sub-clause (1) we have inserted the words "alleged to be" before the word "liable" in order to base the Court's authority to act upon the application and not, as at present, upon proof of the liability of the property.

In sub-clause (2) we propose to remove any doubt in regard to the application of the provisions of the Code relating to the levy of costs.

Clause 269A.—We have extended this provision, which originally affected "growing crops" only, to all "agricultural produce" as defined by us in clause 2, paragraph (a). We entirely concur in the principle adopted in the Bill that the Court should attach such produce, which will now in all cases be treated as moveable property, by taking it into its possession and custody. At the same time, the procedure relating to the "actual seizure" of moveables cannot be applied, in its entirety, to a growing crop and, having regard to the special provisions suggested by us in clause 295B with respect to the sale of "agricultural produce," we see considerable objection to allowing such produce to be ordinarily removed on attachment. In these circumstances, we think that, to give proper effect to clause 295B, attachment should be effected by affixing a notice in situ on the field or threshing-floor and also, by way of greater caution, on the judgment-debtor's ordinary place of residence. To meet special cases of persons not residing in the actual neighbourhood, we would allow, under the special orders of the Court, affixure, as permitted by clause 80, on the house in which the judgment-debtor carries on business or personally works for gain or in which he is known to have last resided or personally worked for gain. We have provided that the costs of the attachment shall be added to the decree.

Clause 269AA.—Somewhat conflicting opinions have been expressed on the extremely difficult question of the authority best qualified to carry into effect the necessary arrangements for agricultural produce under attachment. On the whole, we have arrived at the conclusion that, unless the presiding officer of the Court is specially authorized by the Local Government to deal with such produce, a precept should always be issued to the Collector. Revenue-officers, as a rule, are in a better position than a Civil Court to deal with these matters. It will be observed that we have given power to "any subordinate" and not merely to "any gazetted subordinate," because the Tahsildar, upon whom this duty will ordinarily devolve, is not usually a gazetted officer.

Clause 269B.—The original proposal to authorize the Court only to declare a fixed proportion of any growing crop to be exempted has been universally condemned as impracticable. It seems to us to be clear that the amount to be exempted, not merely of growing crops but of all "agricultural produce", must depend upon the circumstances of each particular case; and we think that the proper person for deciding this matter must necessarily be the authority entrusted under clause 269AA with the arrangements relative to attachment. As a matter of working practice, the original proposal to treat a proportion of growing crops as free from liability to attachment and sale cannot, it seems, be conveniently carried into effect. We propose, therefore, that the growing crop, as such, should be attached, but that the proportion to be exempted shall, when ascertained, be released from attachment. The provisions of clause 269A, sub-clause (2), authorizing the judgment-debtor to attend to his crop while under attachment are sufficient, we think, to prevent any hardship arising from this procedure. We have omitted the proviso, originally appended to clause 269B by way of greater caution, because we think that the special and local enactments, by which the first charges in favour of rent or revenue are created, are sufficiently safeguarded by clause 4 as amended by us.

Clause 268A.—It frequently occurs that the property to be attached consists of a share or interest in moveable property belonging to the judgment-debtor and others in co-ownership. Such a share or interest is obviously incapable of actual seizure. We are not prepared to accept a proposal that in such cases the entire property should be attached and sold and the co-owners other than the judgment-debtor relegated to their rights either of redemption or of participation in the sale-proceeds. No doubt the extreme frequency of co-ownership presents a formidable obstacle to the rapid and effectual execution of decrees; but, at the same time, we do not feel justified in furthering the interest of the decree-holder at the expense of proprietary rights belonging to third parties. In these circumstances, we see no other solution open to us than to provide for the issue to the judgment-debtor of a notice prohibiting him from transferring or charging the share or interest.

Clause 268F.—The amendment introduced into this clause is merely for the sake of a greater precision of language and procedure.

Clause 268G.—In sub-clause (1) we have added words to show that the operation of this section is not ousted by the mere circumstance that the decree is passed, not against the firm, but against the partners constituting it, where those partners have been sued as such. In one respect we have departed from the English practice embodied in this clause; for we have given in sub-clause (3) the co-partners a right to apply for the sale to them of any such share of a partner as has been charged under sub-clause (2).

Clause 272.—We have made it clear that the determination of questions of title or priority is to be in the manner and the extent provided in clause 278.

Clause 273.—We have re-stated this provision in somewhat clearer and more exhaustive language.
